HITLER TO SEIZE FORTUNES OF REICH ENEMIES

Cabinet Acts to Fortify Nazi State.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 14.—Chancellor Hitler's government issued a decree today permitting the confiscation of private fortunes of "enemies of the state" both within and without the country. The cabinet meeting was presided over by the chancellor. At the same time the Nazi government issued or discussed 30 other decrees "to fortify the Hitler state."

The decree of confiscation of property, which may be ordered by the federal and state governments, applies to industrial concerns and business houses as well as private individuals.

New Political Parties Forbidden.

The cabinet issued another decree which forbids the formation of new political parties or the revival of old ones. The decree brands any effort in this direction as high treason.

The cabinet also ruled that the naturalization of foreigners in Germany can be nullified and that citizenship rights of Germans living abroad may be withdrawn.

Under these decrees Minister of Interior William Frick can order Germans traveling or living abroad to return immediately to Germany in event their activities displease the Hitler government. If they failed to obey withdrawal of their citizenship and confiscation of their property would follow.

Germans so affected would not be permitted to return here and would be forced upon the country where they are sojourning.

Thousands Are Affected.

Other decrees ordered a careful checkup, based on ancestry and attitude toward the government, of all eastern Europeans who have immigrated to Germany and were granted citizenship since 1918. The government has ordered the compiling of proscription lists at once. Thousands who have fled the country will be affected by the laws.

Introduction of new machines to make cigars was restricted on the strength of another decree issued today. A lighter touch was provided by decree allowing gambling in Baden-Baden. The city's profits on the games of chance must be used only for the welfare of the community.

Other laws concerning trusts, banks, reorganization of courts of justice, and lawyers were among the flock of details which will be published officially tomorrow.

Minister Frick today instructed all civil servants to adopt the Nazi salute, which, he said, "has become the German national salute."

Arrest Scheidemann Kin.

Meanwhile the German secret police arrested five relatives of Philip Scheidemann, first chancellor of the republic, and placed them in a concentration camp. The police said they acted to prevent persons who have fled the country from uttering statements against the Hitler government.

Scheidemann, a Socialist leader, had written about Germany in the New York Times. The article aroused the anger of official quarters. The names of the persons arrested were not published, but according to the Lokalanzeiger one or two women were among them. Scheidemann's daughter committed suicide in Berlin several months ago. She had grieved over the defamation of her father.

The voice of Hitler's government today sounded a blast of disharmony in connection with the arrival in Berlin yesterday of Prof. William E. Dodd of Chicago, new American ambassador to Germany. The semi-official Voelkischer Beobachter, edited by Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Hitler's adviser on foreign affairs, uttered the discordant note.

Dodd Denies Interview.

The Beobachter based its asperous remarks on an alleged interview in an "Israelite family paper" [Jewish Review of Hamburg] which Prof. Dodd denied he had granted.

In his first meeting with the press today the new ambassador denied emphatically that he brought with him any instructions from President Roosevelt which might lead to improvement in the situation of Jews in Germany.

Without inquiring as to the authenticity of the alleged interview, the Beobachter flaunted the question:

"Is one to surmise that the Jews in Germany hope for American interference in German political conditions?"

All other newspapers of Berlin hailed Prof. Dodd's arrival in this manner: "An ambassador of peace has come to intensify the friendliness of American-German relations."

Post Hops on Round-World Solo Flight

New York, July 15 [Saturday].—(AP)—Wiley Post, 35 year old Oklahoman, took off from Floyd Bennett field at 4:10 a. m. Chicago daylight time and headed out over the Atlantic ocean on his attempt to fly alone around the world.

He was flying the white and purple Lockheed monoplane Winnie Mae, in which he and Harold Gatty made their 'round-the-world record of 8 days 15 hours 51 minutes in 1931. This time, he hopes to do it faster.

"I'll be back as quick as possible," he shouted.

Only two bad spots of weather were reported ahead of him on the first leg of his trip, the 3,900 miles to Berlin. There was a low pressure area off the Atlantic coast near New York, which he intended to fly around, and rain off the coast of Ireland, which he plans to fly through.

Post expected the Winnie Mae's cruising speed of 170 miles an hour to be increased at least 25 miles by a strong west wind. Although he flies alone, he will have the aid of a robot assistant pilot. Post says it will permit him to doze when flying a straight course at high altitudes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—The question of establishing a national standard of minimum wages and maximum working hours under authority of the industrial recovery act will be decided by President Roosevelt during the week-end cruise on Chesapeake bay, on which he embarked tonight.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial recovery administrator, will leave Washington by plane tomorrow to join the President and the two will discuss the advisability of imposing such a regulation upon the nation's industry.

Bring Individuals into Line.

If possible to do so, the President indicated, such an order would be made compulsory. As the President and Gen. Johnson see it, such a blanket regulation would serve the purposes of the industrial recovery act, pending the achievement of codes for the various trades and industrial groups.

If constitutionally impossible to make the order compulsory, it might be made a voluntary proposal, but with the full force of the recovery administration at work to bring individuals into line.

Under a tentative plan industrial labor would be governed by a maximum work week of 35 hours and a minimum weekly wage of $14; clerical and store employes would receive a minimum of $15 for a 40 hour week.

In case a national order is found impracticable, it is probable that blanket orders may be issued to cover various large trade divisions. The cotton textile code, first of those agreed upon, goes into effect next Monday. The rayon industry and a large part of the silk industry already have asked to be brought under the code pending submission and approval of their own regulations. Wool also may be brought in on the same basis and a blanket order issued to cover the entire spinning and weaving industry.

Cement Industry Fixes Pay.

In conformity with the blanket code idea, the cement industry, according to a letter today from Charles F. Conn, president of the Cement institute, will not wait for its code to be submitted and approved. Not later than Aug. 1, Conn wrote Gen. Johnson, the cement industry generally will put into effect a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour, with an average work week of 36 hours.

Appropriate increases above the minimum wage will be in effect for workers in higher classes and the 36 hour week is to be an average over a 6 months' period, with permission to work 42 hours in any given week. The cement institute includes 91 per cent of the country's plants and 97 per cent of the productive capacity, Mr. Conn declared.

Men's Wear Code Received.

Among the new codes received today was the men's wear code, the second from the apparel industry in two days, the women's cloak and suit trade having sent in its code yesterday. The men's wear code calls for a forty hour week and 35 cents minimum hourly wage. Another code received was that for the lace industry.

Still anxiously awaited, among others, were the steel, automobile, and retail trade codes.

So many hearings on codes already in are in prospect that Gen. Johnson was led to describe next week, when most of them begin, as a "six ring circus." Hearings on the oil code will begin on July 24 instead of July 20, as originally planned. Others set are the contractors, apparel industry, lumber, and shipbuilding codes, with a date still to be set on coal.

Laird Bell, Chicago attorney and vice president of the Chicago Bar association, was announced as one of three advisory assistants to the administration. Mr. Bell will act as adviser for the lumber industry.

Husband Slays Bandit Using Wife as Shield

Altamont, Kas., July 14.—[Special.]—Isaac McCarty, cashier of the local bank, sent a bullet past his wife today into the heart of the desperado who had announced his intention of carrying her off as a hostage after robbing the bank and who was using her as a shield.

The slain bandit, Kenneth Conn, and his confederate, Alvin Payton, whom McCarty had knocked over a moment before with a charge of shotgun slugs in his head, escaped from the state penitentiary at Lansing on Memorial day with nine other convicts after they had kidnaped Warden Kirk Prather. Payton may die of his wounds, physicians say.

It was McCarty's suspicions, aroused by the fact that the two outlaws drove up in an automobile a few minutes before its doors were opened for business, which frustrated the robbery of the Labette County State bank.

Gets Ready for Them.

"There's just a 100 to 1 chance that those fellows are bandits," said McCarty when he saw the car stop. "I'll go back and get ready for them."

Mrs. McCarty, an attractive brunette of 27, admitted the men. They drew weapons and told her to stick up her hands. Payton went to a rear room and herded A. F. McCarty, father of the cashier; W. H. Drumheller, president of the bank, and E. A. Sacks, a mail carrier, forward. The men were forced to lie on the floor as the two robbers scooped up the cash in sight.

In the meantime the younger McCarty had made his way to an ambush prepared in anticipation of just such a robbery. It was a curtain on top of the vault, behind which a rifle and a 10 gauge sawed off shotgun were waiting.

"I guess we'll take you along with us," said Conn to Mrs. McCarty.

First Bandit Is Shot.

As he spoke the shotgun roared and Payton dropped. In a matter of seconds more shots rang out across the street. Robert Schooley, manager of the telephone company, was puncturing the tires of the bandit car with rifle bullets. Conn ordered the elder McCarty up off the floor.

"Tell them to stop that shooting or I'll kill this girl," he ordered him.

"I want you to stay right here," he told Mrs. McCarty. "When I go you go, too."

Then he snatched her close to him and crouched behind a counter. He evidently thought, McCarty said later, that the charge which struck Payton had been fired from across the street.

McCarty, realizing that he dared not fire the shotgun again without killing or crippling his wife, picked up the rifle. He took cool aim. He fired twice, quickly. One bullet hit Conn in the heart, the second pierced his brain. He was dead when McCarty reached his side.

4 MACHINE GUN BANDITS HOLD UP 100 AT TAVERN

County Commissioner Frank J. Kasper, his wife, and 100 other men and women were held up early this morning by four bandits, one armed with a submachine gun, in the Crazy Quilt tavern, in 17th avenue two blocks south of Roosevelt road, Broadview. The loot amounted to $1,000.

The guests were sitting at tables, dancing, and standing at the bar when the gunmen entered the place and ordered everybody to step back. All of them were compelled to lie on the dance floor, face downward.

Then two of the robbers searched the men while the other two covered them with guns. The women were not molested and only money was taken from the men. Commissioner Kasper, who lives in Berwyn, lost $120. Forest Koburn, president of Broadview, and Frank Posvic, an attorney of Berwyn, missed being robbed. All told, the bandits got more than $600 from the guests and $350 from the tavern. They escaped in a car driven by a fifth man.

Lincoln Park Policeman Shot by Mystery Gunman

Charles Chamberlin, 34 years old, 4814 North Oakley avenue, a Lincoln park policeman, was shot in the left arm early today in a gun fight with a mysterious gunman at Lincoln and Main streets, Park Ridge. He was driving along Lincoln street when his car was curbed by another automobile containing three men. One flashed a light on him and then alighted with gun drawn. Chamberlin drew his own gun. The man fired and wounded the policeman, who fired six shots at the trio. Chamberlin was taken to the Des Plaines Emergency hospital.

Captain Stays with Ship, Dies; 34 Are Saved

New York, July 15 [Saturday].—(AP)—The tanker Cities Service Petrol burned and sank in the ocean off North Carolina early today, taking down with her Capt. F. L. Sears, who refused to leave, and two members of the crew who were killed on board, presumably battling the flames.

The rest of the crew were picked up by another tanker, the Gulf Gem, and the steamer Tri-Mountain. Reports as to their number varied from 32 upward and no official list was available.

A graphic story of the disaster came in this message to the Radio Marine corporation from the Gulf Gem:

"Burning steamship Cities Service Petrol sank stern first at 11:30 p. m. (standard or daylight time not specified) just after eight men were taken off in heavy sea by boat crew of the Gulf Gem.

34 Are Picked Up.

"Captain refused to leave his burning ship and two other men were killed aboard.

"Thirty-four in all picked up. Some injured.

An earlier message had said the Tri-Mountain picked up "one lifeboat" from the doomed vessel without specifying how many men were in it.

Port authorities in Port Arthur Tex., from where the tanker cleared July 8 with a cargo of 1,488 tons of Texas crude oil for Warren, Pa., said the crew numbered only 32.

Sends Another Message.

First word of the tragedy came crackling through the ether shortly before 10 o'clock last night from the rescuing tanker.

Before she had completed the rescue the Gulf Gem sent another message:

"Picked up one lifeboat and 16 men. Now alongside burning ship. Attempting to rescue captain and men on bow. Cities Service Patrol seems to be settling more and more and is in flames. Heavy weather."

The "men on bow" apparently got off and soon there came another message:

BOAT SINKS; 70 DROWN.

YAROSLAVL, U. S. S. R., July 14.—(AP)—Seventy persons drowned when an overcrowded river launch, taking locomotive shop workers and their families on an excursion up the Volga river on July 9, capsized three miles from here, it was disclosed today.

The little craft had a capacity of 125 passengers, but twice that number were jammed into it. The others were saved. The public prosecutor is taking steps to punish those responsible for the overcrowding.

Squall Lashes Lake; Rescue 18 from Boats

A squall which swept over Chicago yesterday afternoon, to the accompaniment of rain and thunder, overturned several boats on Lake Michigan. The occupants—18 in number—were all saved, several after heroic work by rescuers.

At A Century of Progress Exposition the wind and rain sent the crowd of more than 100,000 scurrying for shelter. Many took refuge on the lee side of buildings. It was estimated that attendance at the Fair last night was cut 25,000 by the storm, which came at the end of a moderately warm, though cloudy day.

Rescue Three Canoists.

Most spectacular of the lake rescues was that of three youths, whose sailing canoe was capsized by high waves half a mile out from the foot of Pratt boulevard. Three life guards from the Touhy beach, Sommers, Van Beschwirtz, and Tresch, rowed out at the risk of their own lives to save them.

The rescued canoeists, numbed by cold and the lashing of high waves, are Harvey Cohen, 1110 Pratt boulevard; Albert Levin, 5474 Harper avenue, and Major Lawrence, 1311 Farwell avenue. All are about 18 years old.

Rescue 5 on Disabled Boat.

A second lake rescue was made by the central coast guards. Three young men and two girls, on the 45 foot yacht Illinois, were towed in from the entrance to the harbor at the mouth of the river after the boat had been disabled by the storm and waves.

Those on board were the owner, Herbert Hoffman of the Copeland hotel; Miss Rosalind Smith of the Copeland; Miss Theodora Keith of the Park Sheridan hotel; Cy Wolf, 4340 Clarendon avenue, and Fred Stahl, 4338 Greenview avenue.

Saved When Boat Capsizes.

Members of the Chicago Yacht club at Belmont harbor hurried out into the lake after Gus Hedberg, owner of the 20 foot dory Whimbeal, was tossed into the water when his craft was blown over. He was clinging to the side of the dory, still wearing his straw hat, when Ben Glover in the yawl Naiad reached him.

A Sea Scout boat, the Buccaneer, was turned over near Fullerton avenue in the lake. The skipper, Albert Collinet, 1357 North Hamlin avenue, and eight scouts on board swam in. Their boat ran aground.

Today, according to forecast, will be fair, with temperature in the 70s. The afternoon storm yesterday was a local phenomenon and an area of high pressure is moving in from the northwest. Forecaster W. P. Day indicated a belief that the good weather would continue through tomorrow.

Chicago Boy Is Locked in Box Car for Two Days

Detroit, Mich., July 14.—(AP)—Edward Sarkan, 13, 8531 South Morgan street, Chicago, today was recovering from a two days' sojourn and a long journey in a locked box car, where he hid during a hide and seek game near his home Wednesday. After he got in the car some one locked the door and the train started before he could make his presence known.

24 SEAPLANES FLYING TODAY FROM MONTREAL

Army Flyers to Act as Escort.

Due in Afternoon

MONTREAL, July 14.—(AP)—Gen. Italo Balbo said tonight he hoped to reach Chicago with his flying armada from Italy in the late afternoon tomorrow.

"I will be ready to leave any time in the morning," he said, "and I hope to reach Chicago between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. That should give every one an opportunity to see us."

BULLETIN.

Gen. Italo Balbo announced he will take off from Montreal for Chicago at 9 a. m. today, Chicago daylight saving time, according to advices from Mackey Radio, via Postal Telegraph, at 4:30 a. m. Chicago time.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Italy's air armada of twenty-four seaplanes and 100 men will arrive in Chicago this afternoon, ending its epochal 7,000 mile flight from Rome to A Century of Progress. Last night, as the flyers rested in Montreal, their last stop before Chicago, leaders here had completed plans for a glorious welcome.

Gen. Italo Balbo, youthful commander of the fleet, is expected to lead his planes into the city between 3 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Time Is Uncertain.

The exact hour of arrival is necessarily uncertain. The Tribune radio station, W-G-N, will help keep the public informed on the progress of the flight from Montreal. Crowds at the World's Fair will also be advised by the loud speaker system there.

Originally Gen. Balbo had expected to reach here about noon. This would have necessitated a start at about 4 a. m. Chicago time. To give his men a few more hours' rest, and to give all of Chicago a better chance to witness the fleet's arrival, the bearded commander ordered the start a few hours later.

General Changes Plan.

The general announced the plans for the later departure on leaving a banquet in Montreal arranged in his honor by the Italian colony of that city. He likewise advised Maj. Reed Landis, in Chicago, by long distance telephone. Maj. Landis is chairman of the reception committee. It is believed the time of departure from Montreal will be between 9 and 10 a. m. This would bring the armada here late in the afternoon, with favoring winds, perhaps at 3 p. m.

Weather conditions appeared good. Fair skies are forecast. This, if it holds out through the day, will permit a complete carrying out of the day's program.

Meanwhile, Chicago last night was experiencing a sustained thrill over this greatest transoceanic mass flight in the history of aviation. Thrills of anticipation ran through the city yesterday when the arrival of the air fleet in Montreal was made known by newspapers and radio.

Decorations Honor Arrival.

Today will be a gala day in honor of Balbo and his armada. The red, white, and green of Italy's national colors decorated buildings and streets last night. There was every evidence that hundreds of thousands of people would be on hand to roar a welcome to the intrepid flyers. Big crowds are expected in the vicinity of Navy pier, where the armada will end its flight, and big crowds are expected at Soldiers' field, where the aviators will be publicly welcomed. In event of bad weather the fleet will come to rest in Lake Geneva, 80 miles away, and the flyers will motor to the city. However, the weather prospects were favorable last night for a Lake Michigan landing.

Gen. Balbo's fleet will be escorted into Chicago by United States army planes from Selfridge field, near Detroit. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps area, will fly from Chicago to Detroit this morning to join the American escort. The escort will consist of three headquarters planes and thirty-six squadron ships.

The army flyers will pick up the Italians somewhere along the Canadian border and will conduct them to Chicago, flying above them, under the command of Lieut. Col. F. M. Andrews, head of the corps air department. When the flyers reach Lake Michigan the escort squadron will form the word "Italy." above them.

Over the Navy pier the military aircraft will join in a demonstration while the Italian fleet is performing the last delicate phase of its operation, bringing the heavy planes to a safe resting place in the lake south of the pier. From here they will taxi to mooring posts on the north side of the pier and small craft under guidance of Capt. Evers of the coast guard will transfer the crews to the U. S. S. Wilmette, where the reception committee will be waiting for the first greeting. The air over the mooring field and the lake in the vicinity will be cleared of all except the officially licensed air and water craft.

With the flyers and reception committee on board the Wilmette will proceed slowly to the south end of Northerly island at the Exposition grounds. Luncheon will be served on the boat. A Century of Progress lagoon fleet will then transfer the party to the boat landing at the Hall of Science, where 250 Italian war veterans will greet their countrymen, while Italian girls strew their pathway with flowers.

Gen. Balbo to Respond.

Escorted by the Black Horse troop of the state guard and army cavalry from Camp Whistler, the party will proceed to Soldiers' field for the official ceremonies. Here Maj. Landis will present the members of the committee, the representatives of the federal government, state, city and Exposition, and addresses of welcome will be delivered.

Harry S. New, United States commissioner to the Exposition Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and President Dawes of the Exposition will speak and Gen. Balbo will respond.

Members of the reception committee are Maj. Gen. Parker, Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, R. I. Randolph, W. G. Caples, W. B. Causey, Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general in Chicago; George W. Vest of the aeronautics branch of the United States department of commerce; George Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; David L. Sutton, chairman of the aldermanic reception committee, and Anthony Czarnecki, collector of the port at Chicago.

Name Reception Committee.

The Italian-American committee for the reception consists of William V. Pacelli, chairman; Representative R. V. Libonati, Senator A. J. Mancin, V. E. Ferrarra, L. P. Anzilotti, M. Guidarelli, Congressman P. C. Granata, Senator D. Serritella, Senator James Leonardo, Representative J. Farina, R. Petrone, Charles Coya, James C. Petrillo, Judge John Lupe, Judge Francis Borrelli, Judge N. J. Bonelli, B. P. Barasa, Joseph Orrico, James Vignolo, Joe Pecora, A. Cerza, Rocco de Stefano, Michael Durso, and Vito Marzullo.

Sig. Auguste Rosso, Italian ambassador to the United States, is to be here for the four days of festivities which will mark the visit of the Italians. The Italian-American society will give them a banquet on the second evening after their arrival, during which the honorary degree of doctor of laws will be given to Gen. Balbo by Loyola university. It will be presented to him as "minister of aeronautics of Italy; writer, statesman, and explorer of the air; hero of the Fascist march upon Rome, and leader of the first nonstop flight of airplanes in squadron formation from Rome to Rio Janeiro, South America."

Steamer to Greet Balbo

Hundreds of Chicagoans of Italian birth or descent will board the steamship Theodore Roosevelt at 9 a. m. today to patrol the lake between here and Michigan City to give the first greeting to Balbo and his fleet.

Commissioner of Police James Allman issued orders yesterday for a large detail of police to guard the Italian flyers during their visit in the city. A special detail of seven Italian police officers was appointed by Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker to act as a special bodyguard.

AIR MINISTER AT 37

Gen. Italo Balbo, leader of the Italian armada of twenty-four seaplanes, is also air minister of Italy. He is only 37 years old. Born in Ferrara on June 5, 1896, he became interested in aviation as a boy and when 16 years old wrote the life story of one of the Italian pioneers in aviation, Roberto Fabbri. Later he became a newspaper man.

During the war he served in the famous Alpine troops and was decorated several times for bravery. After the war he was one of the organizers of the Fascists in Ferrara. He was one of the four men who, with Mussolini, led the march on Rome on Oct. 28, 1922. On that occasion he was made commander in chief of militia.

Rises Fast Under Mussolini.

In 1925 he was appointed secretary of state for national economy and the following year was made under secretary for the air force. Two years later he was appointed general of an air fleet, and on Sept. 12, 1929, he became air minister.

Gen. Balbo originated the "mass flight," in which the Italian air force has been a pioneer. He personally has led large flights of aircraft on cruises of the western and eastern Mediterranean and in 1931, led a flight of twelve seaplanes across the South Atlantic to Brazil.

The flight is composed of twenty-four Savoia Marchetti S 55 X type seaplanes, which were developed specially for distance flights with heavy loads. The wing spread is 79 feet, the length, 52 feet and the height, 16 feet.

Planes Weigh Over 6 Tons.

The weight of each plane without its load is 12,650 pounds, or more than six tons. The useful load of each plane is 11,000 pounds, or five and one-half tons, giving a total weight of almost twelve tons to each fully loaded plane, or a weight of 288 tons to the armada.

Each seaplane is powered by two "Asso 750" motors made by the Isotta Fraschini works, mounted in tandem. Each motor has eighteen cylinders, in three rows of six each in "W" position, and turns a three bladed propellor by direct drive. The motors are water cooled and are rated at 880 horse power at normal range.

ITALIAN FLYERS REACH MONTREAL ON 500 MILE HOP

Fleet Expected in Chicago Late This Afternoon.

BY STANLEY JACKSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 14.—Italy's air armada of 24 seaplanes, which arrived here this afternoon, will depart for Chicago and A Century of Progress Exposition about 9 a. m. tomorrow. The flyers, led by Gen. Italo Balbo, the bearded and youthful Italian minister of air, are expected to reach the goal of their 6,100 mile flight over land and sea about 5 p. m.

When the daring adventurers of the air reached Montreal from Shediac, N. B., a distance of 500 miles, the fleet had completed 5,230 miles of the 6,100 mile journey. The flight began July 1 from Orbetello, Italy, and had proceeded by way of England, Ireland, Iceland, Labrador and Canada.

870 Miles to Chicago.

The seventh and last lap to Chicago is 870 miles.

The Italians swooped to anchorages in the St. Lawrence in groups of three after circling over Montreal, having flown the 500 miles from the New Brunswick port in three hours and 59 minutes. Gen. Balbo's ship was the first to descend to the St. Lawrence. His plane landed at 12:51 p. m. (Chicago daylight saving time). The last of the giant ships was safely anchored at 1:20 p. m.

Although the flight was completed without mishap, a wooden barge loaded with gasoline and oil for the refueling of the Italian planes sank to the bottom of the St. Lawrence shortly before Gen. Balbo appeared over the city. The loss was not serious, as the gasoline was replaced by local companies. The barge carried only enough fuel for one ship, officials at the seaplane base said.

Refueling operations began shortly after the squadron landed. Eight thousand gallons of gasoline and oil were poured into the 24 seaplanes.

50,000 Cheer Airmen.

Fifty thousand residents of Montreal waited for hours at the seaplane base to catch a sight of the armada. The crowd gasped as the armada came into view. Chicago is assured of a breath taking thrill when it views the majestic armada flying in formation over the city.

Fascist uniforms were prominent at Fairchild pier, to which motor launches conveyed the flyers from the planes. The Italian consul general at Montreal, Cavaleri U. M. Z. Bianco, wore formal dress, but with the black shirt of the Fascists.

A small girl was one of the first to greet Gen. Balbo. She was Icela Narizano, 7 year old daughter of the grand master of the Sons of Italy. She handed Balbo a bouquet of roses. Taking her hand, Gen. Balbo, who attracted every one to him by his charming personality, walked along the pier to the stand where the formal welcome was extended. Gen. Balbo was greeted on behalf of the Canadian government by Alfred Buranleau, minister of marine. Gen. Balbo made a brief talk over the radio, speaking in French.

Great Flying Weather.

The best of weather conditions, the same as enjoyed by the Italians since their arrival in the new world, prevailed for the entire trip from the New Brunswick port to Montreal.

Gen. Balbo and his 95 aviators were guests of the Italian colony at a banquet and ball tonight. Balbo was lionized by the 500 diners who swarmed about him seeking his autograph.

One rather unfortunate aspect of the banquet was that fowl was the main course. Ministers of the federal, provincial and municipal governments who are staunch Catholics, cannot eat meat on Fridays.

Former Judge John A. Sbarbaro of Chicago, chairman of the Chicago reception committee, arrived here this morning by plane and conferred with Italian officials regarding the hop to Chicago.

No announcement was made tonight as to the route the Italians will follow to Chicago. With just one lap remaining, the flyers decided to celebrate the successful arrival at Montreal and wines and champagne flowed freely at the banquet. Dancing continued into the wee hours.

MATTERN FIRM ON COMPLETING FLIGHT ALONE

S. J. Sackett, attorney for Jimmy Mattern, around the world flyer, who is down at Anadyr, Siberia, yesterday announced receipt of a cable from him in which he said it is still his intention to complete his solo flight around the world.

"Both Russian army chiefs and I have wired Moscow for Nome ship permission," he said, referring to the rescue plane, "but no results yet. Try hard to get home ship here. Soviet ship coming up from Petropalovsk, but he is uncertain. I will proceed to Nome with him and bring Alexander (the rescue ship's pilot) ship back. My intentions are to do everything possible to complete solo flight. Russians treating me great.

"JIMMY MATTERN."

Mattern's purpose in turning back in his homeward course would be to establish the solo world flight record without dispute, Sackett said. Another cable from Russia said that a pilot named Levanovsky had taken off from Khabarovsk for Anadyr to pick Mattern up and take him to Nome.

WGN AND WBBM UNITE FOR RADIO REPORT OF GEN. BALBO'S ARRIVAL

When the Italian air fleet led by Gen. Italo Balbo arrives in Chicago today, one of the most complete radio reports of a news event ever broadcast will be put on the air. W-G-N and WBBM have combined their facilities to supply the Columbia broadcasting system's nation-wide network with a complete broadcast. The report will cover the arrival of the Balbo fleet from the time it first is sighted, almost to the bugle call sending the flyers to their beds.

There will be announcers and engineers from both stations at every vantage point. Quin A. Ryan of W-G-N will open the broadcast when he tells about the arrival of the ships on the lake front, broadcasting this part of the story from the cabin of the Goodyear-Zeppelin, which has been engaged for the day. Mr. Ryan and a group of engineers will take off early this morning from the Pal-Waukee airport and will cruise along the lake front until the fleet arrives.

After Mr. Ryan signs off other announcers stationed on special guard boats, on board the Wilmette, the official welcoming ship, on the private yachts of Philip Wrigley and H. Leslie Atlass, at the landing dock at A Century of Progress and in Soldiers' field, where the official welcome will take place, will take up the story, and all of these reports are to be woven into one big broadcast.

Up at Lake Geneva, Wis., another set of broadcast lines has been installed to handle the arrival of the flyers there, should bad weather force the abandonment of plans to land the ships on the Chicago lake front.

This broadcast of the arrival of Gen. Balbo and his air fleet will be presented on the air at intervals throughout the day, or as one continuous show, depending on weather conditions when the flyers arrive.

HOLD UP CHECKS OF NINE JUDGES WHO REFUSE CUT

Their Pay Is 2 Months Behind Associates.

Nine judges of the Municipal court who have refused to accept any part of the pay cuts imposed upon all other city employés, including their own clerks and bailiffs, have received no pay checks since those for the first half of January as a result. Meanwhile other city employés, including the remaining 29 judges of the court, have been paid up to March 15.

The names of the nine unpaid judges were obtained from the records of City Controller Upham after Corporation Counsel Sexton had given him an opinion that the law requires him to limit his disbursements to the amounts set up in the city budget, and to refuse pay to those who demand more than the council appropriated for their salaries.

Names of the Judges.

The judges are:
EUGENE HOLLAND.
JOHN M. LYLE.
FREDERICK W. ELLIOTT.
ALFRED O. ERICKSON.
JOHN F. HAAS.
JOSEPH H. M'GARRY.
JOHN P. O'CONNELL.

Judge O'Connell was elected Probate judge in June and has left the Municipal bench to assume his new office.

The payless judges have the law on their side, in the form of the statute which provides that the salary of an elected official may not be reduced during his term of office. But that statute applies also to Mayor Kelly and the members of the city council, the members of the county board, and numerous other elected officials, all of whom salary cuts voluntarily.

The judges of the Municipal court have consistently opposed efforts of the city council to reduce salaries of themselves and court employés. In its 1933 budget the council provided for a 78 day pay cut in the court, in common with all other city employés.

Order Mandamus Action.

The most recent action of the Municipal court judges was to order mandamus action taken before the state Supreme court to force the city to pay the full salaries requested by the judges for themselves and their employés. At the same time, however, they ordered a 48 day pay cut for the court employés.

This is the same pay cut which the nine unpaid judges were asked to take, and refused. For the first half of the year the city operated under a continuation ordinance which carried along the provisions of the 1932 city budget until the 1933 budget was ready.

48 TAX RECEIVERS NAMED, SETTING ONE DAY RECORD

Other Owners Pay $80,000 to Retain Control.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday totaled $268,189. A total of $27,100,150 has been collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act was started last April 28. The day's collection of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years are shown in the following table:

Uncollected ..	79,976,141	107,855,581

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki continued the drive to collect delinquent taxes under the Kerner-Skarda act by appointing County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough as receiver for forty-eight properties owing back taxes. This is the largest number of such appointments he has made in a single day since the drive began.

A dozen other property owners avoided receivership by paying taxes. The collections in court totaled $80,000, about one-third of the total collections of the day.

County Assessor J. L. Jacobs in a letter to the state tax commission replied to criticism aimed at his office by Henry G. Zander Jr., president of the Chicago Real Estate board. Zander had charged that public inspection of real estate cards was being refused by the assessor and that real estate assessment manuals were not available.

Says Manuals May Be Consulted.

In the letter Jacobs said the cards are not available at all times only because many of them are involved in connection with the 90,000 complaints pending before the board of appeals. Manuals cannot be given out freely, he said, because of printing costs, but may be examined at the assessor's office.

The county treasurer, for the fourth successive day, filed petitions in the County court to place 100 tax delinquent properties under his receivership. The delinquent taxes total $363,137. In the Circuit court Assistant State's Attorney Manuel Cowan filed suits to collect approximately $300,000 from 50 companies delinquent on 1931 personal property taxes.

Former Film Actress Wins Interlocutory Decree

Los Angeles, Cal., July 14.—(AP)—Lillian Asher, a former film actress under the name of Lillian Bonner, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce today from Ephriam Asher, film producer. She charged desertion. A property settlement was effected and the custody of two children was granted Mrs. Asher.

U.S. AIRCRAFT WARNED TO STAY A HALF MILE AWAY FROM ITALIANS

Washington, D. C., July 14.—(AP)—While the Italian air squadron is in the United States no aircraft may be flown within one-half mile of Gen. Balbo's planes when they are in flight.

This was the special rule laid down today by the commerce department's aeronautics branch. E. Y. Mitchell, assistant secretary, announced the unusual regulation "with a view to facilitating and protecting the flight over American territory of the Italian military aircraft squadron."

CITY AND PARK POLICE WINK AT UNLICENSED CARS

Sales of Illinois Plates 9 Pct. Below 1932.

BY HAL FOUST.

Secretary of State Hughes reported yesterday that passenger automobile registrations in Illinois are approximately 9 per cent below the total for the same date of last year. On July 1, 1933, 1,112,056 owners had paid their licenses, as compared with 1,203,750 on July 1 of 1932.

This might indicate there are 91,694 unlicensed passenger cars in Illinois, or the present collections might be compared with the total for the entire year of 1932, 1,311,783, to indicate 199,727 unlicensed vehicles, since there were many cars running without plates in the last five months of last year.

The bare figures exaggerate the apparent neglect of the police to enforce the state license law, since the statistics do not take into consideration the fact that cars are being junked faster than new machines are being sold, notwithstanding the upturn in 1933 sales that are far surpassing last year's records.

Neglect Found Everywhere.

However, a four hours' drive over the city's streets and boulevards yesterday indicated that there is flagrant neglect in police enforcement of the state automobile registration law. On all sides of the city, in the jurisdictions of all of the various police departments, cars were noted with no licenses, with only one plate, or with 1932 plates.

Parked at curbs, in neighborhoods of high rental as well as in cheaper districts, were automobiles apparently abandoned, tires flat, glass broken, radiator caps missing. The towing fees would probably be higher than the junk man's prices for these derelicts, but they constitute a driving hazard as well as an eyesore that could be removed by the police.

On the boulevards and other thoroughfares are many new cars without licenses. Several years ago new car buyers carried "license applied for" signs, but this practice seems to have been abandoned. Dealers on selling machines file applications for licenses. Judging from the appearance of traffic the secretary of state is tardy in filling these applications.

Unlicensed Car Passes 5 Cops.

There are also many old cars and some not so old running about the city without plates with virtual immunity. At 3:30 yesterday afternoon an unlicensed sedan was followed in Indiana avenue from 22d street to Roosevelt road while it passed five city policemen on traffic duty. It was trailed on north in Michigan avenue to Lake street while it passed south park policemen at every intersection.

An hour earlier, 1932 license 1-260-654, issued to Jack Clarizio, 4141 Sheridan road, was seen in the Lincoln park police section of Michigan avenue, north of the bridge. It was conspicuous because most of the motorists still without 1933 licenses are driving without any plates.

Eight of these vehicles without any plates were counted in ten minutes' observation at Washington and Sacramento boulevards, which is under the west park police jurisdiction.

LINDBERGHS IN CARTWRIGHT ON GREENLAND HOP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARTWRIGHT, Labrador, July 14.—A day after the departure of Gen. Italo Balbo and the Italian armada, Cartwright is host to another world famous flyer. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Ann Morrow, landed on Sandwich bay at 6:30 o'clock tonight [5 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time] after a flight from Newfoundland.

The pair, on an aerial mapping tour to Greenland and Iceland, made the trip here in two hops, taking off from St. John's this morning and landing at Botwood, Newfoundland. They had lunch there and flew on this afternoon. The hops were about 140 miles each.

ORDERS AUTOISTS LACKING PLATES FREED ON BONDS

Sonsteby Advises Allman After Girl Is Jailed.

Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court yesterday sent a letter to Commissioner of Police Allman instructing him not to jail persons charged with failure to secure a city or state motor license. Such persons shall be released on their own individual bond of $25 if they can identify themselves, according to the order.

The action was taken as the result of an investigation of police action in locking a 19 year old girl in a cell with Mrs. Marion Opas, charged with plotting to kill her husband. The girl, Helen Louise Little, 6946 Stony Island avenue, was accused only of driving an automobile without license plates.

Rebuked for Imprisoning Girl.

The police were rebuked for imprisoning the girl, who proved that the automobile had just been purchased by her parents and there had been no opportunity to procure license plates.

If a person so charged is not able to identify himself, he must be given an opportunity to communicate with friends or relatives, Chief Justice Sonsteby warned the police commissioner. If no identification can be established, the person should not be jailed, but required to deposit $5 cash bail, the judge's instructions read.

"The foregoing applies to all defendants, whether they are residents or non-residents of Chicago," the letter read.

The Lawyers' Legislative league, through its secretary, T. J. McCormick, yesterday sent a set of suggestions to Chief Justice Sonsteby regarding the arrest and imprisonment of persons who have no criminal records.

Law Requires Quick Hearing.

"The Illinois statutes provide that a person under arrest in Chicago shall immediately be brought before a Municipal court judge," the statement read. "This law is widely violated in practice. It is suggested that the police furnish to Chief Justice Sonsteby a list of all persons known as hoodlums or criminals. Those persons not on the list and charged with minor offenses should be given an immediate court hearing.

"There should be no tendency to treat leniently a known criminal or hoodlum, but a citizen accused of a minor infraction of the law is entitled to a hearing immediately and not after he has spent a day or night in a cell with law breakers of the lowest type."

ROB DRUG STORE OF $40.

Public Rushes to Ride Cabs at Cut Rates in Taxicab War

With Chicago's three taxicab companies fighting each other with cut rates, a large increase in the number of patrons was reported yesterday as the public took advantage of the situation. Although the volume of business was increased, the officials of the companies said they would be unable to determine whether revenue had increased until the cab receipts had been counted.

There were no further cuts in rates yesterday. A group of rebel Checker drivers are charging 5 cents for each half mile. At the Checker company's offices, however, it was reported that the only rate the company was recognizing was that of 15 cents for the first third of a mile and 5 cents for each succeeding third of a mile.

The meters on the Yellow cabs are rapidly being adjusted to register the rates of 10 cents for each two-thirds of a mile. Meters were adjusted in 200 Yellow cabs yesterday, and it is expected the meters in 500 more of the company's 2,200 cabs will be corrected today.

Promises Refunds to Patrons.

Complaints were made during the day that some of the Yellow cab drivers who had not adjusted their meters were charging fares under the maximum rates of 20 cents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each succeeding half mile permitted by the new city ordinance. Benjamin Samuels, vice president and attorney for the company, said that refunds in these cases will be made to all passengers who telephone the company offices and produce their receipts.

The Public Taxi Service company is charging 5 cents for each third of a mile. Attorney Lee Daniels, president of the company, said that no further cuts were contemplated.

"If the independent Checker drivers want to starve themselves, that's up to them," Mr. Daniels said.

Accuses Cab Co. Official.

Attorney David Stansbury, representing 440 Checker drivers, charged yesterday before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward that the cut rate war had been engineered by Morris Markin, head of the Checker Cab Manufacturing company, which, he said, controls both the Checker and Yellow Cab companies. The attorney said that Markin wants to unite the two companies.

"Markin is finding the system burdensome," the attorney said, "and he wants to do harm to the Checker drivers who own their cabs. The new Yellow cab rate was instituted to make it tough for the Checker drivers so that they will have to quit. Then the Yellow Cab company will take over their machines and raise the rates, and the public will be as bad off as before."

George McDonald, vice president of the Checker Taxi company, and Thomas B. Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab company, afterwards denied that there was any connection between the two companies.

Judge Woodward continued until today a motion by attorneys for the Checker Taxi company to allow the company to seize cars of drivers who have failed to comply with a court order instructing them to check in their cabs once a day at the company garage, and to pay service and insurance charges. The 440 drivers, represented by Attorney Stansbury, must also file answers today to contempt citations issued against them by Judge Woodward because of their failure to obey the order.

Green Assails Courtney.

Judge Thomas A. Green in the Traffic court yesterday criticized State's Attorney Courtney and his assistants for their failure on Thursday to prosecute charges of conspiracy to commit malicious mischief against two Yellow cab employés in the Felony court. The employés were accused by a Checker driver of deliberately driving a Yellow cab into his car. Attorneys agreed to dismiss the charges with the consent of the state.

"I offered to go before the grand jury and tell of my investigation into the taxicab situation," Judge Green said, "but apparently State's Attorney Courtney doesn't want me to. I getting tired of signing warrants one day and then having them dropped the next day. Unless I get some coöperation I will demand an investigation as to why these cases are being dropped in court."

70 Year Old Swimmer from Berwyn Drowns

40 CHICAGOANS GUARDED IN WAR ON KIDNAPERS

Tommy O'Connor Reported Member of Gang.

Forty wealthy Chicago men are being guarded as the latest step in the federal government's war against the reign of terror invoked by kidnapers, it was learned last night.

Police facilities of the city, county, state and federal government are being used in an attempt to catch or kill the former alcohol hustlers who have been forced into kidnaping by the shutdown of the flow of easy money in the liquor racket.

Last night state highway and city police, working at the request of the United States bureau of investigation, were patrolling various estates of wealthy men considered likely prospects for the kidnaping ring.

Think It Is Touhy Gang.

The kidnaping hoodlums, generally considered to be the northwest beer hustlers dominated by Roger Touhy or a subsidiary of his organization, have developed the ransom game along business principles. John [Jake the Barber] Factor, wealthy stock market plunger, who was the latest victim of the gang, yesterday stated that a book of prospects, with names being entered and balanced every day, is kept by the gang.

Among the men being guarded are Arthur Cutten, John D. Hertz, Warren Wright, and Otto Lehmann. At the Hertz estate in Cary highway police are keeping an eye on the place day and night. The same is true of the Lehmann estate at Lake Villa. Twenty-four state police are guarding the Hertz and Lehmann homes.

Hertz Explains Guard.

John Hertz told of the guard established at his home and explained that the operatives were placed there at the request of federal officials.

"I did not ask for the guards," he said, "but when the government officials explained what they were for and asked my cooperation I was ready to do anything I could to aid in the fight. I have never received any threats and, as far as I know, no attempts have been made to kidnap me."

Authorities refused to divulge the full list of the prospective victims for fear such a disclosure would tip off the gangsters. City police are cooperating as far as possible. Last night two squads, one under Lieut. Andy Barry and the other commanded by Lieut. Thomas Mangan, were scouring the county for five men believed to have had direct connection with the kidnaping of Factor.

Those sought are Lawrence Mangano, Carl Fontana, Ernie Rossi, Charles O'Leary, and Charles [Buster] Brown. Also sought for questioning is "Two Gun Louie" Alterie, who was seen on the Joliet-Chicago road last Tuesday night.

Suspect Tommy O'Connor.

All of those named are known kidnapers, and, according to reports, have been associated with the Touhy mob in their kidnaping activity.

According to information regarded as authentic, 27 men form the actual gang. Two of the most notorious members are said to be Charles [Pretty Boy] Floyd and "Terrible Tommy" O'Connor.

Although not regarded as leaders of the gang, O'Connor and Floyd are almost legendary figures of gangland. O'Connor, who as a boy studied for the priesthood and as a man murdered a police officer, escaped from the county jail on Dec. 11, 1921, just four days before he was to expiate his crimes on the gallows.

Since that time he has been reported in rackets, thefts, and murders all over the United States, but has never been apprehended. Some reports were that he is dead, but latterly it was reported he was still alive and active. Floyd, an Oklahoma hoodlum, who grew into big time racketeering, recently came into the limelight in connection with the machine gun murder of four officers and a prisoner in the Kansas City railway station.

"Shoot to Kill" Order Issued.

Police officers and the prospective victims themselves last night made it clear that no actual threats have been made against the forty Chicagoans. They were selected as the most likely men to be taken by the gangsters, and their guard serves a double purpose—protecting the men and setting a trap for the hoodlums. It was understood that "shoot to kill" instructions have been issued to the officers on the trail of the kidnapers.

Particular significance was given to the fact that Factor, the first night of his twelve day imprisonment, was held in a basement. The Mangano gang a year ago kidnaped Dave Blumenthal and held him in a basement, later identified as that in the home of Mangano's mother.

Boast of Future Victims.

"The gangsters told me," Factor said, "that I was not the first man to be held in that basement, and that I would not be the last one. They told me they had a list of the men they were going to take and that every one of them would pay."

"This is our business," one of the hoodlums told the speculator, "and it is a good one. We have it down to a science and are making good money. The papers never hear of most of our 'snatches' because we impress them [the victims] with the fact that it isn't healthy to talk."

Factor insisted that he had not been given the names of any men as prospective victims of the kidnap ring.

"No names were mentioned in my presence," he said, "and I certainly didn't want to make any inquiries. Words can't describe the hell I went through in those twelve days, and several times I was in actual fear of my life. The ransom has been paid, and, as far as I am concerned, the matter is dropped."

Maintain Guard at Night.

Factor is still confined to his apartment in the Pearson hotel, under doctor's orders, but will be permitted to visit his office in La Salle street Monday. He felt much improved yesterday, and for the first time since he was released, late Wednesday night, was given solid food. A police guard is maintained in his apartment during the night, but more for the psychological effect than for fear of any further molestation.

Despite persistent rumors that the $50,000 payment was only a down payment on a ransom of much higher figures, Factor yesterday persisted in his statement that no further payments would be made.

SHOPPERS PACK STATE ST. FOR $1 DAY BARGAINS

Stores Report Sales "Huge Success."

Dollar day on State street yesterday was declared a huge success both from the standpoint of the merchant and the purchaser. The crowds were large all day long, and the buying was heavy. The shoppers jammed the 124 stores and shops participating in the bargain day event in the realization that many of the values would not be presented again for a long time.

"The response was most gratifying," said Bruce MacLeish of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. "The number of people buying in State street today indicates there is a wide appreciation of the fact that prices are so attractively low for the time being that it is the part of wise thrift to take advantage of them now."

Buying Near Record.

D. M. Yates, vice president and general manager of Marshall Field & Co., said the buying neared record proportions.

"It was evident," he said, "that among the shoppers were many people from out of town who had come here to attend A Century of Progress. We are very well pleased with the results."

"We did a fine business," said D. F. Kelly of The Fair. "Dollar day was a great success."

"We had one of the biggest days since Christmas," declared Leon Mandel of Mandel Brothers.

The Boston Store reported "marvelous business." M. C. Penticoff, district manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said he was "elated" at the amount of business transacted.

Biggest Crowd in Years.

"This was the biggest crowd we have had in years," declared George Lytton of The Hub. "Our business has been tremendous. It exceeded our greatest expectations."

"The day was a record breaker," asserted Maurice L. Rothschild. "We had a steady stream of buyers, and we are highly pleased with the result. They came early and kept on coming."

"We were literally besieged by a buying crowd," said Paul C. Fleer, president of the Davis company. "The results were very satisfactory.

Elmer T. Stevens, vice president of the State Street Council, declared that the success of the day was indisputable.

"State street has again demonstrated its right to be called the street that made the dollar famous for value," he said.

Street Gayly Decorated.

Good weather, low rates offered by transportation companies and parking stations, combined with the dollar bargains to make the day a success. The street was gayly decorated for the occasion.

The values offered yesterday will not be repeated for many months, one State street executive said. Rising world markets make it almost impossible to buy most of the goods offered yesterday at wholesale prices which will enable the merchants to duplicate the prices of Dollar day. The stocks put on sale were purchased during the lowest markets of the last three years, he pointed out.

YARROW PROTEST WINS CLOSING OF FAIR PEEP SHOW

The little lady in the peep show, "Is It Mimi?" at the Paris concession of the World's Fair, is no more. She did a fadeout yesterday on protest of the Rev. Philip Yarrow, reformer and head of the Illinois Vigilance association.

For several days the little lady has been posing behind a gauze screen, wearing less on her body than the gauze itself. So Reformer Yarrow complained to Col. F. C. Boggs, head of the Exposition legal staff, who notified Chief Edward Redd of the Fair police, and Chief Redd ordered the peep show closed.

Mr. Yarrow also sent a letter to the south park commissioners complaint against "spoiling of the youth of a nation" by some of the shows at the Fair.

HEAD OF INDIANA WAR MOTHERS IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Kansas City, Mo., July 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary E. Hahn of Indianapolis, president of the Indiana War Mothers, was injured critically today in a motor car accident near here. Mrs. George W. Powell of Denver, president of the Colorado War Mothers, was injured slightly.

The car, which was driven by Mrs. A. E. Swearingen of Kansas City, got out of control and overturned.

Fight Over Child

One misstep by a mother does not make her a moral renegade, Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan ruled yesterday in ordering Earl J. Buckley to return his daughter, Dorothy Mae, 5 years old, to his former wife, Mrs. Maude Buckley, 730 West 61st street. Buckley took the child last Sunday and asked the court to approve because he had secured a divorce on grounds of adultery. Attorney W. W. O'Brien, representing Mrs. Buckley, argued that Buckley had no status in court because he had stolen the child. The judge refused Buckley's plea.

Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Rochelle Boraks, 1648 South Avers avenue, niece of Dr. Bernard De Koven, from Ludwig Boraks. She charged her husband with misconduct and cruelty through Attorney Irving Eisenman. They were married Dec. 1, 1929, and separated June 27, 1931.

Mrs. Lauretta Radke, 22 years old, 4804 Quincy street, told Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court yesterday that her husband, Edward, a filling station owner, measured the gasoline in her automobile before and after every drive which she took and then accused her of going riding with other men. She also charged him with desertion and cruelty. Judge Sabath instructed her attorney, Norman Becker, to draw up a divorce decree.

TWO WHO SERVED 21 MONTHS FREED AT SECOND TRIAL

Anthony De Lordo, 27 years old, and Leslie Kidd, 26 years old, once found guilty of robbing the Sidney Wanzer & Sons dairy in 1929, were acquitted of this crime yesterday by a jury in the court of Judge James F. Fardy. They had served twenty-one months in prison before the Supreme court granted them a new trial, and since then Kidd has spent seven months in the county jail because of being unable to furnish a $10,000 bond.

De Lordo, out on bail, was indicted a short while ago with two others for conspiracy to obstruct justice because of threats made to witnesses who were to testify against him and Kidd. Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis said this case would be prosecuted shortly.

Attorney Frank J. Tyrrell, who represented the pair in their second trial, dwelt upon the fact the two had served as much time as would ordinarily be required before being eligible to parole, and this argument influenced the jurors, according to Curtis, as well as the fact that several of the original witnesses against them were not available at the second trial.

T. G. DICKINSON LEAVES MILLION TO WOMAN AID

Manufacturer Wills Her Bulk of Estate.

The estate of Theodore G. Dickinson, 77 years old, Chicago cement manufacturer who died at his Libertyville home on July 2, is valued at more than $1,000,000, it was revealed here yesterday. The terms of the will were made public last week when it was filed for probate in Miami, Fla., where he maintained a home.

Miss Bertha Evans, for ten years Mr. Dickinson's private secretary, received the residue of the estate under those provisions. According to estimates yesterday this will mean the residue going to Miss Evans may be as much as $1,000,000. Two children, Robert B. Dickinson of Lake Forest and Miss Rose Dickinson of St. Joseph, Mich., are left specific bequests.

Son and Daughter Silent.

The son and daughter refused to comment on the will yesterday. Among other things, the will directs that any beneficiary contesting its probate is to be deprived of any and all benefits of its provisions. Mr. Dickinson so provided, the will states, "after careful and deliberate consideration."

Failure to provide for descendants of his children also follows "full and careful consideration," according to the will.

To his son Mr. Dickinson leaves 1,000 shares of common stock of the Marquette Cement company and to his daughter 500 shares of preferred stock. Common stock is valued at $25 a share and the preferred at $100 a share. To his old friend, Richard Moyle Sr., general superintendent of the cement company, Mr. Dickinson gives 400 shares of common stock; to the Eleanor club, 200 of the same to sustain a home at 22 Maple street in memory of Mr. Dickinson's mother.

Secretary Occupies His Home.

Miss Evans is now occupying the Dickinson home in Libertyville. She was reticent yesterday as to the fortune that has made her a millionaire overnight. Her plans for the future are vague, she said. Miss Evans was born in South Bend, Ind., and began working for the Dickinson company fifteen years ago, becoming Mr. Dickinson's secretary five years later.

Mr. Dickinson founded the Marquette Cement company many years ago and was considered an important figure in the industry. In 1925 he was divorced by his wife, Mary Belville Dickinson. He settled $500,000 in cash on her. She now resides in St. Joseph, Mich., with her daughter.

TEACHERS MOVE TO BALK CUTS BY SCHOOL BOARD

An announcement that the Chicago teachers' organizations plan to go into court and strive there to upset the action of the school board in slashing $5,000,000 from its costs was met yesterday by a counter announcement that the board would welcome such a legal test.

Board members, in the face of complaints and demonstrations from the teachers, remained firm in their resolve to do whatever is necessary to bring the school system back to solvency. They pointed out that this course was to the advantage of all concerned, and that with the school system back on a pay as it goes basis bankers probably would be far more willing to lend money for the payment of employés back salaries.

Principals' Club to Meet.

The Principals' club, of which Aaron Kline is president, will hold a meeting in its club quarters at 185 North Wabash avenue tonight to discuss the possibilities of obtaining an injunction to obstruct the school board orders for the abolition of junior high schools, the closing of Crane Junior college, the dismissal of 1,400 special teachers and the elimination of fads and frills from the curriculum.

At a meeting of representatives of several civic groups in the Medical and Dental Arts building last night plans were made for a massmeeting on the night of July 21, probably at Soldiers' field, to protest the school board's action.

Ernest Buehler, vice president of the board, said that he would like to see a legal decision on the slashes. The teachers are basing their proposed fight on tenure and pension rights.

"I have been trying to glean just what is meant by the numerous discussions and statements of teachers and lawyers regarding these rights," said Mr. Buehler. "The teachers have the erroneous impression that after they pass the probationary stage they are immune from being discharged.

"Teachers can have no greater right than that of civil service employés, which is merely seniority. Disposing of departments is in the discretion of the board of education. I welcome the opportunity for a decision on the tenure issue in the courts."

Big Task for Bogan.

The brunt of the work of reorganizing the Chicago schools system was on the shoulders of Supt. William J. Bogan, who has said that he will follow the orders of the school trustees.

"Our biggest difficulty in removing teachers from these positions," said Mr. Bogan, "is in reaching a decision between the merit or length of service of the individual."

The return to the 8-4 system, or eight years of grade school education and the four year high school course, will mean a summer's work and is "a frightful task," Mr. Bogan said. The entire city will be redistricted.

The assignment of substitute teachers, which runs from 250 to 1,500 or 1,600 a day during the school year, will be taken over by district superintendents, according to Mr. Bogan's interpretation of the school board's order on this point. The substitute assignment center has now been abolished.

The school trustees were targets yesterday for attacks by prominent educators. One of the most outspoken was Dr. George F. Zook, newly appointed United States commissioner of education, who has been attending a conference at the University of Chicago.

"I am amazed at what seems to be a return to the dark ages of education," said Dr. Zook. "It is more than reasonably apparent that the board has gone about its reductions in a wholly unintelligent way. Intelligent administrators of education realize the necessity of retrenchment and are willing to share in such reduction as is necessary."

On the other hand the board members received many letters of commendation from leaders in the city for their savings to the taxpayers.

One communication from the South Shore Parents' association declared that the stand taken by the board would be "best for the children."

"Perhaps a new day is dawning for the Chicago public schools," the letter read, "when we have a board that will not allow itself to be dominated by those who seek to use our schools for their own selfish ends."

Teachers Stage Parade.

Several thousand teachers staged a parade in the loop in the afternoon. Led by John Fewkes, the procession assembled at Congress street and Michigan avenue, went north to Jackson boulevard, west in Jackson boulevard to State street, north in State to Randolph street, thence west to La Salle street and north to La Salle street and Wacker drive.

Here the teachers halted under the windows of the board of education offices in the Builders' building. After singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "America" and chanting "Save our schools" the meeting dispersed.

Among the marchers were Karl Borders, executive secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy, who has been identified with radical movements in Chicago, and Thomas McKenna, executive secretary of the Civil Liberties union.

SCHOOL EXPENSE LIKE OTHER GOVERNMENT COSTS, SAYS LELAND

Educators make a mistake when they consider schools' expenses as a thing apart and separate from the other costs of government, Prof. Simeon E. Leland of the University of Chicago declared yesterday. He was a speaker before the Institute for Administrative Officers of Higher Institution on the university campus.

"Educational finance or garbage finance are one and the same thing," said Prof. Leland. "The traditional separation of education from general government has caused many educators to assume that their work and support are not part and parcel of the political system. The divorcement has created an attitude that education is entitled to financial support completely apart from other requirements or the ability of taxpayers to support the combined load.

"The position of education in the budget must be determined in relation to all of the activities undertaken by government. Because of the irresponsibility of the political party system and the multiplicity of overlapping governmental subdivisions with their independent fiscal systems, major social needs have often been neglected while crushing tax burdens have at the same time been imposed. But complete chaos would result if every activity of government were separately financed. Taxation for the support of higher education is taxation to maintain the state. The two should not be divorced."

NORTHERN AREA SOFT COAL BODY HAS CODE READY

May Be United with One of Southern Group.

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Representatives of Northern Bituminous Coal operators completed a code for their branch of the industry under the national recovery act tonight after an intensive 48 hour session.

This code and one drafted last week by a southern group will be compared at a conference in Washington Monday afternoon when an effort will be made to reconcile whatever differences may be found to exist and draw up a single code for immediate submission to the federal administration.

Both the northern code and the southern code provide minimum wages and maximum working weeks and meet the other requirements which the administration has set forth. The details of the provisions, however, are being withheld until after the Washington conference.

Steel Code Considered.

A code for the steel industry was considered today at a meeting in the offices of the American Iron and Steel company, which announced that the text, when completed, would be made public in Washington.

Meanwhile, other groups in New York continued preparations for codes of fair competition. An outline for a tentative draft governing the legitimate theater was approved by the board of governors of the League of New York Theaters.

Owners of brass, bronze and aluminum foundries in metropolitan New York, New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland organized to aid in drawing up a code for the national industry in Chicago next week. William Ember of Brooklyn was named chairman and Norris H. Schwenk of Philadelphia, vice chairman.

Clothiers Forward Code.

The Clothing Manufacturers Association of the United States of America made public today the code of fair competition it has forwarded to Washington. The code establishes a forty hour week and a minimum wage at the rate of 35 cents an hour in the north and 32½ cents in the south.

All home work is to be abolished within a year and child labor is prohibited.

The code forbids selling below cost, except in the case of seasonal clearance sales or dropped lines. Among the unfair practices forbidden are billing merchandise on consignment and manufacturing on a "cut and trim" basis, where the distributor buys the cloth and farms it out.

ROOSEVELT MAY ATTEND LEGION'S CONVENTION HERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt announced today that if he is able to go to Chicago and attend A Century of Progress exposition, his trip will be made at the time of the American Legion convention, which meets in Chicago Oct. 2-5.

The President's statement was made in answer to an invitation to attend the Legion convention extended by Louis Johnson of Clarksburg, W. Va., national commander. Mr. Roosevelt said that he hoped he might go, but that it was still too early to announce any definite decision.

The President left tonight for a week-end cruise aboard the commerce department inspection cutter, Sequoia. The trip will take him in and about Chesapeake bay, with the return scheduled for Sunday evening. In the party were Secretary of the Interior Ickes, the secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Wallace, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Tugwell, Louis M. Howe, the Presient's secretary, and Miss Margaret Le Hand, personal secretary.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson will join the party by plane tomorrow to discuss matters pertaining to the industrial recovery administration, of which he is head.

WIFE LEADS RAID ON FLAT; WOMAN AND MATE SEIZED

Led by Mrs. Irene Bowers, 1420 Jonquil terrace, police and private detectives raided an apartment at 4530 Malden avenue early this morning and arrested her husband, Frank Bowers, 43 years old, and Miss Roselyn Stage, 26 year old brunette.

Bowers, who lives at 435 Oakdale avenue, is the son of James F. Bowers, late head of a downtown musical house, and eventual heir to an estate of between $500,000 and $1,000,000. He is the father of four children. He and Miss Stage, the later in tears, were taken to the Town Hall police station and held on charges of disorderly conduct for arraignment in court today.

The raid was a development, according to James McQueeny, head of a private detective agency at 123 West Madison street, of the divorce case between the Bowers now pending before Judge Joseph Sabath. Mrs. Bowers procured a warrant against her husband and went with McQueeny and city police to Miss Stage's apartment. The door was forced.

BRICKLAYERS GET 12½C AN HR. PAY BOOST ON SEPT. 1

William F. Krahl, president of the Associated Builders of Chicago, announced last night that at a meeting of the joint arbitration board of the Associated Builders and Bricklayers union No. 21, the wage scale for bricklayers for the period from Sept. 1, 1933, to May 31, 1934, was fixed at $1.50 an hour.

While this rate is an increase of 12½ cents an hour over the temporary scale of $1.37½ per hour which has been in effect since March, 1932, it is a decrease of 20 cents an hour from the $1.70 an hour rate included in the arbitration board agreement which does not expire until May 31, 1934. The new rate will give the bricklayers a scale of wages equal to the electricians.

One Third All U. S. Can Expect Back Out of Three Billion Fund

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—One billion dollars is all the government can expect to get back out of its 3 billion 300 million dollars of easy money for public works, if an allocation of the fund outlined today by President Roosevelt is followed.

The President's summary of the method by which the public works money is to be spent came in explanation of a drastic slash made by him in the 400 million dollars requested by various government departments for their pet projects. The list approved by the President and announced today by Secretary of the Interior Ickes totaled only about one-sixth of the amount sought by the federal agencies, or $64,561,543.

34 Million to Boulder Dam.

About 60 per cent of today's allocation for federal projects will go to Boulder dam, the huge catch-all for government construction money which has already drained more than 40 millions from the treasury and is estimated to need 160 millions for completion. The $34,000,000 allotted to the dam from the public works fund today is in addition to an eight million dollar appropriation carried in the 1934 interior department supply bill.

Of the 3 billion 300 millions authorized by congress, the President pointed out, one billion 300 millions is already earmarked—238 millions for naval construction, 400 millions for road construction, 50 millions for forest trail construction, and so on.

500 Millions for U. S. Projects.

Of the remaining 2 billion dollars, five to six hundred millions, the President said, is to be spent on federal projects already authorized by congress, including rivers and harbors and flood control work. This leaves approximately 1 billion, 400 million dollars for nonfederal projects, of which 30 per cent is to be granted outright and the remainder loaned. The amount to be loaned will approximate $980,000,000, which, under the present plan, will represent all that is to be returnable.

While the loans from the public works fund will bear interest at 4 per cent, this return on the government's investment is to be counterbalanced almost entirely by the interest paid by the government on the public works bonds to be issued to supply the public works fund.

The list of non-federal projects approved today did not include any in Illinois. When the public works administration swings into full operation on non-federal works, however, it is expected that the long-sought loan for completion of the Chicago Sanitary district sewage disposal system will be approved.

Officials of the public works administration have indicated to members of congress from Chicago that the Sanitary district project stands an excellent chance of obtaining federal assistance.

Consider New Dam Undertaking.

At the same time applications for the west side elevated highway and the outer drive bridge are expected to be submitted by Chicago officials within a few weeks. The prospects for approval of these projects are unknown and officials of the public works administration have declined to comment.

Prospects that the government may embark on another venture similar to the Boulder dam undertaking were seen in the President's statement that a new 30 to 40 million dollar dam project on the North Platte river is under consideration. The project was cited by the President as an example of "self-liquidating" federal projects which may be undertaken together with private work. Such a dam Mr. Roosevelt stated would pay for itself from charges for power developed and sold in the area.

The rivers and harbors program to be undertaken by the government under the public works administration will be discussed by the President and Secretary of the Interior Ickes aboard the yacht Sequoia during the President's river trip this week-end, it was said. In connection with the rivers and harbors work Mr. Roosevelt stated that an allotment for a 9 foot channel on the upper Mississippi is virtually certain of approval.

Build But Few Postoffices.

Postoffices are not to be built throughout the country as a part of the program, the President asserted, explaining that in only half a dozen cases had it been shown that the government would find advantage through the erection of its own postal buildings.

The huge sum given to Boulder dam was not the only allocation for the interior department which escaped the pruning axes of the President and Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who, as administrator of public works, is reported to have cut the departmental requests 50 per cent.

The Alaska railroad, under Mr. Ickes' department, which has lost money year after year since the government began its operation and whose steady absorption of federal funds has been repeatedly attacked in congress, was granted $210,008 "for reconditioning its entire system."

List of Federal Projects.

The $61,561,542 of federal projects approved by the President and announced by Secretary Ickes, is expected to furnish 258,200 man months of work, it was said. The list of agencies and the amount given each for construction and repair work, was as follows:

HIJACKED BEER TRUCK DRIVERS SEIZED BY POLICE

Two men, one carrying a shotgun, were captured this morning while driving a truck loaded with 150 barrels of beer which had been reported stolen. The beer was consigned to the World's Fair.

The truck was stolen from in front of the Blatz Brewing company's Chicago branch, 1500 Holt street. Soon afterward Sergt. John A. Lachel and his squad noticed the truck and two men at Western and Potomac avenues. At the same time a police radio report told of the hijacking.

Sergt. Lachel and his men seized the truck drivers, who identified themselves as George Campisi, 23 years old, 942 Milton avenue, and Anthony Priola, 18, of 1032 North Franklin street. Campisi was carrying the shotgun. They denied stealing the beer truck, asserting they had been hired to drive it.

Harry Guillaume, 931 North 6th street, St. Louis, Mo., driver of a truck, reported to the Marquette police last night that he had been kidnaped twenty miles south of Joliet and robbed of his cargo of beer, valued at $1,100. The beer was from the Schoenhaufen brewery and was being taken to retailers in St. Louis. Guillaume said there were four men in the hijacking gang and that two of them drove off with the truck while the others brought him in a car back to Chicago and tossed him out at 18th and Leavitt streets.

KLONDIKE KATE TO WED MAN WHO MET HER IN 1900

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 14.—(AP)—A romance born secretly in the heart of a man on Christmas eve in 1900, in the gold rush days at Dawson, brings marriage to Klondike Kate, the belle of the dance halls; and John Matson, an Alaskan miner.

The silver-haired Matson, who remained in the northland working his claims but all the time recalling the vision of Kate, was at the boat dock this morning to meet her on her arrival from Seattle. They will be wed "within a day or so."

Klondike Kate came south with Alexander Pantages, the theater man, and won renown throughout the west as the girl who gave him his start in the theatrical world. Four years ago Matson read she had attended the Seattle stampede of the Sourdoughs, and later that she was the "mystery witness" summoned from Bend, Ore., to aid in the defense of Pantages in his California trial, although she was not called to testify. He started a correspondence with her, and she welcomed his attentions. Finally, he asked her to marry him.

JUDGE WILKERSON OVERRULES INSULLS' INDICTMENT ATTACK

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday overruled demurrers to the indictments against Samuel Insull Sr., his brother, Martin J. Insull, and 17 other officials and directors of the Corporation Securities company, one of the bankrupt Insull concerns. The defendants are charged with conspiracy to use the mails to defraud.

The Insulls are fugitives from justice. Hearing on the pleas for the other defendants was set for Tuesday. Attorney Amos C. Miller, counsel for C. B. Stuart, a vice president of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and one of the defendants, was given permission to enter his client's plea Tuesday because Stuart is living in New York.

Judge Wilkerson set Sept. 18 for a hearing on the defense motion for a bill of particulars. He indicated that he would grant the motion and set the case for trial late in November. In denying the demurrers, Judge Wilkerson said that while the indictments might have been clearer and more direct, they measured up to the constitutional requirements.

PILOTS DEMAND ARBITRATION IN AIR RACE DISPUTE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14.—(AP)—A group of airplane pilots threatened with three year suspension by the National Aeronautical association for participation in an "unsanctioned" air race at Chicago July 1-4 tonight decided to seek arbitration to avert the action.

A committee of the pilots, meeting here, appointed John Livingston of Aurora, Ill., and Bennett Griffin of Oklahoma City to arrange for a meeting with former Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the N. A. A., in Washington to discuss the disciplinary action.

The committee also cabled a protest of the threatened suspension to the Aeronautic International headquarters in Paris. The N. A. A. is affiliated with the federation.

Members of the committee, who are here for a sanctioned air circus tomorrow, said they believed 70 per cent of the country's racing pilots are in favor of organization in affiliation with the American Automobile association if the dispute with the N. A. A. is unsettled.

EMPLOYERS FIX 40 HOUR WEEK IN PRINTING CODE

A 40 hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for men and 30 cents an hour for women were adopted at the national meeting of printing employers at the Midland club yesterday as part of the industrial code to be presented to the national administration under the national recovery act.

The convention, which is sponsored by the United Typothetae of America, approved the resolution on wages submitted by R. R. Donnelley, Chicago printer. The code is to affect all printing plants which sell printing, and all plants privately or publicly endowed or supported and all plants operated by federal, state or municipal authorities. It will not affect corporations engaged solely in printing newspapers, but will affect corporations or persons who operate job printing in connection with a newspaper.

The United Typothetae voted also to prohibit the employment of minors under 16 years of age in mechanical production, on the motion of Steve Nance of Atlanta, Ga.

On Fixing of Prices.

The last item left on the U. T. A. program is stabilization of market values, the fixing of minimum prices to the customer for the various kinds of work, and the methods to be used in determining the minimum prices by a standard cost accounting system. This will mean that the printer cannot sell his products under cost, and it will be mandatory for him to know truthfully and efficiently what is his cost for any particular job.

In the working hour section of the code adopted yesterday it had originally been set forth that the standard working time should be eight hours a day, five days a week. However, this was amended by vote of the convention to read forty hours for the week, because many of the smaller shops, which could spread forty hours over the entire week, were not in a position to work only five days.

Publishers Draft Code.

The National Editorial association, representing 12,000 small town newspaper printer-publishers, which was denied representation at the Midland club meeting, drafted its own code at the Hotel Sherman.

The code differs from the one adopted by the print shop owners. It sets a minimum wage of 45 cents an hour for men and 35 cents an hour for women. The hour schedule, like that of the Typothetae, is limited to 40 hours per week.

The essential difference between the two codes lies in the powers of administration, it was pointed out. Whereas the Typothetae code sets up the United Typothetae of America as a coördinator for the industry along with a board of 35 directors from different zones, the printer-publishers moved to establish a Graphic Arts institute which will include representatives of all the different phases of the industry, such as lithographing, engraving, and newspaper publishing this institute to be self-governing.

Meanwhile the International Allied Printing Trades association, representing 155,000 union printers, continued its discussion on a code based on their own interests. It was reported that the members of this association will recommend a 30 or 32 hour week.

Five Youths Accused of Murder Granted Mistrial

Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court yesterday allowed a defense motion for a mistrial in the case of five Italian youths charged with the murder of Vito Pisciotta during a robbery in his home at 3152 5th avenue, last Feb. 4. The case was set for a second hearing on Sept. 25. Judge Feinberg upheld defense counsel's arguments that testimony of two state witnesses for the defendants was ground for a mistrial.

ROPER TO GET CHICAGO AIRPORT PLANS MONDAY

Hears Kelly's Appeal for U. S. Funds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—Mayor Edward J. Kelly concluded his "gumshoeing" trip to the capital today with a visit to President Roosevelt and a promise that the Chicago plan commission will call next Monday on Secretary of Commerce Roper with a proposal for federal construction of the downtown airport at 12th street and the lake, Chicago.

Mr. Roper displayed interest in his suggestion that the government build the airport, Mayor Kelly said, following a conference with the commerce secretary.

Would Reclaim Land.

"We discussed with Secretary of Commerce Roper the proposed airport in the center of the city, which we thought the government should build," he said. "It is at 12th street and the lake. The land would be reclaimed from dredging and give the government an air terminal virtually in the center of the city. It would cost about $6,000,000."

"Mr. Roper suggested that we send the Chicago plan commission down to lay plans before a committee in his office Monday. They will be here."

At the same time, Mayor Kelly called upon Attorney General Cummings, and Controller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor for an interpretation of the Glass banking bill under which he believes national banks can purchase Chicago tax anticipation warrants for a school teachers' loan. The controller's decision, he said, is to be forwarded to him in Chicago.

President Offers His Help.

The mayor said his visit to President Roosevelt was a social call. But the President, he said, asked a number of questions about Chicago, displaying a thorough knowledge of the problems confronting the city and evidencing a desire to help in whatever way he could. The mayor did not question Mr. Roosevelt about public works funds for Chicago, he said, although Mr. Roosevelt asked several questions regarding Chicago's intention to seek federal aid for construction projects.

"I told the President," said the mayor, "that we are not going to ask for a number of large construction loans, because they involve warrants and bonds and they have to be paid back. We are going to avoid increases in taxes wherever we can.

"I came down here just to do a little gumshoeing around," Mayor Kelly said as he boarded the train late in the day. "I wanted to find out how Chicago can get the money it needs, and I made no applications for loans at this time."

Taken for Ride in Own Auto and Shot to Death

INDEPENDENTS THREATEN FIGHT ON MILK CODE

To Challenge U. S. Power on Price Fixing.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The right of the federal government to compel independent milk distributors to charge customers the same price for milk on a cash and carry basis as is charged for doorstep delivery to credit customers is to be challenged by a group of 40 Cook county roadside stand operators, it was announced yesterday.

Joseph E. Green, attorney for the Independent Milk Distributors' Association of Northern Illinois, said yesterday that unless the milk trade agreement for the Chicago metropolitan area, which Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has said he will sign in a few days, carries a price differentiation, his clients will seek to restrain Secretary Wallace from enforcing it.

Pact Submitted on May 12.

The trade agreement was submitted on May 12, the day President Roosevelt signed the new farm adjustment act, by the Pure Milk association, representing 18,000 dairy farmers, and by the Milk Council, Inc., representing a majority of the Chicago milk dealers.

It stipulates that all milk and cream shall be sold at fixed prices in the area bounded by Waukegan, Elgin, Lemont, and Gary, and that all farmers who provide the milk and cream shall be paid on the same basis. A similar trade agreement has been adopted by dealers and farmers in the Joliet market, and by dairymen in some twenty other cities.

Questions Constitutionality.

"There is a serious question as to the constitutionality of the farm act and some of the provisions of the rules promulgated under it," declared Attorney Green. "The main feature which we object to is that persons who come to our stands, pay cash, and carry their own products away should be obliged to pay the same price as those who have the milk brought to their doorstep on credit.

"Don N. Geyer of the Pure Milk association and other of the industry testified in Washington at the public milk hearing that the cost of delivering a bottle of milk was about 3½ cents. Some such differential as this must be provided, or we will be obliged to take legal action."

Prepare for Licensing.

Plans were being made in Washington yesterday for licensing all producers and distributors of milk in the Chicago area, whether they have signed the agreement or not. A licensing commissioner is to be appointed, who, in turn, will appoint a committee to arbitrate disputes. Violators of the agreement are subject to a revocation of their licenses and fines of $1,000 per day.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Missouri synod Lutherans representing the Laymen's League of that church opened their national convention last night with a banquet at the Morrison hotel. Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia college, St. Louis, urged American churches to "take a leaf from the book of American business and adopt a code which would return to them their original rights and duties."

Dr. Maier told the 160 delegates that the biggest business in the country is the work of the churches, holding property valued at 4 billion dollars, and having larger geographical extension than any industry or commercial project in the world.

"But with 250,000 churches in the United States today following different and contradictory principles and practices, the original purpose of the church is obscured and subject to severe criticism," said Dr. Maier.

Outlines Code for Churches.

The St. Louis church leader set forth seven principles as the code of action for the religious forces of the country:

1. To renounce all interference with partizan, political polls of state and national legislative bodies; to discontinue federal lobbies and to return to the charter purpose of the church, to preach the gospel.

2. To disavow all attempts of competing with the theatrical interests of the country, and to banish "Amos and Andy sermons."

3. To repudiate all gambling, lottery, roulette wheels and other games of chance which some of the churches have adopted and promoted in spits of the fact that these procedures are both illegal and immoral.

4. To abstain from misrepresentation effecting the church. Modernists should become honest and tell the world where they stand instead of hiding their rejection of the Bible under some masquerade.

5. To remember that the church has more important issues than 3.2 beer.

Assails Subversive Doctrines.

6. To disclaim all anti-American and anti-social principles that have usurped prominence in certain pulpits, the subversive doctrines of pacifism, internationalism, and sovietism while the disintegration of the home through easy divorce, birth control, and temporary marriage have been flaunted before the public eye.

7. To consider the needs of the men the churches have forgotten—the men troubled by the sin that modern churches have ruled out—in the era of greatest lawlessness, and to preach to him the message of salvation through Christ.

Dr. Maier will take part in the great Lutheran day celebration in Soldiers' field tomorrow afternoon when 75,000 Lutherans are expected to be present.

HULL REFUSES TO PAY LONDON BRAIN TRUST BILL

Refers Moley-Swope Costs to Washington.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 14.—Payment of the incidental expenses incurred by Prof. Raymond Moley and Herbert Bayard Swope during the week they spent in London recently has been held up and referred to Washington by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, it was learned tonight. The bills total something like $3,000.

It will be remembered that Prof. Moley, chief of the Roosevelt brain trust, came to the London economic conference to interpret the mind of President Roosevelt to the American delegation and European statesmen, while Mr. Swope came along to interpret Prof. Moley's mind to the press.

$2,065 in Ocean Phone Calls.

Transoceanic telephone calls by Prof. Moley to Washington, Campobello and other points, $1,320.

Transoceanic telephone calls by Swope to Washington, New York and other points, $745.

Charter of an airplane to bring Prof. Moley and Swope from Cobh, Ireland, to London, a plane which they did not use, $500.

These bills were presented at the American delegation headquarters shortly after the departure of Prof. Moley and Swope last week. They left the delegation's disbursing office gasping for breath. Inasmuch as the delegation's $50,000 appropriation is nearly exhausted, Secretary Hull decided to refer these bills to Washington for payment.

Telephone Calls Futile.

Prof. Moley's ocean telephoning at the cost of $1,320 proved wholly futile. After talking with President Roosevelt, Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, Bernard M. Baruch, and many others, Prof. Moley reported to the delegation that the President would approve the gold standard and currency stabilization formula which Prof. Moley had been persuaded to accept by the British, French and other conference leaders. The next day Mr. Roosevelt rejected the formula. Prof. Moley never recovered from that catastrophe and faded from the conference picture days before he sailed homeward.

How much more than these incidental expenses the Moley-Swope expedition cost the American taxpayers is not known here. There was the item of the palatial suites they and their secretaries, valets and other attendants occupied on the steamers coming and going. This cost alone is estimated at several thousand dollars. There was the private car they occupied on the special boat train from Plymouth to London and the motor cars that carried them from London to Plymouth a week later.

Why They Came "Mystery."

Just why Prof. Moley and Swope came to London, if not for a ride at public expense, has never been satisfactorily explained. Mr. Roosevelt said he wanted Prof. Moley to explain to the delegation the developments at home since the delegates departed for London. But members of the delegation say he brought no information they did not have and that such information as he thought he got by ocean telephone turned out to be misinformation.

Reports from Washington that President Roosevelt is moving to form something akin to a Pan-American customs union received confirmation here today. Secretary Hull has been holding conversations, it transpires, with members of the Argentine and other South American delegations on the negotiation of bilateral trade agreements involving reciprocal reduction of tariffs. The Argentine and other South American delegates will go to Washington after the close of the economic conference to pursue the negotiations.

This information is interpreted as evidencing Mr. Roosevelt's conviction that nothing tangible is to be expected of the London conference and his decision to go ahead independently with his tariff reciprocity program.

Report Disturbs Moley.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Press reports from London that the visit of Prof. Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, to the world economic conference cost the United States government $500 for airplane hire and $1,320 in trans-Atlantic telephone tolls disturbed Prof. Moley on his return to Washington today.

The assistant secretary, who made a hurried trip abroad as a liaison officer for President Roosevelt, told newspaper men that he had not seen any expense vouchers for his trip. He said the bills were sent to the American embassy at London, but that when these came in he would pay whatever expenses were of a personal nature.

He explained that the airplane cost referred to must have been the charter of a plan to take him from Cobh, Ireland, to London in response to a request sent from shipboard when he thought he would arrive at Cobh late at night. He said he assumed some official plane would be sent. He did not use the plane, but it met him at Cobh with a representative from the American embassy at London aboard with official messages.

As for the reported telephone bill, Prof. Moley said that he knew of one item of $480 of a strictly official nature, representing 48 minute conversation with officials at Washington at a cost of $10 a minute, the regular rate.

Adolph Niele, 30 years old, former motorcycle policeman of Dixmoor, was sentenced yesterday to serve one to five years in prison for bigamy. He pleaded guilty, and Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court ordered him examined by Dr. Harry Hoffman of the behavior clinic, who pronounced him sane. Mrs. Tessie Schimmel Niele, wife No. 1, who is the mother of his 3 year old daughter, and wife No. 2, Florence Runge, whom he married under the name of O'Neil, testified against him.

LONDON PARLEY TO CLOSE JULY 27; WIND UP DETAILS

Indefinite Recess Period Is Favored.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 14.—The definite date for the adjournment of the world economic conference now is set for July 27. The conference steering committee at its meeting today asked all commissions, committees, subcommittees, and sub-subcommittees and so on to complete their work as soon as possible, but in any case not later than next Friday.

The steering committee will meet July 25 and will summon the final plenary session for either July 26 or 27, at which the future of the conference will be discussed. It is certain the conference will not dissolve, but only take a recess which may be for three months or an indefinite period.

Favors Indefinite Recess.

The weight of opinion favors indefinite adjournment with power granted the steering committee to call the conference together again either as a whole or in separate committees as the circumstances seem to warrant.

The usual snags made their appearance at today's meetings of the sub-silver, which Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.] believed he had trained committees. In the subcommittee on to eat out of his hand, the Dutch representatives announced that they could not go on with the discussion until they had further instructions from The Hague. The committee thereupon adjourned until Monday.

In subcommission No. 2, which deals with immediate monetary measures, Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.] moved for adjournment when the subject of commercial indebtedness arose. No one seconded the motion and the committee went on with its deliberations. It was reported that James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, chairman of the monetary commission, afterwards asked Senator Couzens why he did not let some one else kill something in the conference instead of placing the entire unpleasant task upon the shoulders of the Americans.

Adopts Three Resolutions.

The commission then adopted three harmless resolutions. The first recommended the establishment of central banks in countries which do not have them. The second recommended the coöperation of central banks. The third advised the agricultural states seeking information about the central banks in connection with agricultural problems to consult with experts.

In the wheat conference the Russians protested against the allotment to them of an export quota of 25,000,000 bushels annually. They argued that this figure was absurdly small compared with their normal production, although they admitted having no reliable statistics on recent production. The Danubian states also protested against the allotment of 45,000,000 bushels and the committee adjourned to await further figures from the protestants.

In the meantime the American delegation is fading away. Delegate Ralph W. Morrison, retired Texas banker, will sail for home next Wednesday and Senator Couzens on Thursday.

American delegation experts are working on a resolution to prolong the tariff truce, but it is reported to be so riddled with American reservations and anticipated reservations from other countries as to be quite harmless. It will, therefore, probably be adopted and the nations will feel free to raise or lower tariffs as they please in accordance with the exceptions and reservations.

ELLIOTT, SECOND ROOSEVELT SON, DEMANDS DIVORCE

Minden, Nev., July 14.—[Special.]—Elliott Roosevelt, second son of President Roosevelt, today filed suit for divorce here against Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt of Philadelphia. The bill charged extreme cruelty.

The bill alleged that Mrs. Roosevelt's conduct had caused him "great mental agony and suffering" and that continued living together might seriously impair his health.

Roosevelt's complaint will not be pressed, however, according to his attorney, Sam Platt, of Reno, who said that he will consent to the filing of a cross bill by Mrs. Roosevelt and permit her to obtain the decree without a contest.

The hearing date tentatively was set for Monday. The date, however, will depend on the time of arrival here of Mrs. Roosevelt's testimony, which is contained in a deposition sent by air mail from Philadelphia today.

If Judge Guild grants the decree to Mrs. Roosevelt the transcript of testimony will be sealed with a copy of a property settlement agreement signed by the couple. This agreement also provides for the custody of the Roosevelt's infant son, William Donner Roosevelt.

N. Y. POLICE HUNT A MOTHER WHO GAVE BABY AWAY

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Police sought in vain today for Mrs. Ida Mariano to tell her she would have to keep the baby she gave to Mrs. Victoria Barrett as they left the hospital together Thursday.

Mrs. Barrett's baby had died. Mrs. Mariano didn't want hers. The arrangement had seemed ideal to them but Charles Barrett, who has no job, decided against it.

Mrs. Mariano was not to be found at the address she gave. Meanwhile the 10 day old boy is being cared for at the New York Foundling hospital.

ENGLAND, FRANCE, GERMANY, ITALY SIGN PACT TODAY

Mussolini's Peace Club Created.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 14.—The Italian government announced today that the four-power pact through which England, France, Germany, and Italy agree to coördinate their foreign policy on international economics and finance for a period of ten years will be formally signed in Premier Mussolini's office at the Palazzo Venezia at high noon tomorrow.

Premier Mussolini, more or less the father of the peace pact, will sign for Italy. Ambassador Sir Ronald Graham and Henry de Jouvenel, both of whom will immediately afterwards resign their posts and return home, will sign respectively for England and France. Ambassador Ulrich von Hassel will sign for Germany.

Pomp Will Be Absent.

The whole business will be ended simply and quickly, contrary to what had originally been desired, for Rome usually wants a big show when treaties are signed.

While the pact is expected to enable all four of Europe's major powers to act together more effectively, its most immediate effect, according to what transpires now, will appear in mending the strained Italo-French relations and a probable veering of Italy's sympathy for Hitlerism. The ground already is being broken, it is said, in Rome for ironing out the long standing differences between Italy and France on the basis of the pact.

The pact was first proposed by Mussolini when Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon of Great Britain visited Rome in March. It aroused the immediate hostility of Russia and the little entente of Rumania, Czechoslovakia, and Jugo-Slavia. During April and May the difficulties were smoothed out and the treaty was finally initialed in Rome on June 7.

Germans Kick up Row.

After the initialing Germany only two weeks ago kicked up a row against the eventual signing. Chancellor Hitler's government sent a formal note to Rome in protest to the French point of view on how the pact applies to revising the peace treaties. This last objection of Hitler was patched up only recently.

Today Il Duce talked with Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference. Ostensibly they discussed the possibility of resuming the disarmament negotiations. On the other hand, it is believed the two talked about the possibility of reaching naval agreements between Italy and France as Henderson came to Rome following talks with Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour in Paris.

$28,544 MORE PAID AS SALES TAX GOES INTO WELFARE FUND

Contributions totaling $28,544.93, representing unclaimed sales tax collections under the sales tax of last April, later held illegal by the state Supreme court, have been turned over in the past few days by three firms to the Emergency Welfare fund. These contributions were:

Carson Pirie Scott & Co.	$ 23,500.00
Consumers Sanitary stores	5,000.00
Courtway tearoom	44.93
Total	$ 28,544.93
Previously contributed	$103,413.76
Grand total	$131,958.69

"The Emergency Welfare fund can use all such gifts," Frank D. Loomis, an official of the fund, stated yesterday. "We will be happy to add similar gifts from other merchants who have not disposed of the sales tax collections."

DRAKE FAMILIES QUIT FIGHT FOR HOTEL SUITES

John B. and Tracy C. Drake in an agreed order presented yesterday to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson consented to vacate with their families their suites on the ninth floor of the Drake hotel. They will move out by July 19, according to the order.

The Drake families have been living in the hotel without paying rent and also have been receiving free food and hotel service under a contract made with the Whitestone Management company, present operators of the hotel, in July, 1932. The arrangement was to run for 6½ years.

Charles K. Williamson, receiver for the Drake hotel, sought to oust the Drakes. Jacob I. Grossman, federal master in chancery, recently recommended that the privileges be taken away from the Drakes. The agreed order leaves in abeyance any ruling by Judge Wilkerson as to whether the Drakes should pay for their past rent.

EXPECT RELEASE OF KIDNAPED LUER WITHIN 10 HOURS

Member of Ransom Group Tells of "Good News."

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Alton, Ill., July 15 [3 a. m. Saturday].—New activity last night and this morning led to the belief that August Luer, 78 year old banker and first citizen of Alton, who was kidnaped last Monday night, will be released soon, perhaps within ten hours.

At 2 o'clock this morning a large car containing four close friends of the banker left his home on a mystery errand. They headed west of the city. Silence guarded their mission, but it was believed to be important.

Only a few hours earlier Lawrence Keller Jr., member of the ransom committee which has been seeking to negotiate with the kidnapers, greeted newspaper men with smiles.

Tells of Good News.

"Well, boys, we got good news tonight," he said.

"Does that mean you've received a note in Luer's handwriting?" some one asked.

"That's a close guess," returned Keller.

If, as indicated by his remark, Luer is alive, one of the principal problems of his friends in dealing with the kidnapers has been solved. Because of Luer's age and physical infirmities it was feared he could not survive the kidnaping ordeal, and consequently the ransom committee in dealing or trying to deal with the abductors demanded proof that he is alive. A letter in his handwriting would be accepted as proof, friends pointed out.

Two Notes Received.

Two known notes have been forwarded by the kidnaping gang, but neither was in Luer's hand. Both letters demanded ransom. Publicly the ransom committee asked for a specimen of his writing.

The only danger in that demand, it was feared at the time, was that the kidnapers would torture Luer into writing a note.

Refuse Details About Notes.

Members of the ransom group, including Mr. Keller of the Alton Banking and Trust company, controlled by Luer, and Orville S. Catt of the Luer Bros. Packing company, refused to say when the notes had been received, whether delivered by mail or messenger, or what instructions they contained.

They also declined to speculate on what significance they attached, if any, to the seizure of Arthur M. Cooper of St. Louis, former operator of a Luer owned hotel here, who is held without charge in the Madison county jail at Edwardsville.

The prevailing opinion in Alton was that Cooper, known as a garrulous individual, had "talked himself into jail," when he telephoned Mayor Thomas Butler here Wednesday night, suggesting that the personnel of the ransom committee be changed, that $50,000 be made ready, and that Luer would be released within eighteen hours thereafter.

Under questioning of Sheriff Peter Fitzgerald and State's Attorney Leslie Geer today Cooper insisted that he was greatly intoxicated when he called the mayor.

SAMMONS READY TO RETURN HERE WITHOUT FIGHT

James [Fur] Sammons, one of the public enemies, yesterday agreed in Kansas City, Mo., where he is under arrest, to waive resistance to extradition to Chicago. The state's attorney's office here has been seeking to get Sammons here and force him to trial on a charge of assault to kill during the $85,000 robbery of the International Harvester company in 1928.

Sammons, a paroled convict with a record as a killer, was taken into custody as a suspect in the Union station robbery in Kansas City. He was carrying $8,500 in his pockets when the police seized him.

A squad of police under Sergt. Thomas Kelly, according to plan, will bring him here in an automobile. Policemen Willis Brennan and Charles Pribyl of the state's attorney's office left yesterday to assist in the return. Sammons is also wanted to stand trial on a charge of robbery in Baltimore, Md.

BAINS POST NEW BOND IN FEDERAL MAIL FRAUD CASE

John Bain, former head of the defunct chain of 12 banks, and his two sons, John H. and Robert A. Bain, yesterday posted real estate valued at $55,000 at the United States courthouse as surety for their release on indictments charging use of the mails to defraud.

The federal grand jury had held the Bains in $5,000 bonds each. Included in the surety is the home of Michael L. Igoe, former state representative, at 5434 Cornell avenue, which has also been posted as bond in the state courts.

Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph A. Struett said the Bains would be arraigned in a few days. The ex-bankers are appealing their convictions in state courts on charges of conspiracy and receiving deposits while they knew the banks to be insolvent.

Four Hurt in Refinery Blast in East Chicago

One man was seriously burned and three others were slightly injured late yesterday afternoon in an explosion at the Sinclair oil refinery at East Chicago. The blast, attributed to leaking gas, occurred in a small pump house. Willard Cullan, 125 156th place, Calumet City, an engineer, was seriously hurt. He was taken to St. Catherine's hospital in East Chicago.

Newton, Ia., July 14.—(AP)—Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa suffered a sprained neck and left shoulder today when his automobile overturned while en route to Newton. Adjt. Gen. Charles H. Grahl, who was driving, suffered bruises. He said he believed the steering apparatus broke.

HOLD UP BUTCHER AND GROCER.

Four men in an automobile who took $120 in the robberies of a meat market at 4041 West 10th street and a grocery store at 3840 West 10th street were sought by the Lawndale police yesterday.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN O'CONNELL JR. KIDNAPING CASE

Letter Asks for New List of Intermediaries.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—The first arrest in the John J. O'Connell Jr. kidnaping case was made today. Guy Nolan, 40, an ex-convict, was taken into custody in Buffalo. Nolan was reported to have overheard a gangster discussing plans for the kidnaping. Police said they had reason to believe he might know where O'Connell is being held.

Meanwhile interest in the case shifted to New York City. A new letter received at Albany from the kidnapers instructed Dan P. O'Connell, the politically powerful uncle of young O'Connell, to publish in the afternoon newspapers the name of nine more men who will act as intermediaries in the ransom and return of the kidnaped man.

Two Earlier Lists Published.

Two previous lists of eleven intermediaries each were published in Albany newspapers under instructions from the kidnapers.

Acting on instructions in a letter dropped in his postoffice box, Dan O'Connell inserted the following message in the Sun this afternoon:

"Dear Rex:

"Am in New York. Please get in touch with [names decoded] Jim O'Connor, Dave Sherman, Joe Curro.

"[Signed] AL FREIDMAN."

Similarly worded messages were inserted in two other newspapers.

No Message from Prisoner.

Unlike earlier letters, the one received today contained no personal message from the kidnaped man. In the letter received Tuesday O'Connell wrote that he was "all right."

Today's letter, however, was signed with the missing young man's name, and the uncle said he was confident the signature was authentic. He would not say where the note was posted.

ROB FARM OFFICE OF $250.

NO ELECTRONS IN COSMIC RAYS, SAYS SCIENTIST

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

PANAMA, July 14.—Discovery that there are no electrons, but instead a rush of vastly charged positive particles in the cosmic rays here was announced today by Dr. Thomas W. Johnson.

He claimed undoubted evidence that 30 per cent of the rays here are positive particles, of 3,000,000,000 to 50,000,000,000 volts apiece. The other 70 per cent he said by "favorable evidence" are photons—so called bullets of light.

Dr. Johnson is assistant director of the Bartol Research foundation, Swarthmore, Pa. His studies were made at the Barro Colorado island laboratory, Canal Zone, under auspices of the Carnegie institution of Washington. His findings were announced in a talk to the Panama Canal Natural History society.

Compromises Previous Views.

These findings may help reconcile the conflicting views of the two famous American cosmic ray experts, Dr. Robert A. Millikan and Dr. Arthur H. Compton. Millikan holds the rays are photons—Compton that they are charged particles.

But most of the scientists who agree to the particle theory, have said the mysterious rays were electrons. The nonexistence of electrons in the air here is proved, Dr. Johnson holds, by the direction in which the charged particles travel. This direction is governed partly by the earth's magnetic field—one way for negative electrons, the opposite for positive charges.

"There is no indication whatsoever of any negative rays," said Dr. Johnson. "Work at Barro Colorado indicated without doubt that by far the greater part of the rays are positive. Measurements are complete enough to leave little room for doubt.

An Unknown Energy.

"About 30 per cent of the rays are positively charged with energies between three billion and fifty billion volts. The remainder may also be electrically charged and of still higher energy.

"But the evidence is favorable—though inconclusive—that they are electrically neutral photons.

"If these photons are produced as Dr. Regener postulates, by the annihilation of matter, then these directional measurements show positively charged recoil nuclear fragments (pieces of the hearts of atoms) also present in the radiation with intensity of just about the right magnitude to correlate with the intensity of photons.

TWO SENTENCED TO LIFE TERMS IN CARL MURDER

John Milosic, 50 years old, alleged sweetheart of Mrs. Vera Carl, and her brother, Ivan Grilec, 39 years old, 4325 West 26th street, were sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday by Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court for the murder of Mrs. Carl's husband, George, on July 16, 1932.

Milosic and Grilec were found guilty by a jury several weeks ago. Mrs. Carl will be tried for the murder next Monday before Judge Rudolph F. Desort. Joseph Fess, 26 years old, 3249 South Komensky avenue, who confessed to murdering Carl for $800, and Edward Vesilka, 28 years old, 3133 South Lawndale avenue, who was indicted as an accessory after the fact, will be tried after the widow.

Judge Feinberg characterized Fess, who testified for the state, as a "human monstrosity." Carl was slain in the rear of his grocery at 2511 South Crawford avenue. The state charged the murder was committed to enable Mrs. Carl to collect her husband's $15,000 insurance policy. Milosic and Grilec will be taken immediately to Joliet, as no application was made for a stay of mittimus.

FAIR TO DIRECT ITS SPOTLIGHT ON OHIO TODAY

Famous Military Outfit to Escort Gov. White.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Ohio, the Buckeye state, will claim the spotlight of A Century of Progress today. Sharing it will be the Lions International assembly, convening at 2:30 o'clock in the court of the Hall of Science.

Former Ohioans who now live in Chicago and elsewhere in this territory will mingle with Buckeye residents in the Ohio exhibit in the Hall of States, which has been visited by an average of 14,000 persons a day, officials at the exhibit estimated. A total of 12,291 Ohioans have registered in the guest book there, it was reported yesterday.

Gov. George White, escorted by the famous Cleveland Grays, a military organization whose history dates back to 1837, will arrive at the 14th street entrance at 1:30 p. m. today. They will be welcomed by a military escort and the governor will receive a 19 gun salute. A parade will march from the court of honor to the court of the Hall of States, where the formal program begins at 2:30 o'clock. Gov. White will turn over the Ohio exhibit to A Century of Progress and President Rufus C. Dawes will accept it. Mayor Kelly is scheduled to speak.

Recall St. Clair Inauguration.

Today was chosen as Ohio day because it is the 145th anniversary of the inauguration of the first governor of the north territory, Arthur St. Clair, a major general in the United States army who had served at Valley Forge. The inauguration was held at Marietta just a year after civil government was established under the ordinance of 1787.

Marietta, which is the home of Gov. White and the former home town of President Dawes, will be represented at the ceremonies by the Marietta band. It was, moreover the farm women of Marietta and vicinity who made the hooked rugs which ornament the seats of the 34 benches of native Ohio walnut in the Ohio state exhibit. These benches, for World's Fair visitors with tired feet, and a map on which Ohioans may see their home towns illuminated by pressing a button, and the murals depicting Ohio's history have made Ohio's exhibit one of the most popular ones on the Exposition grounds.

Proud of Presidents' Busts.

Another feature in Ohio's "made in Ohio" exhibit which is pointed to with pride is the group of busts of the Presidents who hailed from the Buckeye state. These include: Ulysses S. Grant, Warren G. Harding, James A. Garfield, Rutherford B. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley, and William H. Taft.

The music program will include performances by the Lima and Sidney, O., bands and the a cappella choir of King Avenue Episcopal church, Columbus, O.

Another Children's day special yesterday brought the attendance to 128,833 at 11:30 p. m.

Yesterday was Bastille day at the Fair, celebrated at a dinner in the Moroccan pavilion attended by French dignitaries, and in the afternoon by a flag raising program in front of the Pantheon de la Guerra concession, featuring the massive 402 foot long canvas depicting the battlefields of France and Belgium with portraits of heroes and statesmen in the foreground.

Gen. Parker Speaks.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, speaking in praise of the picture, said that as observer with the French army from 1914 to 1917, and later in service with the American army in France, he had observed most of the men portrayed on the canvas.

Rene Weiller, consul of France, introduced by Maj. Gen. Parker, said that France and America had more than once fought for the same cause for liberty.

"The friendships between these two great republic sisters must be and will be always the same," he declared. "France and America, in the Kellogg-Briand treaty, also stood for the great objective of international peace."

"La Marseillaise" was sung by Miss Kate Berkman and French choral singers under Edouard Dufresne, many of the audience joining in with imperfect French accent. "The Star Spangled Banner" was then sung.

Several hundred persons attended the Bastille day dinner in the Moroccan village. Among them were Consul Weiller and Mme. Weiller, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, representing Mayor Kelly; Rene Grimm-Provence, French trade commissioner; Mr. and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, Leon Hermant, Vice Consul Jean Strauss and Vice Consul Jean Kraemer and Mrs. Kraemer.

WOMAN VISITING FAIR IS SEVERELY INJURED BY AUTO

Dodging from the path of a westbound automobile and running against a car going east, Mrs. Barbara Davis, 330 29th street, southeast, Cedar Rapids, Ia., a Fair visitor, incurred late yesterday injuries which may result fatally. The accident occurred at Benson avenue and Davis street, Evanston. Mrs. Davis was walking with her husband, R. B. Davis, at the time of the accident. They have been staying at 520 Hinman avenue, Evanston.

Mrs. Davis was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where physicians said her skull apparently had been fractured.

George Evans, colored, 2007 Emerson street, Evanston, the driver of the car which struck her, was not held.

Leslie Spencer, 38 years old, and his wife, Mae, 40, of 5025 North Sawyer avenue, were seriously injured last night in an automobile accident on route 41, five miles north of Waukegan. They were taken to St. Therese's hospital in Waukegan. The Spencers were injured when a car driven by Harry Turner, 222 South Harlem avenue, skidded into them. He was slightly cut.

No automobile fatalities were reported yesterday, the Cook county toll for the year remaining at 524.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Allen Linn, 22 years old, of Ishpeming, Mich., a junior at Northwestern university, was awarded $75,000 by a jury yesterday in the court of Superior Judge I. E. Frankhauser in a damage suit brought against A Century of Progress.

Linn lost the sight of his left eye and suffered impaired vision of his right eye when a tear gas bomb exploded in his hands June 15.

He had been employed as a ticket taker at the Fair. On the night of June 15 he was ordered to take a truck from the Administration building to the 23d street gate of the Fair with Harold Lewis, another employé. Linn saw a cylinder attached to the cab of the truck and took it down to examine it. It was a time tear bomb and exploded. He was represented by Attorney Royal W. Irwin.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

One of the most beautiful lighting effects designed by the late Joseph Urban for the Fair is the neon waterfall of the Electrical building. The original plans were for a real waterfall, but when it was discovered that 90,000 gallons of water per second would be required for the undertaking Mr. Urban and Raymond Hood, working in conjunction with Robert E. Barclay, director of research for an electric company, designed the neon tube lighting effect.

New Mexico day at the Fair will be celebrated Monday, July 31. A large delegation, headed by Gov. Arthur Seligman, will arrive on a special train with a costumed band of sixty pieces and Indians.

More than 1,500 visitors to the Fair will arrive in Chicago during the next two days over the Rock Island road. The Chicago World's Fair tour party from Iowa and Missouri, numbering about 250 persons, and A Century of Progress tour party from Rock Island, Moline and Davenport will arrive tomorrow night. A party of about 100 Shriners from Des Moines, Ia., will stop in Chicago to visit the Fair on their return from a convention at Atlantic City. Monday's visitors will include two parties sponsored by the El Paso Times and the Amarillo Globe News, totaling about 500 Texans, and an Oklahoma tour party of about 500 persons. The Golden State Limited from California and Arizona will arrive in three sections Monday.

"Wings of a Century," pageant of transportation, will add another actor to its cast today for a two weeks' run, a 125 foot long, 1,125,000 pound Yellowstone type locomotive of the Northern Pacific railway. It rides the rails on 34 wheels. Contrasting with it is another actor, the little Minnetonka locomotive No. 1 of the same railway, purchased July 13, 1870. It's a wood burning saddle-tank balloon-stack baby weighing only 24,000 pounds.

B. K. Balutis, Lithuanian minister to the United States, will be received with a 19 gun salute when he arrives at A Century of Progress at 11 o'clock this morning. He is coming for the Lithuanian day celebration tomorrow.

One hundred boys and girls from the Carmelite orphanage in East Chicago saw the Fair yesterday. The children were guests of Walter J. Riley of Chicago and were welcomed by Harry S. New, former postmaster general and United States commissioner to A Century of Progress.

Dr. Alexander Alekhine, world's champion chess player, arrived in Chicago yesterday and is staying at the Seneca hotel. He will play 32 games while blindfolded at an exhibition of the chess tournament at the Fair.

Ulric H. Ellerhusen of New York, the sculptor who has just completed the government memorial at Harrodsburg, Ky., arrived yesterday to inspect his panels on the Electrical building. Mr. Ellerhusen is staying at the Stevens hotel. The $100,000 memorial at Harrodsburg was authorized by the government to commemorate the first permanent settlement of the west.

Billie Vallie, juvenile motion picture star, was crowned king of Enchanted island yesterday, climaxing the Mardi Gras program which was a special feature of Children's day at the Fair.

Capt. Richard Swift's troupe of Zouaves from the 101 Wild West ranch show on the Exposition grounds showed youngsters how to perform a time honored system of gate crashing when they scaled the fence at 35th street with lightning speed yesterday.

Assistant Transportation Chief of Fair Quits Today

Capt. C. W. Ball, corps of engineers, United States army, who has been assistant chief of transportation of A Century of Progress, leaves today for Baraga, Mich., where he will take charge of a civilian conservation corps camp. Capt. Ball came to Chicago from Houghton, Mich., where he was professor of military science and tactics at the Michigan College of Mines.

REDLICH KILLERS DENY CONFESSION IN PLEA TO COURT

Courtney to Quiz Sponsors of Paroled Convicts.

Ross King, killer of Policeman Harry Redlich, started a fight with the state of Illinois for his life yesterday. At the same time consideration was being given to the system through which he happened to be in Chicago to commit a murder—other states paroling their convicts into Illinois.

King, who was paroled to Chicago after serving six years in a Michigan penitentiary and who never before had been a resident of Illinois, was arraigned with his co-defendant, John Bongiorno, also an ex-convict but convicted in Illinois. Up stepped Attorney W. W. O'Brien, veteran defender of killers, and offered a plea of not guilty for both.

Later it was said at O'Brien's office that Mrs. Helen King, whom King married two months ago, had raised $300 for the defense of her husband and promised to raise a considerable sum in addition. Mrs. King was a divorcee with a 7 year old son when she met and married King.

His Sponsor to Testify Monday.

Maj. F. C. Thomas, of the Volunteers of America, to whom King was sent by the warden of the Marquette [Mich.] prison, said he had given King permission to marry provided the woman was informed of his past. Maj. Thomas was expected to appear before the grand jury yesterday and explain the terms of the parole through which he became supervisor of King, but his secretary obtained permission for him to delay his appearance until Monday.

Mrs. King said yesterday she knew nothing of her husband's business and she would stand by him. It was due to her appearance with Bongiorno's wife at the police station that King and Bongiorno were induced to confess. Although both men were captured within a few minutes after the murder and identified by several witnesses, they had denied knowing each other. Their confessions were witnessed by several citizens and a physician, but in the week since the murder the decision to repudiate the confessions was made.

Courtney to Quiz Importers.

State's Attorney Courtney said he would demand an explanation from Maj. Thomas and also of the Central Howard association regarding the practice of accepting "on parole" convicts from other states. The Central Howard group is said to have under its wing 200 men paroled from other states.

George W. Dixon, civic leader and active church worker, president of the Cetral Howard association, sent THE TRIBUNE a report he had obtained from the superintendent, Dr. F. Emery Lyon, from which the following is quoted:

"In the first place, this association does not secure or request the parole of prisoners and receives nothing from them when it does assume sponsorship for them during parole. The appeals come to us from prisoners because of our function as a prisoners' aid society, and is supported by the public to provide necessary care for discharged as well as paroled prisoners.

"Every week, however, we refuse to accept men from other states who appeal to us because they are not residents of Illinois and have no people here. It is our rule to accept no men who have been in prison outside Illinois institutions unless those prisoners had a previous home here.

Says Illinois Sends Out Ex-Convicts.

"In any case, the number of paroled men who have served terms in other state prisons who come to Chicago is only a fair exchange for the per cent of Illinois prisoners who are given an out-of-state parole. I have it on the authority of the state department of parole supervision that at least 25 per cent of Illinois prisoners are paroled to other states under the supervision of probation officers, sheriffs, and other responsible citizens.

"Fully 85 per cent of our paroled men complete their parole with credit and become self-supporting citizens. Only 4 per cent lapse in their parole by committing new offenses.

"In view of the above facts it is evident the Central Howard association is not engaged in 'importing' or 'dumping' prisoners from other states in Chicago who do not belong here. Furthermore, it is not true that these men come to us and live in Chicago without restraint.

"The limitation of the parole law, together with such careful supervision as we are able to exercise, goes far in keeping them in the straight and narrow way."

Two Ex-Convicts in Court.

Two court incidents involving ex-convicts were reported to State's Attorney Courtney yesterday. Charles Curtiss, 28 years old, colored, was before Judge Leon Edelman, charged with stealing four revolvers from an antique shop. He said he was paroled from a prison in Bowling Green, Ky., in 1931, after serving a term for burglary, and was sent across the Ohio river into Illinois and told never to come back to Kentucky.

"This is another case of a sister state dumping paroled convicts into Illinois," said Judge Edelman. "I am going to give you a year."

Frank Williams, 17 years old, appeared before Judge Lambert K. Hayes in the Boys' court. Police said the boy asked to be arrested, saying he had escaped from prison in Raleigh, N. C., where he was serving a term for the burglary of a freight train. Police said they communicated with North Carolina authorities and were told the boy's story was true, that he had escaped and was wanted there. But the state had no funds to send for him so the Chicago police could do what they wanted with him, let him go or put him in jail here. Judge Hayes turned him over to the Chicago Church federation.

Expect 3,000 Scientists at Chemical Meeting Here

Dr. Robert E. Wilson, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, has been appointed general chairman of a committee to make plans for the 86th meeting of the American Chemical society in Chicago from Sept. 10 to 15. The meeting will trace a century of progress in chemistry and is expected to attract more than 3,000 scientists from all over the world.

KILLED BY PLANE

STANLEY JOHN JAROS.

Stanley John Jaros of Chicago, chief aviation mate and naval airplane pilot, was killed yesterday when he was accidentally thrown into a propeller of the twin motored plane in which he was flying with Lieut. Kenneth Craig near Kaena point, Honolulu, according to a cable dispatch last night.

They were flying in rough air when the accident occurred. Jaros' body fell into the sea and had not been recovered.

Jaros was 32 years old. He is survived by his stepmother, Mrs. Katherine Jaros, 2326 South Sacramento avenue; a sister, Mrs. Hercules Johnson, 1935 Montrose avenue; a brother, August Jaros, 1620 Wisconsin avenue, Berwyn, and two other brothers. He enlisted in the navy in 1916 at 16 years of age, and served on the U. S. S. Virginia during the war. He was unmarried.

SAYS SHE SOUGHT KISS, GOT SLAP; GRANTED DIVORCE

Two hours after she filed her bill for divorce against James E. Cooney, son of John E. Cooney, vice president of the Hedstrom Barry Printing company, Mrs. Lillian G. Cooney, 23 years old, 1117 Ferdinand avenue, Forest Park, was granted a decree yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. The Cooneys were married Oct. 11, 1930, and separated April 1, 1933. They have a son, James E. Jr., 2 years old.

Mrs. Cooney charged cruelty. She alleged her husband became cold and unaffectionate after their marriage. On one occasion when she tried to kiss him he slapped her, she said, and another time he twisted her arm when she tried to hug him. Attorney Harry X. Cole, representing Mrs. Cooney, said a settlement had been made out of court.

JURY SETS FREE POLICEMAN HELD ON RAPE CHARGE

Policeman Cordes, who is the father of three children and lives at 6811 Altgeld street, has been suspended and faces charges before the civil service trial board. He had been in jail for seven months since Mrs. Hanley's accusation.

DRAFT COMPACT FOR REINSURING OF ILLINOIS LIFE

Submit Proposal to U. S. Court Today.

Fred Carr of Des Moines, Ia., announced last night that an advisory committee of three attorneys, appointed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to study proposed plans for the reinsurance of the 70,000 policy holders of the Illinois Life Insurance company, would recommend today that the business be taken over by the Central Life Assurance society [Mutual] of Des Moines.

Mr. Carr is vice president and general counsel of the Iowa company. The advisory board consists of Thomas L. Marshall of Chicago, William H. Thompson of Indianapolis and Sam T. Swansen of Milwaukee. Mr. Marshall is a member of the firm of Fisher, Boyden, Bell, Boyd & Marshall; Mr. Thompson is an insurance expert and Mr. Swansen is counsel for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee.

Report Bids of 20 Companies.

It is understood that some twenty companies have made bids for the assets and liabilities of the Illinois Life, which was placed in receivership last November when it was discovered that a large part of its assets were tied up in hotel properties owned by the Stevens family, which operated the insurance company.

Mr. Marshall last night declined to discuss the report, or even to confirm the announcement that a choice had been made. However, it has been considered probable for some time, in insurance circles, that the Iowa company would be the successful bidder. Also, it has been generally believed that the report of the attorneys would meet with the approval of the court.

Iowan Explains Findings.

According to the Iowan, the advisory board found his organization's management experienced and conservative and possessed of an excellent reputation. Further, Mr. Carr pointed out, both the Illinois Life and the Central Life Assurance society have favorable mortality rates and profitable business.

"At the time of the receivership," he said, "the Illinois Life had 142 millions of insurance in force. All its troubles were due to its investment policies. The assets were mostly in hotel bonds which depreciated."

Terms of Proposed Contract.

Mr. Carr asserted that the proposed contract with the Illinois Life policyholders was liberal; that the policyholders would receive all the earnings of their business and would get the benefit of all recovery in the assets. Some of the terms, as he explained them, follow:

1. The Illinois Life assets are to be valued as of Dec. 1, 1933, and a lien against the reserves imposed on the basis of the business done and this valuation.

2. All death claims prior to the effective date of the contract [31 days after the receiver has notified the policy holders of the reinsurance] will be paid.

3. Death claims arising after the effective date will be paid in full up to Jan. 1, 1939. After that, the lien, if any then exists, and the interest thereon may be deducted from death claims unless the lien is waived or reinsured.

4. Provision is made for the reinstatement of lapsed policies.

Moratorium on Losses.

6. A moratorium on cash loans and cash surrender values is imposed except as to reserves accumulated out of premium payments subsequent to the effective date of the contract.

7. The court retains complete jurisdiction over the assets of the Illinois Life and no legal or other fees may be charged against these assets in connection with the arrangement.

8. Provision is made for the protection of Illinois Life company agents in their renewals and commissions.

Mr. Carr said that the contract had the approval of the governor, attorney general, and insurance commissioner of Iowa, in addition to that of the advisory board. He added that he and William Poorman, actuary of the Central Life Assurance society, had the assistance of Attorney John Cochran in their negotiations with the receiver for Illinois Life, Abel Davis, and the advisory board.

Admitted assets of Central Life as of Dec. 31, 1932, were $38,826,543. It has been in operation since 1896. Its net surplus over all liabilities is $3,000,000, 10 per cent of its reserve liabilities. At the end of last year it had in force $154,000,000 of insurance. The mortality rate over the last five years has averaged under 40 per cent. George N. Ayers is president of the company.

CITY TREASURER OF PANA IS SHOT BY TWO BANDITS

Pana, Ill., July 14.—(AP)—Florimond Pegrue, 27, city treasurer of Pana, was shot and seriously wounded by one of two bandits near here shortly before midnight.

Pegrue was riding with Miss Genevieve Hines, a friend, when the bandits leaped on his car, one on each side, about a mile from town.

The couple were ordered from the car. Snatching Miss Hines' purse, the bandits then fled in their machine.

With the girl's help the treasurer struggled to the outskirts of the town and then was rushed to a hospital, where his wound was pronounced serious. He was shot in the left shoulder.

BANDITS SHOOT WOMAN.

WELCOME TO THE ITALIAN FLYERS.

The long, hazardous and difficult flight of the Italian air squadron is now nearing its objective, the harbor of Chicago. The achievement registers a new advance in the conquest of the air and marks Italy as the leader in this field of aviation.

Italian aviation has two outstanding features. Under the supervision of Air Minister Balbo it has pioneered in mass flight and it has captured the world speed record with a seaplane.

For this development of Italian aviation Air Minister Balbo is chiefly responsible. It began with Gen. Balbo's appointment in 1926 as undersecretary of aviation in the Italian government. The program then laid down has brought the Italian air forces forward from the fourth place to a position second only to that of France. In mass flight and in speed of seaplanes Italy now holds the first place.

The first great mass flight was the round the world expedition of our own army, but the Italian air force under Gen. Balbo's direction has persistently developed this feature of military aviation. His first enterprise was accomplished in 1928, when, as commander of the air force, he led a flight of 61 scout seaplanes to Spain and to various ports in the western Mediterranean. The following year he led 36 bombing planes in a flight over the eastern Mediterranean and the Black sea to Odessa. In 1931 he flew at the head of a formation of 12 Savoia-Marchetti seaplanes to Brazil. His latest accomplishment and his greatest up to this time is therefore the fruit of years of study, preparation and experience.

The foundation for these successes is laid at the High Sea Flying school at Orbetello, near Rome, where the present flight was launched, and where the picked crew of the force was prepared during a year for this feat.

Besides founding and developing the school at Orbetello, Air Minister Balbo also established the famous high speed flying school at Desenzano on Lake Garda. There since 1929 motors and planes have been built and pilots trained to win the high speed records. Four pilots have lost their lives in these experiments. The race has been an exciting one. G. H. Stainforth, the British flyer, had set the mark at 408.8 miles per hour in the Schneider cup races of 1931. In April of this year Warrant Officer Francesco Agello pushed the mark up to 423.7 in a Macchi seaplane powered by two Fiat motors. This mark stood only till May, when Col. Mario Bernasconi in the same plane flew 434 miles per hour. But this gave way again last month when Agello, only surviving member of the Italian Schneider cup team of 1931, set the world record of 440 miles per hour. His teammates of 1931 had died attempting to win that record.

Air Minister Balbo and his comrades of the great mass flight are cordially welcomed to Chicago and its Exposition, which are honored by their presence. The world has followed their progress with admiration and greets their brilliant success with well deserved applause.

KIDNAPING.

The recent increase in the crime of kidnaping presents one of the most serious phases of criminal enterprise in America. The crime itself, as we have repeatedly pointed out, is not or should not be one of the most difficult to cope with. It requires planning and calls for a rather difficult coöperation by several participants. Concealment is difficult and leakage is probable. The identity of suspects should not be especially difficult to search out, as the enterprise calls for knowledge of the habits of the victim, the layout of the place where he is to be taken, etc. In short, this crime cannot thrive where there is thoroughgoing, conscientious police work. Its success, except in rare circumstances, indicates the lack of a competent police system. Its spread can only mean that the general integrity and efficiency of police administration are not what they ought to be.

As evidence of slack government and also of deplorable public indifference to criminal activity kidnaping is becoming an outstanding exhibit. It is not only an occasion for public concern but a reason for self-reproach in every community where it is not promptly suppressed.

NOT MORALITY.

Law and its administration at their worst recently have had striking illustration in Racine, Wis. A factory worker, his divorced wife, and the woman he wished to marry were living in the house of the wife, apparently because the combined means of the three were not sufficient to permit of normal arrangements. The wife has described the situation: "We all understood each other; there wasn't any anger, and then, too, I needed the money I was getting from Jay [the former husband] as a boarder besides the alimony. Miss Weber was out of a job, so she was welcome to stay as a guest."

The situation was not ideal and would not have lasted long. But the local authorities, moving of course in the name of outraged morality, have sent the man to the penitentiary for a year to eighteen months and the unwed girl to the reformatory for three months. The divorced wife was not jailed, but she will now get along if she can without her boarder's pay and without her alimony.

The notion that that demonstration is in the interest of public or private morals is grotesque. No good either to the individuals involved or to the community can come from sending this man and woman to jail. They should regularize their relation by marriage as soon as practicable, but a district attorney and a municipal judge have postponed that in the name of morality. The proceeding was not inspired by morality but by sadism.

BALANCE THE BUDGET OR BUST.

The Milwaukee Taxpayers' alliance, whose success can be effectively estimated by the enemies it has made, announces that political action is going to be necessary to compel the substantial reduction of costs necessary to prevent a collapse of the city's credit. The alliance is not a political organization and, having pointed the way, announces that it is withdrawing from the picture and leaving the political action to the common sense of the citizens.

The great achievement of the alliance was the referendum ordinance placing a fixed and reduced limit on the budget. Its concluding admonition to Milwaukee is balance the budget or bust.

The decision that the way to recovery lies only in political action is based on the economy clowning in the council between the nonpartisans, the Socialist aldermen, and Mayor Hoan.

The nonpartisan aldermen have a slight dominance, enough to adopt ordinances but not enough to maintain them over the mayor's veto. The Socialists are openly for a policy of putting nearly every one on the public pay roll. They claim this will restore buying power, although the city was three months behind on its present pay roll until the four million dollar savings of the debt amortization fund were appropriated for back pay days.

The nonpartisans have spent their time resolving for a city pay roll cut which is more or less inconsequential and which Mayor Hoan regularly vetoes. The council finally concludes it can do nothing about it and lets it go at that.

There is little wonder that the taxpayers' group throws up its collective hands in despair and directs the task to the voters.

The amortization fund, by assuming four million dollars of the $17,000,000 of accumulated city tax delinquencies, takes care of the present emergency and pays up back salaries. The banks may or may not in the fall be willing to make the short term loans that in all probability will be required to run the city up to next tax time. If the banks are willing that will take care of the next emergency.

The so-called baby bonds, the issue of securities of small denomination backed by delinquent tax certificates, if justifiable at all, are justified only if the city officials now record a firm determination that they shall never be followed by subsequent similar issues and settle down in earnest to vigorous public economy.

That means just what the taxpayers' alliance has advised, balance the budget or bust. There is almost $12,000,000 delinquent on the total general levy of $32,000,000 for this year. There is no second amortization fund to turn to, the public debt is just under the constitutional limit, and there is no other alternative.

The taxpayers' alliance in withdrawing has pointed the way: Balance the budget or bust. The officials controlling the city may select the first course or the second will be overwhelmingly upon them. The Milwaukee predicament has a lesson for other cities in trouble.

TENNESSEE VALLEY HOLES.

There is a small item in the news to the effect that the engineers on the Cove Creek dam site in the Tennessee Valley project have discovered so many holes, caves and subterranean channels that doubt arises in their minds whether the $35,000,000 dam can be made to impound the waters. There is a fear that the water will run out through more holes than can be found and plugged. Another survey has been ordered to determine whether this site will serve the purpose.

The discovery that the Tennessee Valley project is full of holes for a most prodigious leakage contains a temptation to comment which is as obvious as it is irresistible. Mr. Norris' valley will be one of the biggest leaks the federal treasury ever pumped public funds into. It is not necessary to decorate the engineers' discovery at Cove creek. It contains its own freely revealed admonitions and premonitions.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

The further the preliminaries of industrial regulation under the recovery act go, the more complicated the whole business looks. Every day and almost every hour some new subject of regulation is suggested and every time a new subject of regulation is suggested it opens up an ever-widening vista of regulatory problems.

Take the limitation of working hours in the textile code, for example. The code originally submitted to Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, called for a maximum working week of forty hours for any single employé and of eighty working hours for a factory. But on Tuesday when the code came up for hearing before Mr. Johnson, Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina appeared in the picture. The senator had an idea. He advanced the thesis that such a restriction on hours would be unavailing unless the textile mills are forbidden at the same time to use the "stretch-out," of which much has been heard in southern labor disputes.

The "stretch-out" is a scheme for getting more work done in the textile mills with less labor. Under the "stretch-out" the operative is required to tend an increased number of machines without any increase in wages. Southern textile mills have followed this practice on a large scale, especially since the depression forced them to exercise the utmost economy. Senator Byrnes cited one mill where, to put the matter mildly, two men are today doing the work which three used to do, and at less wages. The South Carolina senator thinks that unless the "stretch-out" is prohibited the mills will simply make their employés the goats under the new "code."

This is only one of a number of points raised during the textile hearings. It is a plausible point, and its acceptance might help to guarantee labor the benefits of the New Deal in the textile trade. But if this point is accepted it will probably be found on analysis that the prohibition of the "stretch-out" will be ineffective unless something else is regulated without going on to a fourth regulatory project.

It is no wonder Mr. Johnson wants to be a czar. If he were anything else he would be utterly unequal to his task.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"OLD FRIEND ARE BEST" is an ancient saw which we have venerated and believed in up to date. But everything is changing these days. Right now it is a positive embarrassment to have friends who have money; it just makes the kidnapers itch to get hold of you. "Sure," they say one to another, "that guy's got friends who are lousy with coin; let's grab 'im off." I'm thinking of revising my entire list of friends. Anybody who owns a house and lot or a high powered sedan or wears a silk hat to the opera is off it. I want to say to the kidnapers if they should happen to grab me and demand a list of my friends, "Well, boys, here they are; all I've got." Then the kidnapers will run down the list and scowl and say, "How much mazuma they got?" and I will truthfully reply that probably the total wealth of all of them would be something between nine dollars and thirty-five cents cash and twelve dollars and a quarter, to which might possibly be added several used transfers on the Clark street line, four rain checks to ball games, three bicycle medals, six plugged dimes, two counterfeit silver dollars, and five pants buttons. Ah, what a joy it will be to see (no, we won't see anything; we'll have adhesive tape pasted over our eyes) or rather to hear the stern voice of the bandit leader as he asks harshly of his gang: "Say, who de hell said to grab dis guy? Trun him out; we don't want no guy wot hain't got friends what's got coin." Then the kidnapers would not only turn me loose but probably take up a collection and give me car fare and supper money. It's a hard thing to do, but I'll have to ask all friends of mine who have a new suit or own a malacca cane or have a sports model to lay off of me. Friends simply spell trouble nowadays.

ANENT RIVERS.

Of Acheron in Hades,
A river running strong,
They've sung in measured cadence
A dour and creepy song.

The Styx is likewise famous,
The boatman on that tide,
Gratuitous the journey,
And free the river ride.

The Tiber also famous,
The Rubicon is there,
General Julius Cæsar
Could then his laurels wear—

By merely crossing over
His triumphs spoke anew.
And then again the Danube,
Famous for its blue.

The Nile and Cleopatra,
Mad Antony fell down,
Satisfied to sojourn
In that Egyptian town.

And then of course remember
Euphrates of old fame;
The Niger, where the tiger
Pursues a tiger's game.

The Mississippi, too,
Its sinuous miles unravels
And wrecks a dyke or two

T. Roosevelt in the dark S. A.
The Doubtful river found,
By dint of lots of energy,
And peering well around.

A river's quite attractive,
It has it on the sea.
You'll find a river running through
The course of history.

CLARENCE MILLIGAN.

"HOGS DECLINE from 5 to 25 Cents."—Live Stock Notes. And yet we call them hogs! But how many of us would decline a quarter these days? Or even five cents? And we humans sneer at hogs!

A NEW INDUSTRIAL CODE slips out of Washington every few minutes. Every industry is going to have a code. But what about the codes for poets? They're going to kick like Missouri mules if the government tries to restrict 'em to forty hours' work a week and the five day week or prohibit child labor. Poets work Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, or Saturday, or on none of those days at all. They work when the inspiration seizes them, and the inspiration is liable to grab 'em just as much on Saturday or Sunday as on Tuesday morning at half past five in the morning. And as for child labor, there is the fond mother or father who sends a poem entitled "Life, Love, and Death" and says: "This was written by my little daughter Millicent, aged six years and two months (or Percival, aged three years and fourteen days), and all our friends think it much better than anything written by Burns, Shakespeare, or Milton; so we will permit you the privilege of publishing it." What is the government going to do about that? Any code forbidding poets to write when they darn well feel like it or banning child poet labor is going to cause a riot.

THE COURAGE CURE FOR SNAKE BITE.

RECENT numbers of the Macon Beacon have carried two stories of persons bitten by water moccasins. Both recovered.

The second of these stories told of a girl who was swimming in a small lake. Some one on the bank saw a water moccasin following her, evidently intending to strike. He called to her to come out. Before she could follow the advice the moccasin struck her in the hand. Her father, hearing the outcry, started to plunge into the water. The bitten girl told him to keep out, that she was all right and could get out without help.

The facetious reporter added two statements that are significant. The first was: The girl knew her father's pants had been recently pressed and that, if he went into the water, they would have to go back to the shop. The second was that when the girl recovered she pronounced the treatment worse than the disease.

I hope the first statement is correct. Panic—blind, paralyzing fear—is one of the unfortunate accompaniments of snake bite. If this girl told her father to protect the crease in his pants it is evident she had a head on her shoulders and she was using it. By keeping her courage up and having her thinktank remain on the job she saved herself a great deal of suffering and she improved her chances of recovery, say 25 per cent.

I expect the second statement is also right. Not many snakes are poisonous. The moccasin is one of the few. Not many poisonous snakes have a dose of poison large enough to be fatal to an adult, or, if they have it, are able to inject it by biting. Death of an adult from a moccasin bite is very rare. The treatment is very likely to be worse than the disease. In the old days, when the customary treatment of snake bite was to pour into the bitten person about a pint of whisky, the remedy was far worse than the disease. In that period most of the deaths charged to snake bite should have been charged to acute alcoholism.

A proper practice is to slash through the tooth marks and to promote free bleeding. The act of cutting is more painful than the puncturing done by the snake. Then the proper practice is to suck the poison from the wound by cupping or with the mouth—not a wholly pleasant procedure. To retard absorption a tourniquet is applied in certain cases. If this is left on too long it causes great discomfort and may produce gangrene. Whenever antivenin is available it should be injected. The more promptly this is done the more good can be expected. The dose must be adequate, and the probability is that it will need to be repeated.

None of these is a pleasant procedure. We can easily understand how a brave girl who refused to collapse from fear would regard the remedy as worse than the disease. This does not mean that she should not have been treated. Probably what was done for her was for the best, though that would not apply to whisky if she took that.

SOME ARE CURED.

Mrs. H. R. writes: I am 33 years old and the mother of three sturdy children, the eldest past 5 and the youngest past 2. I had a separation of the pelvic bones and a pelvic strain when my first was born. With the third my condition became worse. For ten months I have been a cripple. I am most comfortable when lying in bed, but I can get about fairly well by using crutches. X-ray pictures show "right side of pelvis tilted, separation of hip bone, and sacroiliac relaxation." Can I be cured?

REPLY.

Cases similar to yours are seen occasionally, but not often. Wearing a properly fitted, specially made corset should help you. It is possible an orthopedic surgeon could help you. Some cases are cured. Some are not.

VERBAL AGREEMENTS.

Kankakee, Ill., July 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I entered into an agreement with another party wherein I promise to do certain things for him [1] without any remuneration save room, board, and clothing. 2. He, in return, promises to do certain things for me. I faithfully carry out my part of the agreement and do my work well. The other party does not carry out his part of the agreement and do for me what I want him to do. I intend to break the agreement. 3. May I sue for my salary for the work I have done? The agreement was not in writing but was made in the presence of witnesses.

T. O. C.

1 and 2. These statements are inconsistent with one another.

3. Clearly you are entitled to recover either the reasonable value for your services or damages for his breach of the agreement.

4. We are relying on general principles of law rather than on any case specifically in point.

SERVING SUMMONS.

Chicago, July 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have employed an attorney for a suit against another party. The case is said by lawyers to be one of the best they have ever had. I am in destitute circumstances, but this lawyer took my case knowing I can't pay a cent fees unless I win. According to this lawyer the case has been filed against this party, but he says the summons server cannot reach the party or get service on her. 1. Can there be any pressure brought so that these men that serve summons can get service on this woman, as I know she can be reached as I have gone and watched her home and seen that she comes and goes all the time? 2. Is there a way I could be deputized to serve the papers? E. G.

1. We suggest that you secure the number of the case and the sheriff's number on the summons from your attorney, then ascertain at the sheriff's office what deputy has the writ and arrange to accompany him in securing service.

2. Inquire at the sheriff's office.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 15, 1917.

LONDON.—The political turmoil which has been convulsing Germany ever since Russia's first startling success on the resumption of her offensive has culminated in the resignation of the imperial chancellor. Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg. But all indications serve to show that the chancellor's resignation, far from being the last act in the drama, is only the beginning of far reaching developments which are bound to affect the fabric of the German empire and have momentous consequences on the progress of the European struggle. Immediately after the kaiser accepted the resignation of the chancellor he appointed as his successor Dr. George Michaelis, under secretary of finance for Prussia, a member of the imperial privy council and food controller for Prussia. It is probable that the whole Hollweg cabinet has fallen. The report of yesterday that the kaiser had abdicated in favor of Prince Joachim proved to be false.

WASHINGTON.—To prevent Germany getting information from German marine and war risk insurance companies in this country, President Wilson last night closed up all such companies, ordered their contracts canceled, and forbade Americans to do business with them. The sole exception is with respect to contracts covering ships now on the high seas. The President had learned German insurance companies might be supplying the fatherland with valuable shipping news.

CHICAGO.—The last of Chicago's eighty-six exemption boards completed the preliminary work last night and the lists of the city's 313,501 prospective soldiers for the national army are now in the hands of the constituted authorities.

WASHINGTON.—The army aviation bill calling for an appropriation of $640,000,000 was passed by the house late yesterday without a dissenting vote. The measure, which carries probably the greatest single aviation appropriation ever proposed in the world, sped through the house in less than five hours.

WAR SUMMARY.—Russia's victorious troops have made a further advance in eastern Galicia, where the Austro-German lines were shattered by Gen. Korniloff's drive. Petrograd announces officially the capture of the village of Novica, southwest of Kalucz. Paris reports minor successes against the Germans in the vicinity of Courcy. Berlin denies any French advance, but admits the loss of a small post.

AN ATLANTIC PORT.—A submarine was sunk by an American schooner which sailed from this port for a European port, according to advices received by the owners of the vessel from its captain.

THE DISMISSAL OF STATE NURSES.

Sterling, Ill., July 14.—Yesterday THE TRIBUNE gave a list of staff nurses dismissed by Dr. F. J. Jirka, director of the state department of public health, and gave as the reason that the five nurses were working under temporary permits from the civil service commission. I wish to make it clear to your readers that we were dismissed for political reasons only—to make way for five political appointees. The five nurses dismissed, as well as five nurses remaining on the staff, took a civil service examination about five years ago, but the civil service commission never completed the examination, and so all the staff have worked under temporary permits and five still are.

The five nurses dismissed have had post-graduate work in public health nursing and many years' experience before going on the state health department staff. The political appointees are nurses without public health training and very limited experience. They are receiving the same salary as the supervising nurses dismissed and have been assigned to local counties. Taxpayers are paying for unqualified county nurses instead of qualified public health nursing supervisors. These appointments are in violation of a public health nursing law, the enforcement of the law being under the department of registration and education.

Two months ago the new civil service commission advertised another civil service examination for public health nurse. All the staff nurses wrote the first part, but we are still waiting to be called to complete the examination.

BEER AND ACCIDENTS.

Warsaw, Ind., July 11.—I have not tried to get a complete record, but since beer has come back I have known of six deaths here in Indiana due to drunken auto drivers. Just a short time ago I was driving through the main streets of Washington, D. C., when a drunken driver came near crashing into my car. I had no possible chance to get out of his way, but fortunately he missed me, or I might not be here to tell the story.

I am not doing as some of my friends have done, stop taking your paper, because I believe that within two years you will change your tune if some drunken driver does not get you before then. J. W. OBORN.

THE SALES TAX.

Chicago, July 4.—As a visitor I have seen your sales tax in operation. King George never did anything worse to the American colonies. Every sales tax is bad, but this one is wicked. A sales tax swats the poor to ease the burden of the rich. Your legislators who voted for this ought to be retired to private life.

THE GAME OF THE CENTURY.

Villa Park, Ill., July 6.—Please allow me to voice my thanks for making it possible for us Chicagoans to see such a gathering of stars as we did at White Sox park this afternoon. J. A. STAITE.

THE INTELLIGENCE OF THE RADIO AUDIENCE.

Chicago, July 10.—While listening to a radio talk on an intelligence test, I was moved to write a few lines pertaining to some of our radio programs. The gentleman talking showed that radio listeners are far above the average in intelligence. That being the case, why should an intelligent person, in listening to the radio from 9:30 p. m. on to 11 p. m., be compelled to listen to nothing but dance music?

Why have all of the intellectual programs of an instructive nature or of interest to intelligent people at such hours that business people have no opportunity to listen in, say from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Why cannot one of the commercial advertisers retain a professor or an expert on some subject to speak? It would be a better business proposition and would be welcomed by the radio audience.

FRANCES E. SPOONER.

THE FORGOTTEN FAMILY.

Chicago, July 11.—Now that we must pay the sales tax again, I would like to know why those in charge of the relief do not investigate more than they do. I know several families who have summer homes and come in to Chicago for their boxes and checks and then go back to the summer homes. What about the families who can pay for their phones, auto license, gas, dog license, and have been on the relief roll for the last 2 years? I can also name people who are getting union scale and also getting relief. Are the investigators ever going to wake up?

My husband's salary is $10 a week and this tax means something to us and to think I have to donate to those who have more than I have! Several men on the relief roll laugh at my husband for working for such small pay. Maybe we are fools. MRS. H. JOHNSON.

A DEPOSITOR IN A CLOSED BANK.

Chicago, July 7.—Over a year ago the Chicago Bank of Commerce closed its doors and to date not one cent of liquidating dividends has been paid to the defrauded depositors. Upon my last visit to this bank, in which I made an unsuccessful effort to find out when to expect some return of the funds deposited by me, I found the usual array of clerks, attendants, and officials sitting around doing nothing, and no doubt the receiver was just as busy as the rest of the workers, but ensconced in his private office holding conferences with himself. L. A. JOHNSTON.

LOWLY GOATS.

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 10.—I notice THE TRIBUNE is taking many pointed stabs at "planned society," the "brain trust," etc., etc. Perhaps you favor a return to good old fashioned rugged individualism, or, in other words, the jungle. The jungle is a fine place for a limited number of saber-toothed tigers and hyenas, but it is a hell of a place for the big herd of lowly goats. H. J.

WORLD WOMEN LEADERS TO MEET HERE TOMORROW

Hail Progress of Sex Since 1893 Fair.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

To mark an epoch and to complete a cycle spanning the two generations that lie between Jackson park and Northerly island, the international congress of women of A Century of Progress will be formally opened tomorrow night in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

Beneath the massed banners of many nations will be grouped notable women from America and foreign nations to join in seven days of conference, of congratulation, of comparison. To crate and to argue, to weigh this method against that and this value against the other, and together, to determine how best their sex can serve "our common cause—civilization." That is the theme of the entire congress.

Hold Equality Achieved.

New days, new ways. So the "woman's building" so daringly erected in 1893 as a symbol of what women hoped to achieve, in 1933 is nonexistent, because women now figure that having achieved equality, they need no special building. This time the misgivings are not about the sentiments of the masculine element, but of that section of the feminine contingent to which tradition is so major a consideration.

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, New York attorney, former president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women and now president of the international group, will preside as head of the National Council of Women, the official sponsoring organization. This council comprises a federation of federations of women organizations, and includes in its membership practically every sizable feminine club or society in the United States, and many abroad. It is estimated that it has an affiliated membership of approximately five million women.

Recall Mrs. Palmer's Work.

Forty years ago the name of Mrs. Potter Palmer echoed around the world as she marshaled the forces behind the "board of lady managers" of the Columbian Exposition, to bring famous and advanced women of their day to the World's Fair city to contribute their part to a program that mightily enhanced the standing of all women. There is no Mrs. Potter Palmer in the current congress.

Her executive position is occupied by Miss Phillips. Her social duties are bequeathed to a committee of which Mrs. Rufus Dawes is honorary chairman as the wife of the president of A Century of Progress, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, active chaisman.

Fifteen Chicago women are members of this committee, which will be in charge of the social functions and the reception of the distinguished women from abroad. They are Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Huntley Gilbert, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Silas Strawn, Mrs. Charles Dempster, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. Hubert Burnham, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Augustus Eddy, Mrs. George Langhorne, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. George R. Dean, Mrs. Hubert Bradley, and Mrs. John W. Gary.

Foreign Delegation Here.

Various members of the foreign delegation are already in Chicago and others are scheduled to arrive today—notably Miss Margaret Bondfield of London, first woman member of the cabinet in Great Britain. Others who came last week for the biennial convention of the Business and Professional Women, just closed, include Dr. Christine Galitzi of Bucharest, Dr. Marie Munk of Berlin, first woman judge in Prussia; Dr. Marianne Beth of Vienna, and Mrs. Thit Jensen of Denmark.

Dame Rachel Crowdy, England's war heroine, is sure to be one of the focal figures at the congress. Another will be the Baroness Shidzue Ishimoto of Japan, already known to American women through her lecture tours and leadership of women of the island kingdom. Selma Ekram of Turkey is another whose name is familiar to many women in this country because of her writings and advanced views.

Show Women Author's Works.

Mrs. Grace Thompson Seton, a literary notable, is in charge of an exhibition of the work of women authors to be held at the Palmer House, where all the sessions are scheduled. Various other women of the writing profession will be present.

President Dawes of A Century of Progress will inaugurate the event with an address of welcome at 8 p. m. tomorrow. Miss Phillips will preside, assisted by Mrs. Estelle M. Sternberger, first vice president of the National council. Mrs. Wolf will extend the greetings of Chicago women, and Dr. Wally Alexandrescu of Rumania will respond on behalf of the foreign visitors. Miss Phillips' opening address, "Shall it be Progress!" will be the keynote of the congress.

YALE PROFESSOR HANGS HIMSELF IN LONELY SPOT

New Haven, Conn., July 14.—(AP)—Prof. Raymond P. Dougherty, noted Yale orientalist and curator of the Sterling Memorial museum, was found hanging from a tree in a wooded section of Hamden tonight after he was missing thirty hours.

Dr. George Joslin, medical examiner, announced the archeologist had committed suicide because of overwork and ill health. The body was found near the summit of Mill Rock, one of the loneliest sections in this locality by William Jackson, a 15 year old Negro, who had gone to the wild and wooded section to pick blueberries. He notified police.

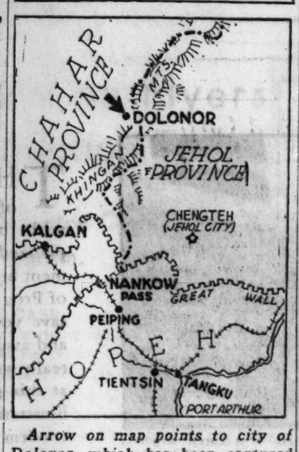
The orientalist disappeared from his home yesterday after he told his wife he was going for a walk. She suspected nothing until he failed to return at the usual hour for dinner. Then she requested police to search for him.

Hamden police said the body was hanging from a hickory tree.

SUBMITS LOW BID FOR POSTOFFICE.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—(AP)—K. E. Parker, San Francisco, submitted the low bid to the treasury today at $95,170 for construction of the new postoffice at Marshfield, Oregon.

Takes City in China



Arrow on map points to city of Dolonor, which has been captured from Manchukuan and Japanese defenders by Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, Chinese Christian general, in his campaign against the Japanese invaders. Japanese military authorities charge Gen. Feng's attack has violated the Sino-Japanese truce and have warned the Nanking government that an attempt will be made to recapture the city.

CHINESE CAPTURE OF CITY PERILS JAPANESE TRUCE

Manchukuo Defenders Routed in Battle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 14.—Japanese reports from Mukden, Manchuria, tonight confirmed reports of the capture of the strategic Mongolian frontier town of Dolonor from Manchukuan troops by Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, the Chinese "Christian general." The report quoted high Japanese officers to the effect that Gen. Feng's action completely upsets the Sino-Japanese truce which was signed at Tangku on May 31.

The Christian general's headquarters here tonight announced the details of Gen. Feng's victory after four days of battle. A communique said that three divisions of his "Anti-Japanese People's National Salvation army" arrived outside the city gates of Dolonor on July 10. Three attempts to scale the wall on that night were unsuccessful due to the use of machine guns and hand grenades by the Manchukuan defenders who were led by Japanese.

Casualties Are Heavy.

"Gen. Feng's chief lieutenant, Gen. Chi Hung-chang, lost 540 officers and men killed or wounded," the statement continued. "The morning of July 11 between 8 and 9 o'clock a fleet of seven Japanese air bombers rained explosives, dropping more than 40 heavy bombs on Gen. Feng's positions, but due to the sandy nature of the terrain, little damage was done.

"Gen. Feng's troops, numbering about 10,000, renewed the attack the night of July 11 and succeeded in entering the city early on July 12. Street fighting continued all day. The Manchukuan forces, led by Japanese, exhausted their ammunition and retreated leaving the streets filled with dead and wounded."

Immediately following the capture of Dolonor, Gen. Feng telegraphed representatives of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Chinese national government, at Peiping. The general stated that since his objective was attained, he was now willing to discuss a compromise to avoid the outbreak of civil war if possible.

Nanking's Attitude Unknown.

Nanking's reaction is not yet known, but Gen. Feng's victory has made it difficult for Marshal Chiang to carry out his intention to use forceful means of ousting Gen. Feng from Chahar province. It is also stated that Gen. Sun Tien-ying and Pang Ping-Hsun, former associates of Gen. Feng, who have been coöperating with Marshal Chiang, now are occupying Nankow pass on the railway connecting Peiping with Kalgan. It is believed they will maintain their positions, acting as a buffer between Gen. Feng and Marshal Chiang's forces stationed at Peiping.

Lieut. Col. Shibayama, Japanese military attaché at Peiping, today called on Gen. Ho Ying-chin, commander of the national government troops at Peiping, and lodged a strong verbal protest against Gen. Feng's capture of Dolonor. He declared it a violation of the Tangku truce and issued a warning that Japan reserves the right of future action to retake the city.

Other reports from Tokio and Mukden state that the Japanese military take a serious view of the situation since Gen. Feng's occupation of Dolonor threatens the security of the Manchukuo border.

In the meantime Gen. Huang Fu, who is Marshal Chiang's representative at Peiping and who arranged the Tangku truce agreement, is returning to Nanking immediately for a conference with high officials. A report from Hankow states that Marshal Chiang has called an important military conference at Kuling.

Orders Bond of Former School Official Forfeited

Police Magistrate Henry J. Sandusky of Cicero yesterday ordered a forfeiture of the $1,000 bond posted by Joseph A. Becker, former controller of the J. Sterling Morton High school, who is charged with the theft of $868 of the school funds. Becker has been free on the bond since April 28. Magistrate Sandusky said that Becker had failed to appear in court since posting the bond, although he had been granted several continuances.

Fair Presents Many Thrills to Book Lover

First Editions Are Shown by Publishers.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

THE League of American Pen Women, in numbers which filled even the spacious trustees' lounge in the Hall of Science, met to do honor to the pen at luncheon on Thursday. I remember once asking a distinguished French author, Jean Giraudoux, whether the youth of France was especially interested in books, and his reply was: "Just as a few years ago all of the boys and girls played tennis for the good of their bodies, today they all write for the good of their souls."

Writing is to some people a human need, books their daily necessity. It is perhaps a sign of national spiritual growth when it is possible to find 2,500 women who have been able to qualify as active workers in the fields of literature and the associated creative arts. The League of American Pen Women is the largest organization of its kind in the world.

Grace Thompson Seton, a past president of the league and chairman of the awards committee, has assembled an extremely interesting international exhibit of books written by women. The exhibit will open at the Palmer house on Monday. In it are to be found books from feminine pens all over the world.

Frances Parkinson Keyes (pronounced Kies, not Keyes), one of the visiting women of the pen, was the guest of honor at the luncheon given by the writers' group of the social functions committee of A Century of Progress Exposition yesterday at the trustees' lounge. She finds Chicago, she says, baffling and bewildering, a baffiement which has increased rather than abated since her first visit to Chicago at the age of three. Mrs. Keyes' novels of Washington official life have given her an enviable literary position. As wife of the senator from New Hampshire she had the opportunity to see all and hear all. That she has chosen to speak—write—all instead of following the maxim of the three Chinese monkeys is the world's good fortune.

After the official luncheons I went on the search for books at the Fair. And I found some treasures.

There are some beautiful special editions in the exhibit of the French publishers. Among them an enchantingly illustrated one of "Ariel" which Andre Maurois might have adorned with his signature last week if he hadn't been trying in two days to distill the whole essence of Chicago as a World's Fair, of Chicago as most interesting and most American of the cities of the U. S. A., of Chicago as a social unit in the interrelationship of the unemployed and their environment, of Chicago as host to the greatest art exhibit ever assembled in America. . . . Hull House, relief stations. . . . Never, since I have been acting as a Mrs. Cook to visiting writers have I known any one to get so much of Chicago in so little time as M. Maurois did.

Rosy shades of my childhood drew back and disclosed all sorts of memories when I looked at the Larousse exhibit. Weren't we all brought up on a French dictionary which we always called "the Larousse," never "the dictionary?" The same rosy red binding. A visit to the exhibit of the French publishers gives you the reality of a French bookshop.

And I found an American bookshop, in the Social Science group. It is run by the efficient Mr. Kroch of Kroch's bookstore, and in it are exhibits from the leading publishers of their latest books and a special exhibit of handsome bindings and special editions.

For superb printing don't miss the R. R. Donnelley exhibit. Samples of the most impressive, the most delicate, the most exquisite, the most powerful, the most "everything" in the art of printing are assembled there—a delight to any one who takes joy in the physical beauty of the printed page.

And if you've always wondered what old Gutenberg worked at in the way of a press, you can see a replica of the very type cases and the actual pedals that made the works work in the Cuneo Press exhibit.

Collectors would like to be turned loose in the Encyclopaedia Britannica exhibit to choose what they would for their own. Somebody would certainly walk off with the mss. of the article on "Socialism, Principal and Outlook," signed by Bernard Shaw, and the letter which he wrote returning the check sent him for the work and asking how the company arrived at this figure would undoubtedly turn up missing.

In Dr. Albert Einstein's own handwriting, and written in English, not German, is the original of the article on "Space-Time" that appears in the encyclopaedia. Emil Ludwig's "Hohenzollern Dynasty," which helped make a bonfire recently in Germany, is there written in German.

There is the original of the article by Leon Trotzky on "Lenin," and a letter written to Ghandi which he did not receive because, as a prisoner, he was allowed only one letter a month and the prison authorities refused to deliver it. And, so that no confusion could possibly result from the translation, there is the article on "Radium," written in English by Mme. Marie Curie. And other mss. treasures.

Bookish children are not neglected. All of the publishers of juveniles share in a library on the Enchanted island. How the making of children's books has progressed since the days when a child's entire library consisted of "Old Black Joe," "Black Beauty," and "The Lamplighter," with a copy of "Little Women" and maybe "Under the Lilacs" bound in a vicious shade of green, it will astound and delight you to see.

BRIEF REVIEWS

Grant Richards, an English publisher of great acumen and literary distinction—he discovered the Sitwells, A. E. Housman, and started the Oxford Classics series—writes his memoirs in "Memoirs of a Misspent Youth" [Harper's]. Born in Glasgow of English parents, his father, a tutor in Latin, first at Oxford then the University of Glasgow and finally Oxford again, Grant Richards was one of the rare regiment of children whose parents are scarcely aware of their existence. He was allowed to grow up much as he pleased, so we find him at 19 free of parental control earning his own living by working for a wholesale book concern. A little later he joined the staff of W. T. Stead's "Review of Reviews," where he had the experiences with criticism, journalism, publishing, books, and people that were later to be invaluable to him. He stayed with W. T. Stead until he was 24—at which point this volume ends—and ready and eager to start a publishing concern of his own.

GRANT RICHARDS.

Even as a youth the charm and intellect of Grant Richards won him the friendship of men and women much older than himself and of his contemporaries who were already attracting the attention of literary and artistic England. Hilaire Belloc and his sister, Marie; H. G. Wells, George Benard Shaw, Oscar Wilde, Max Beerbohm, Aubrey Beardsley, the young and tragic Ernest Dowson were among his friends and correspondents.

Mary Hastings Bradley Denies Book Defames Famous Chicagoans

Mary Hastings Bradley, author of the four novelettes on Chicago collected under the general title of "Old Chicago" [Appleton] has been receiving many letters concerning her characters. The common complaint from these active and expressive readers seems to be that Mrs. Bradley is exposing the life histories and errors of famous and real people, the builders of Chicago.

Mrs. Bradley answers simply that it is not true. She says that every time she has used a real person in her books she has also used his real name, that all other characters are purely and simply fictional.

It is hardly her fault if people will keep recognizing themselves, their friends and relatives, and ancestors in the imaginary characters of her four novelettes.

"Nocturne" by Swinnerton Put Out in New Edition

There is a new edition of "Nocturne" by Frank Swinnerton which was hailed by H. G. Wells when it came out fifteen years ago as a great book. He said, "This is a book that will not die. It is perfect, authentic, and alive."

Cricket Books Fill Shelves in London Shops

Are Summer Time Reading for Englishmen.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON. — [Special Correspondence.]—This is summer time in England. The days and nights are incredibly hot and the book sellers' shops seem to be full of books about cricket, the English national game. American observers find cricket an interminable dullness; it seems to them to be baseball reduced to a condition that is practically static. But the playing and watching and reading about cricket distracts even learned men from world affairs, and there is a spate of books about the English team in Australia, the game as played in Sussex, "The Lighter Side of Cricket," and so on. Not interesting to those who care naught for cricket, but for the English very delightful reading.

ELINOR MORDAUNT.

Apart from books on cricket, the volume to be seen most frequently in the hands of all who enjoy gossip is Lord Riddell's "War Diary." There is good reason for this. Lord Riddell is a very well known journalist and newspaper proprietor. He is the director of the Sunday newspaper which has the largest circulation — about three millions—in the country, and is chairman of that great group of periodicals which is published by the firm of George Newnes, Ltd.

This includes the most famous of existing English magazines, the Strand, and the most widely circulated of all literary weeklies, John O'London's Weekly. Lord Riddell himself contributes to the last named articles which show him to be well informed and particularly well able to express in a style understandable by all the chief preoccupations of the normal man. He is a famous after-dinner speaker. And he is the friend and confidant of Britain's war-time prime minister, David Lloyd George.

Accordingly, his "War Diary," which is full of alert and sympathetic portraits of notable men, is full also of brief notes both historically important and entertaining. He was really "behind the scenes" in those desperate days; and he did not lose his head. He never loses his head.

The shrewdness which has marked his career as a successful director of newspapers originates in a deeper quietness, the quietness which is known as "poise." No wonder his book is being widely read. It is a highly important document.

Among novels, Mrs. Elinor Mordaunt's "Mrs. Van Kleek" is attracting great attention. It is enjoying considerable success and is highly praised. In the field of the mystery story I am glad to see that Mrs. Nancy Barr Mavity's "The Fate of Jan McKenzie" is acclaimed. Mrs. Mavity is an American.

Meetings and Lectures

On Tuesday at 6:45 p. m. at Fullerton hall, Art institute, Thornton Wilder will discuss "Twelfth Night." This will be the last lecture in his series of five dealing with the comedies of Shakespeare.

Riesenberg's 'Mother Sea' Is Tale of Late Nineties

Felix Riesenberg's second volume to be published this year, "Mother Sea" [Claude Kendall], is a novel of deep water and New York, in which a pair of salty sea captains, two girls and a black mustached but gentle villain manage to get themselves involved in rather harmless love affairs. It's a tale of the late nineties, and the author, who knows his sea as few ocean writers do, paints a vivid picture of life on both sailing ship and liner. The blue water part of "Mother Sea" rather overshadows the land episodes.

"Rib-tickling . . . piece of comedy with a dash of bitters. As entertainment it deserves a high place on the summer's reading list."

Mackinac Yacht Race and Arlington Classic Also on Crowded Program.

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVEN if the Italian air armada weren't arriving today it would be a full day for socialites, but with that historic arrival scheduled and all the attendant festivities for the Italian air men it would seem that today will be just about THE busiest day society has lived through in many a day.

Whether to stay in town and see the 24 planes land on the lake front and attend the official welcome to the flyers at Soldiers' field and try to squeeze in between a sight of some of the yachts starting out from the Belmont harbor for the 26th Mackinac race, or to go to Arlington Park to see the rich Classic run, is a problem.

It will be possible to do all three things in town, probably, for the flyers are due to land about noon and the time for the ceremonies at Soldiers' field is set for 3:45 o'clock, although that is dependent upon the time of their arrival, of course. The Mackinac race starts at 2, so if one really is ambitious enough to want to take in all three he might do so. And undoubtedly many will.

Dinner Dance for Flyers Tonight.

Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mrs. Harold C. Strotz, Gen. Italo Balbo, the Italian ambassador, Augusto Rosso, Signora Castruccio, wife of the Italian consul general; Prince Potenziani and Sig. Castruccio will be in the receiving line at a dinner-dance to be given tonight at the Saddle and Cycle club for Gen. Balbo and the officers of his air fleet.

Among others who will sit at the official tables will be Gen. Pellegrini, Donna Myriam Potenziani, Gov. Horner, Mayor and Mrs. Kelly, Prince and Princess Girolano Rospigliosi, who arrived yesterday by plane from New York to greet the flyers; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, Count and Countess Bolognesi, who are coming from their farm in Wisconsin for the occasion—he used to be Italian consul in Chicago—former Ambassador to Italy and Mrs. Richard Washburn Child, Admiral and Mrs. Wat T. Cluverius, Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker, Mrs. Honoré Palmer and her sister, Mrs. Walter Keith of Baltimore, Mrs. Howard Linn and her guest, Mrs. Amory Perkins of Middleburg, Va.; Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey.

Mrs. Linn has postponed the dinner she had planned for tonight for Mrs. Perkins until tomorrow night.

Will Give Party for Suzette Morton.

Mrs. Byron S. Harvey is giving a dinner tonight at the Shoreacres for Miss Suzette Morton, daughter of the Sterling Mortons, but Mrs. Harvey won't be there and neither will at least three of the expected guests, Miss Fleury Leonard, Miss Mary Reed and Miss Francise Clow, for they all are going to the Saddle and Cycle party for the Italian flyers.

It looks as though there would be plenty of stags, however, at Miss Morton's party, for not so many of the young men about town have been invited to the party for the Italian aces.

After Mrs. Harvey's dinner her son, Daggett Harvey, and A. Watson Armour III., Chauncey McKeever, Durand Smith, David Hulburd, and the rest of the party will motor over to the Hunt club at Milburn for a small dance that "Tommy" Leiter is giving.

Before they go to the Saddle and Cycle to dine and dance, the Italian airmen will be entertained at a reception from 5 to 7 o'clock at the Drake hotel, where they are to stay. This party will be given by the Dante Alighieri society. While the flyers are lunching aboard the S. S. Wilmette Signora Castruccio will entertain at luncheon at the Century club the thirty women who are on the committee to greet the flyers when they land at the Hall of Science before the official welcome at Soldiers' field. Among Signora Castruccio's guests will be Mrs. Dawes, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Cluverius, Mrs. Kelly, Donna Potenziani, and Mrs. Reed Landis.

Many Luncheons at Arlington.

With all the easterners who have been pouring into town for days past for the Arlington Classic and all the Chicago fashionables who always are at the track it scarcely seems possible that there will be room for all of them at the Post and Paddock this afternoon. Numerous luncheon parties are planned for the club, one of the most important of which will be the one at which Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour will be host and hostess. They are entertaining for their house guests, the William F. R. Hitts of Washington, for whom the Armours gave a dinner last night.

A. Charles Schwartz and his brother, Morton L. Schwartz, arrive from New York this morning to join Mrs. Morton L. Schwartz. With Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Alexandre Jr. of Glen Head, L. I., and Howard W. Maxwell Jr., they will watch their Gold Basis compete for the $35,000 stake.

The Samuel D. Riddles—Mrs. Riddle is the great-aunt of Mrs. John Hay Whitney and Mr. Riddle is famous as the owner of Man o' War—will see their War Glory from the Glen Riddle stables run. And that grand old man of racing, Col. E. R. Bradley, will watch his Barn Swallow skim over the track.

The Gene Tunneys and the Bernard Gimbels arrived two days ago to be the guests of the John Hertzes along with Dr. and Mrs. "Jack" La Grose of Washington and Alfred B. Hancock of Paris, Ky., and they're all remaining through this gala week-end. They will form one of the interesting luncheon parties on the terrace at noon today. From here the Gimbels are traveling to Milwaukee for a family reunion before they return east.

Other Easterners Here for Race.

The "Joe" Wideners are expected from New York today just in time for the big event. Mrs. Dodge Sloane of New York, who has been here enjoying the Fair and Lake Forest friends ever since last Saturday, will be in the Post and Paddock and so will Fraser and Clarence Lebus who are especially interested in the Classic since their Red Roamer will be one of the horses to go to the post.

The Silas H. Strawns will be host and hostess to another of the large luncheon parties. Mrs. Robert R. McCormick is entertaining a party of guests both for luncheon and the races, and so are Mrs. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Behr [their daughter, Edith, never looked more stunning than she did last Saturday ensembled in royal purple even to her gloves], the Charles A. McCullochs, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E Wilson, the Max Epsteins, the Otto Lehmanns, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne, Judge George A. Cooke, the Weymouth Kirklands, and Roger Hyatt.

Robert F. Carr will entertain at luncheon and the races today for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fitz Gerald of New York.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the secretary of the navy, has joined him here, after a visit of two weeks in Virginia.

The Polish ambassador, Stanislaw Patek, entertained at luncheon today at the embassy, in compliment to the new American ambassador to Poland, John Cudahy, who is here for a short stay before sailing for his new post.

Bluenose Entered in Mackinac Race.

Addison Stillwell has chartered the Bluenose and is entering it as an added attraction in the Mackinac race this afternoon. Though no yachtsman himself, Mr. Stillwell is sailing with a crew of a dozen of his best friends against Julian Armstrong's Tecumseh and the Guerilla which belongs to O. L. Dwight of Milwaukee. Capt. Angus J. Walters, who is the skipper of the famous Nova Scotian fishing schooner, will be at the helm.

There are plenty of John P. Wilson's friends betting on his Malabar X, which is to compete in the racing division. And then there are many others hoping for young Theodore Robinson's Hope. Mr. Robinson is taking his brother Sanger and William Goltra along in his crew and we hear the Robert W. Hymans, the Frank M. Gordons, Mrs. Robert F. Wheeler, and some more of the Chicagoans with summer homes at Harbor Point are planning a party for them on arrival. Sterling Morton has entered his Freedom in the race and Robert P. Benedict his well known Bagherra.

Tonight the Chicago Yacht club is having a dinner-dance for all of its members and their guests.

John Simpsons to Be Entertained.

Mrs. John W. Gary is giving a dinner tonight in her home in Glencoe for Mr. and Mrs. John McLaren Simpson (Constance Hasler).

An informal and jolly party is to take place tonight when a group of young people and young marrieds drop in on Mr. and Mrs. William K. Meyers and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Millard B. Meyers, who are here from the east. The Millard Meyerses are no relation to the former Pauline Wolff and her husband, but they are very good friends, as she was bridesmaid at the wedding of the former Betty Wood—who used to live in Chicago—to Millard Meyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kenyon have invited a dozen guests to a family party at the Exmoor Country club dinner-dance tonight, for they are entertaining for Mrs. Charles V. Rich and her daughter, Miss Bettylee Rich, who is engaged to Mr. Kenyon Jr., and Mrs. Kenyon's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward H. Ahrens, all of New York, who are visiting the Kenyons.

Of interest to Chicago society because the young man and his parents

Church Filled at Guinness, Channon Rite

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 14.—London's most fashionable church, St. Margaret's, Westminster, was thronged this afternoon at the marriage of Henry Channon of Chicago to Lady Honor Guinness, eldest daughter of the earl and countess of Iveagh.

Neither of the bridegroom's parents (Mrs. Westover Channon and Harry Channon of Chicago) was present. The young earl of Birkenhead acted as best man. The bride was attended by children dressed in 18th century costumes and by six bridesmaids.

The bride received a diamond and sapphire bracelet from the bridegroom. The bride presented an automobile to the bridegroom, as well as diamond and sapphire links and studs.

Channon has lived in England most of the time since attending Oxford in 1921, and since 1929 has written the books, "Joan Kennedy," "Paradise City," and "The Ludwigs of Bavaria."

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—The federal government today collected back income tax from Betty Compton—the new Mrs. James J. Walker.

Specifically, the government has collected two liens filed against her in federal court, and until now kept secret. The claim was for a total of $7,290.01, and, it was announced, it was satisfied after her account in an uptown bank had been attached.

The income tax the government claimed was for the years 1928, 1929, and 1930. It was in those years, as the Seabury investigation showed, that Mayor Walker made expensive gifts to Betty Compton.

Since her marriage to the former mayor she has been abroad.

Two M'Divani Princes Leave for U. S.; Ready to Accept Divorces

Prince Serge said yesterday that neither he nor Prince David intends to contest separation suits brought by their wives, Mary McCormic, opera singer, and Mae Murray, film actress.

The brothers, who are members of Georgian nobility, had planned to leave tomorrow on the steamship Europa for New York, saying they were going to resume their oil business. Apparently they suddenly changed their plans and decided to take the Hamburg today.

A New Scarf Will Revive White Frock

Combine Colorful Squares by Trick of Tying.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

If your sleeveless white sports dresses need colorful neck scarfs there are some new arrivals that ought to help tremendously . . . They are the twin silk squares about the size of the wigwag flags the Boy Scouts use. . . . They come in good eye-filling colors, bright blue, vermilion, orange, yellow, and green. The trick of tying them consists of combining two of these colors, with the knots on each shoulder a point over your chest and another at your back.

Huge linen squares or 'kerchiefs that are sized for a lunch cloth, but are fashionably new and correct for neckwear, are printed in vivid colors and combinations and can be worn with spectator sports outfits as well as swathed around your neckline under white summer coats . . . just the things for sailing, for roller skating, and decorative costumes at the races.

New dinner dresses with angel wing shoulders, with perky flared skirts and featuring fashionable fall silk, have been unpacked. . . . You can choose between white or black with contrasting sashes or belts of wide grosgrain ribbon. They are the best looking dresses to be found, especially the white numbers trimmed with lovely pastel sashes of old blue and a soft French rose.

They are made of bengaline silk, a revived old favorite, a corded silk, stiff, crisp, and vastly feminine and flattering, the swishing silk that was so eagerly worn in the gay and distracting nineties.

The black bengaline dresses are sleek, swanky affairs, also made with fitted, flared skirts, high angel wing shoulders and dramatizing belts or sashes of clear white grosgrain ribbon tied demurely in a square bow in the back.

Feminist of Paris Urges Women to Be Charming

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Women seeking equality with men, said Mme. Marcelle Kraemer-Bach of Paris today, harm the feminist cause when they cease to be charming.

Mme. Kraemer-Bach, an attractive attorney, is on her way to Chicago for the international congress of women.

"Men have always been very considerate to women in France," she said. "Now we want them to go on being nice to us in those ways and to give us equality besides.

"That is why the most influential feminists in France are womanly and charming and why we think it is a great pity when suffragists try to behave like men."

A Cup of Tea Is Ceremony to Japanese

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Tea in the American manner may mean a caviar sandwich, a lemon slice, and some lively political chatter, but in the Japanese way it is a ceremony resplendent with satsuma bowls, graceful curtsies and significance, philosophical and spiritual.

"Never, never a word about the events of the day," explained Miss Chikage Kondo yesterday in fluent, mellow Japanese [by way of an interpreter], as she prepared a bowl of tea. "We talk only of artistic subjects, of the beauty of our ceremony and the things that make it beautiful."

Miss Kondo, a charming Japanese girl of 19, was presiding yesterday at the first classical Japanese tea ceremonial in the tiny bamboo House of Friendly Neighbors that adjoins the Japanese pavilion at A Century of Progress. A dozen specially invited guests [all that the house will accommodate at one time] participated in the ceremony.

Miss Kondo and her intimate friend, Miss Hiroko Takashi, arrived in Chicago Thursday with Miss Margaret Iglehart, who has lived in Japan the last fifteen years. Miss Iglehart will remain with her oriental charges at the International house at the University of Chicago during the Fair while they are receiving distinguished guests at private ceremonials at the World's Fair tea house.

Both of the young women come from aristocratic Japanese families. If there were debutantes in Japan, they would have made their bows. Instead, they have been trained in the finest private schools and have had opportunities for artistic study and travel. Miss Kondo's father is a "samurai," a war lord. Her home is near Tokio, while Miss Takashi comes from Yokohama.

It was Baron Masuda . . . a Japanese gentleman of 86 years . . . who was responsible for bringing them to America, and only then after much persuasion. They were having too gay a time in their own country. For years Baron Masuda has been interested in promoting amicable relations between Japan and America.

The very name of the little bamboo shelter, House of Friendly Neighbors, carries out this idea. It does not refer to the guests within. Instead it designates the relationship between America and Japan. Simple as it is in appearance, it has been built by hand by the finest Japanese workmen at a cost of $20,000.

Considerate of occidental guests who are unaccustomed to sitting cross-legged on the floor, Miss Kondo and Miss Takashi provided tiny individual bamboo tables spread with white linen cloths.

Purification at an out of door well that adjoins the tea house [washing of the hands] was the beginning of the ceremonial. Then a white paper napkin was passed to each guest, and on this he placed a tiny cake made of rice flour sweetened. As he tasted it [it is supposed to whet the appetite for the tea] Miss Kondo, with slow and graceful movement carried in a lacquer tea caddy, a tea bowl, a bamboo tea whisk, an ivory teaspoon, and a tea cloth eight by four inches . . . each an exquisite piece . . . and placed them beside the iron fire bowl that uses charcoal in Japan but electricity here.

It was Miss Takashi who served the guests a satsuma bowl of frothy green tea, one at a time. And it was her grace of movement and poise as well as that of Miss Kondo that impressed the dozen guests. Tea hostesses are trained in Japan by famous tea masters for two and three years. This training is reflected throughout their lives.

Yesterday it was one of the guests, Ken Nakazawa, a member of the department of oriental studies at the University of Southern California, who pointed out that Miss Kondo and Miss Takashi are Japanese "debutantes."

"They wear ribbons in their hair, at the back around the puff. Therefore, they are unmarried," he explained. "Married ladies do not wear ribbons. Splendid idea. You see, a gentleman never has any excuse in Japan for making love to a married lady."

Sally to Announce Another Guest Party in Tribune Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you'd like to have some fun on July 27, children, you'd better not miss THE TRIBUNE tomorrow! Our next big party will be announced, and judging from past experience I expect it to bring me an extra large stack of letters to consider next week.

Winners of invitations to our movie party at Warner's Orpheum theater next Tuesday will find their names listed in the paper in the same section as the announcement. The movie party will be Tuesday, remember, not Thursday. We generally have our good times on Thursdays, but for various reasons Tuesday was more convenient this particular week, so don't come tagging along with your invitation two days late—because you won't get in! Watch for the postman on Monday.

It was most difficult to select winners for the party. Loretta Young certainly has a huge following among the younger movie fans. If you're not invited to see "Zoo in Budapest" don't you mind, because our parties are only well started and we've got some very nice ones ahead of us!

Mrs. Roosevelt Leaves City in Quebec on Auto Tour

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que., July 14.—(AP)—On a leisurely motor trip towards the Gaspe peninsula, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President of the United States, left here today for Matane. With her was Miss Lorena A. Hickok of New York. Mrs. Roosevelt did not disclose her plans, but it is believed she will visit her summer home at Campobello, N. B., before returning to Washington. She drove about Rivier du Loup before continuing her journey and delighted the French-Canadian inhabitants by speaking to them in French.

Good Morning!

It was photographed in the Austrian Tyrol and the Dolomite Alps, and never has a picture been blessed with more marvelous camera work. The scenic backgrounds are sublime!

"The Rebel" was directed by—and boasts as its star, Luis Trenker, the dynamic Italian who did so much for that other magnificent production, "The Doomed Battalion." Victor Varconi, who also lent prestige to the latter photoplay, is again much in evidence. AND—the film brings Vilma Banky, with her charm, talent and blonde loveliness back to our screens.

Severin Anderlan, a medical student, returns to the Tyrol to find that ruthless French and Bavarian soldiery have razed his farm and killed his mother and sister. That night he encounters some French dragoons—and shoots down two of them. The third escapes and reports the action. Anderlan becomes a wanted man—and rebel leader of a peasant army. . . .

On his trip home—and it is with this the picture opens—Anderlan had encountered near a mountain inn, lovely Erika, daughter of a Bavarian magistrate transferred to the Tyrol. It is love at first sight with the two of them, and, throughout ensuing whirlwind events, Erika aids her rebel lover under the very noses of her father and Captain Leroy—who also adores her.

The fighting scenes in the Alps provide a thrill a minute. The soldiers of Napoleon have ammunition and horses, but the mountaineers fight with avalanches and fire. I almost swallowed my tongue!

The acting is superb throughout. Direction couldn't possibly have been better. If you're looking for an all around good picture—one with excitement, suspense, romance and BEAUTY—it's right over on the World screen waiting for you.

See you tomorrow!

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough, unknowingly being used as decoy. Maitland plots to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Garrick exposes to Rhoda, before Maitland and his gang, their crooked card tricks. Garrick is overpowered by Schewan, Maitland's chief, but defeats Schewan's purpose of burning him alive in his car. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. Garrick knows she has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt, he determines to settle the matter in his own way. Garrick learns from his solicitor that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. At night they burgle their way into a private boat house on the Thames. Alf, a farmhand, out of work, finds their hideout. Garrick hires him as a helper and buys his silence. Next day Garrick returns to his home, where his life is threatened by the gang, who have broken into the house. One of the gang is shot before the rest make their getaway and Garrick is suspected by the police. On his way that night to join Rhoda at the boat house, Garrick aids a young woman in distress. A policeman recognizes him and thinks the young woman is Miss Fairclough. She is released at the police station, but Garrick is held. He manages to break away. Garrick with Rhoda and Alf are on a boat on the Thames when a police launch stops them. Garrick locks the policemen in the cabin of his boat and Alf and Rhoda escape in the police launch. Garrick lands the boat with the captives and gets in touch with his chauffeur and arranges to have him buy for him a covered van and equipment.

INSTALLMENT XXX.

TRAVELING SHOW BUSINESS.

In the empty house by the riverside Alf had draped blankets over the curtains of the dining room window so that the glow of a fire could not penetrate to the outside. He had found the blankets and the coal after long groping in the dark, as it would have been unsafe to use the smallest light.

"Ten o'clock!" she exclaimed. "We must have been here about four hours. I do hope nothing has happened to Mr. Garrick."

"Nothing'll happen to him, miss!" Alf spoke with profound confidence. Half an hour passed, then Rhoda started.

"What was that?"

Alf went to the door and a minute later Garrick came into the dining room, carrying a parcel slung over his shoulder.

"Phew! It's a bit chilly on a motorbike without an overcoat. I ran into a cordon outside Richmond and had to swing round and run for it. You can't beat a motorbike for that kind of thing. I pushed it the last half-mile with the lights out. It's lying under a laurel bush in the front garden."

"Well, if this isn't the first bit of luck I've had since I've been on the road!" gasped Mr. Jelks.

The parcel contained a liberal supply of cold provisions and the three of them had supper while Garrick outlined his plan.

"We shall have to lie doggo in here all tomorrow!" he finished. "I'll turn up here with the van about ten tomorrow night. Alf can act as a scout and when he gives the 'All Clear' you get aboard. We shall travel all night the first night—and then see how we go."

After supper Alf retired, saying that he would sleep on a rug in the hall. Garrick and Rhoda decided to spend the night in chairs in front of the fire.

"Midnight!" exclaimed Garrick. "We've done three days. Twenty-five more to run. We shall have to see about putting up our banns in a day or two."

The next day was the most difficult they had faced so far. Alf went out early to get provisions and newspapers. There were photographs of Rhoda and Garrick and long accounts of Garrick's "daring escapade" with the two policemen.

As soon as it was dusk, helped by Alf as a scout, Garrick dragged out the motorbike and made his way to London.

As soon as he reached the crowded areas he garaged the cycle and proceeded on foot. He had plenty of time—it was quite safe—and he badly needed the exercise. And then it was that his fatal capacity for getting involved in other people's troubles again betrayed him.

It happened by an acre of waste ground, in a side street in Hammersmith. It had been cleared for a building program that had been delayed. He noted without interest that the waste ground had been occupied by a dilapidated looking "Fair," which had apparently not yet started business.

At the edge of the clearing a dozen or so roughish men gathered round a single man, dressed rather flamboyantly, with a large silk hat. As he passed, one of the toughs struck the man with the silk hat and knocked him down.

"Steady on!" shouted Garrick. "If you want a scrap, do it fairly!"

"Scrap, eh! Why doesn't he pay us our money? That's what we want."

"How can I pay out twenty-two quid when we only took four pounds last night?" demanded the victim as he regained his top hat.

"Garn! We don't want no dude interfering!" said some one at the back. "You buzz off, guy'nor! If 'e don't go, let 'im have one, Tim!"

It was about twelve to one—for the man in the top hat was very little use in a rough and tumble. Garrick stood ready for the rush—ready to drop at least two of the foremost. The rush was just about to materialize when it was checked by the sudden appearance of a sergeant and two constables.

"Now, then, what's all this?" demanded the sergeant.

Too late Garrick realized that he had landed himself in a brawl. A matter of five shillings, perhaps, and the cost of the summons—but an appearance at the police station in which he was certain to be recognized.

"It's only a little family misunderstanding, sergeant," said Garrick. "These men thought my friend here couldn't pay them their wages and they didn't give me time to explain that I'd just come along with their money."

There was a collective grunt of astonishment from the men. Before they could make any denial Garrick whipped out his smaller note case.

"Twenty-two pounds you said you wanted, didn't you?" he remarked to the man whom he now realized to be the proprietor of the dilapidated Fair. And while the latter struggled to convince himself that he was awake, Garrick counted out the notes into his hand.

The police adopted a neutral attitude until the proprietor had paid the last man. Then, seeing that the group had become good tempered and contented, they moved off.

The proprietor looked at Garrick as if he still doubted whether he were a vision. But he was not going to reveal his doubts to the men.

"Come into the office!" he said breathlessly and led Garrick away to his own caravan with an ornamental front door labeled "Tom Jelks, Proprietor."

"Well, it seems to me you've lent me a matter of twenty-two pounds. Never set eyes on you before. Who might you be, sir?"

It was the caravan that made Garrick think of his own caravan and gave him an idea.

"My name is—er—Alexander Robinson!" he announced, and then, glibly: "I am a Canadian, interested in the traveling show business in this country. Next summer I'm putting a big one on the road myself, and in the meantime I want a bit of experience of English ways. When I saw you were in difficulties tonight I thought there might be a chance for us to get together. I'll put in a bit of capital—fit you up a bit, if you need it. In fact, I'll become a partner if you need one."

"Well, if this isn't the first bit of luck I've had since I've been on the road!" gasped Mr. Jelks. "As to a partner—well, after what you've seen tonight, you know I want a partner with capital. Only, mind you, this is a very small affair compared to what you have in mind. And we'd have bust up tonight if you hadn't come along. We're due in Basingstoke tomorrow night, and that means starting off from here before midnight. It'll take us more than that to get packed up."

"I'll be here before midnight to give you a hand," said Garrick. "I'll bring my van—which is occupied by my fiancée. You can put me and my servant up somewhere, I suppose? We intend to sleep on the road with you—for I'm going to study things properly at first hand. No coddling in hotels for me. Now what about the business side of it?"

As a business man Garrick was a bit of luck for any one he had to deal with. In half an hour he owned the controlling interest in "Jelks' World-Famous Fair," and the "proprietor" had become his very willing servant.

By half past ten Garrick was outside the empty house, Alf, at the corner of the road, having signaled "All Clear." Rhoda was waiting concealed in the garden and was inside the van before Alf panted up.

"I want you to drive, Alf," announced Garrick. "Go to Greville road, Hammersmith, and look out for 'Jelks' World Famous Fair.'" So saying, he clambered over the back seat into the dark interior of the van and joined Rhoda.

Taylor, Son of Laurette, Busy on Film Play

Writing "Behold We Live" for Radio.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—Laurette Taylor's son, Dwight Taylor, now a movie writer, is preparing a screen play, "Behold We Live," for RKO. In New York he was known as playwright of "The Gay Divorce."

Harry Wilson, original Keystone cop, former husband of the little movie beauty, Marion Aye, and at one time the best known publicity man in motion pictures, was removed to the hospital yesterday, victim of a breakdown. Wilson may have to spend a protracted time in a sanitarium.

Contrary to general opinion, Cecil B. de Mille does like to have some one tell him "no" now and then. In fact, the jovial De Mille has had a man under contract to him for ten years, just to tell him "no." The man is Roy Burns, and for the last six years he has been C. B.'s business manager, whose sole job is to keep C. B. from spending too much time, too much money, and using up too much equipment and footage for his pictures.

It's Burns' job to say, "Not another cent for that set," and "Cut out your arty ideas, C. B., and let's get to shooting what we've got." From Burns, De Mille takes it. But don't you try it. (Yes, Mr. Burns is of Scotch blood).

The first starring film Zasu Pitts will make, even before "Loose Moments," will be called "Dummy's Vote," and will be produced at Radio, where Miss Pitts has just signed a new contract. It will be an original by Arthur T. Horman.

Dorothy Lee says Bert Wheeler was "thinking about two other Lees, or else he was clowning," when Wheeler made a remark in Washington, D. C., which was understood to be his announcement that he intended to wed Dorothy. Dorothy left no room to doubt she didn't like Wheeler's "clowning," either. She said that as far as she was concerned it was still the football season. Her steady here for more than a year has been Marshall Duffield, ex-quarter back of the University of Southern California gridiron team.

The first scene of Jean Muir's movie career at First National studio came this week. It was in "Bureau of Missing Persons," featuring Lew Stone, Betty Davis, and Pat O'Brien. Jean played a young girl who, reading of the death of her missing mother, drowns herself in the river.

Miss Muir, who is not long here from New York, and is quite young, is cast to play in "The World Changes," with Paul Muni when she ends her current rôle.

Frankie Darro has now attained 16 years of age and is beseeching his friends to call him "Frank" in the future. He thinks "Frankie" too diminutive and juvenile. He is playing in "Wild Boys of the Road" at Warners.

MINUTE MYSTERY

CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright 1933: by The Chicago Tribune.]

CLASS DAY.

"As I have frequently pointed out to you chaps," Prof. Fordney said to his class, "the technique, the whole science of crime detection, really, in my opinion, rests on quick and accurate observation. The following little experience of mine, while having nothing to do with crime, illustrates how one can train himself to observe the commonplace from his observations make logical deductions. Logical deduction, of course, plays an important part in the solving of crimes.

"You know how hot the sun was yesterday," he continued. "It was actually 90 in the shade. Well, Old Sol was doing his worst when I set out for the country about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, seeking escape from the heat. On the way I passed a children's concrete swimming pool which was drained from the bottom every three hours and refilled thirty minutes later . . . also from the bottom. The maximum height of the water in this pool, 100x40, is three feet.

"As I drove past at about 15 miles an hour I noticed that the depth of the water was about 12 inches and that there were five children wading about; two boys and three girls. While I didn't see the drain, and the water was smooth as glass, I knew the pool was being emptied and not being refilled.

"I'm going to give you boys exactly one minute on this . . . and then you can all go swimming Quickly, now!"

HOW DID FORDNEY KNOW THE POOL WAS BEING DRAINED?

Hundred Thousand Visit Historical Society Building

L. H. Shattuck, director of the Chicago Historical society, announced yesterday that more than 100,000 persons have visited the society's new building at North avenue and Clark street since Jan. 1. Fair visitors have been going on the special tours which the society provides for groups of 10 or more, Mr. Shattuck said. One of the most popular exhibits is the Chicago Diorama gallery where visitors see scenes in miniature of Chicago past and present.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My boss, a man of 45, has been married to a woman of 30 for five years. Six months ago I came to work for him. Now he tells me that he has been in love with me since the day I stepped into his office. He also tells me that the only reason he married his wife was to pay an obligation. "I think he is a marvellous man and I want to do anything I can to help him. She is a beautiful woman and a clever one. I thought because of her profession she might lend prestige to his position, while I am just an ordinary person with no special talent, or anything.

"We have talked about it many times. I suggest that if I leave perhaps he could learn to love his wife. He objects, saying that if I leave he'll give up everything. I'm 25. What should I do? UNHAPPY."

Dismissing the man's alibi for marrying his wife as pure poppycock, though original, we'll admit, let's see how so many of you young women let yourselves be taken in by the wayward bosses' line. You are becoming quite commonplace as a problem for this department. Every day one of you reports being moved by the married man's sad, sad plight.

We have an idea that most of you girls bring this situation down on your own heads. Maybe not deliberately, nevertheless rather eagerly. The idea of being involved in a drama appeals to you. Too much movie mush and confession literature ails you. Then, you blow into the office daily with lips and cheeks and nails tinted for conquest of some kind. Pretty frocks and sheer chiffons and smartly turned shoes. Hair marcelled. All set for admiration.

You're young—yes, and rather dangerous to an unsettled male. The first pass said unsettled gent makes at you, you welcome instead of resenting or side stepping. All you'd need do would be to tell the man to lay off or you'd have to be on your way. But there is the glamour of being in on a triangular affair that goads you on and him, and before you know it, you've worked yourself up a swell movie plot, with you the dramatic lead.

Gosh, girls, there's barrels of good, wholesome fiction from which you might better be extracting a rôle. And there's more good clean fun in getting a man of your own than in trying to wean one away from his legal tie or obligation, as the case may be.

BY MARY MEADE.

The trend in questions lately seems to be toward preserving, canning, and jelly making. So if you have questions on this subject or any other subject yet unanswered, write in and give us a chance to help you solve your problems.

Mrs. D. P. wrote last week to ask if the same recipe could be used in sun preserving cherries and strawberries. And, if so, could we supply the recipe.

Yes, Mrs. P., follow this same recipe whether preserving cherries or strawberries—the same proportions of ingredients and the same directions.

CHERRY SUN PRESERVES.

Wash, stem and pit cherries. Leave whole as much as possible. There should be 7 cups of fruit. Add the sugar and stir just enough to mix thoroughly. Cook in a flat pan over a low flame. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking, being careful not to crush. When the boiling point is reached, remove from the fire. Pour into flat pans or a platter. Cover with panes of window glass and let stand in the sunshine about 2 days, or until the sirup is thick. Seal in sterilized glass jars.

From Miss I. M. comes the following request: "What is the best way to fry chicken? What is the most economical frying fat to use, and should the chicken be dipped in crumbs or flour before frying?"

Our recipe for southern fried chicken will answer all these points.

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN.

Clean and disjoint the chicken. Dip each of the sections into slightly beaten egg and then into flour or cornmeal. Sprinkle with a seasoning of salt and pepper. In a frying pan melt a generous quantity of butter or part butter and lard. Arrange the pieces of chicken in the frying pan, and, turning frequently, fry until golden brown on all sides. Turn down the heat, cover and let cook slowly until flesh of chicken is tender. A creamy gravy may be made by adding 1 tablespoon of flour for each tablespoon of fat used. Add milk, seasoning and stir until thickened.

A recipe for jellied veal [the old fashioned kind made from the veal knuckle] will answer Mrs. A. N.'s request as well as that of many other housewives who are searching for cool summer meats.

JELLIED VEAL.

Few slices of carrot.
Stalk of celery.

Place the veal in boiling water and simmer until tender, together with the carrot, onion and celery. Remove the veal from the liquid and cool the broth. When the meat is nearly cold, cut it into tiny cubes or chop it fine; remove the fat from the broth, reheat the liquid and stir the veal into it, adding salt and pepper and other seasoning, if desired. Pack the hot mixture into a mold, cover with a buttered paper, place a weight upon it, and let it stand until set. Serve cold, sliced thin, with salad.

Known to Young Society

Even though one has not been to Milwaukee, if one has friends there, one has heard of Miss Melita Uihlein—better known as "Mitzi"—for such is the legend of her charm and beauty that all young Chicago society has heard of her either through her cousin, Miss Paula Uihlein of Chicago (Edgar J. Uihlein's daughter), or her brothers, Alfred Uihlein and Frederick Uihlein, both frequent and popular visitors here. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Uihlein of Milwaukee, have recently announced her engagement to Ludington Patton Jr., also of Milwaukee. [Stein (Milwaukee) Photo.]

lived here until a few years ago is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Allene Stuart, daughter of Maynard H. Stuart of Memphis, to Frederick Chapin Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Wells of Boston. Miss Stuart has been living in New York for several years. Mr. Wells is a Yale man and when he and Miss Stuart are married in the fall they will live in Boston.

Nona Schweppe Bride Today.

A wedding that takes place in California this afternoon that is of interest to Chicagoans is that of Miss Nona Schweppe, daughter of the Richard J. Schweppes of Santa Monica, who have many friends here. Miss Schweppe will become the bride of Peter de Lancy Lewis at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the gardens of her parents' home, the Rt. Rev. Bertram Stevens, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, reading the service.

Miss Schweppe will wear a platinum satin wedding gown, made with a long train, and sleeves finishing in points over her hands. She will also wear a veil and coronet of tulle and her flowers will be a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Jean Schweppe of Lake Forest will attend her cousin as bridesmaid, and so will Mrs. Douglas Lewis. The bridesmaids will be dressed in long, flowing white chiffon gowns with cowl necks, and hats of tucked white chiffon with white horsehair braid veils.

Douglas Lewis will be his brother's best man, and the ushers will be Allan Hoover, son of the former President, and Albert Hunt of Santa Barbara.

Following their wedding Mr. Lewis and his bride will motor to Atherton on the San Francisco peninsula, where they will make their home.

Women Urge Club Study of Tax Problems

Demand Economic Plan for Nation.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A broad program which touches economics in various fields, states their position in politics and their measure with men in the business world, was approved in resolutions adopted by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs yesterday at the biennial convention's closing session in the Stevens hotel. The program supplements the policy of the ten year objective for women adopted two years ago.

Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va., following her reëlection as president of the federation earlier in the day, described the program as being based on women's realization of fundamental changes that have taken place in the last four years. Women realize, she said, the necessity for more strict banking regulations, that the interests of capital, labor and agriculture are interwoven, and that long term economic planning by experts must be made to safeguard the three.

First discussing national planning, the federation's resolutions declare: "We believe that the economic and political situation in the United States calls for a planned national economy with responsibility for its initiation and development fixed upon the President and his cabinet."

The resolutions urged further negotiations to create definite codes for American industries, approved the principle of compulsory unemployment insurance, and urged the strengthening of labor departments in the states.

Recommendations were made in the resolutions to the clubs in the federation that they make a study of municipal, county, state, and national finances and taxation, "to the end that reforms may be sponsored which will insure a more nearly equitable distribution of the tax burden, correct the overlapping governmental tax jurisdictions, and create a system embodying the essential principles of sound taxation.

The federation reiterated its stand indorsing the entrance of the United States into the world court providing the code of law contains no inequalities based on sex, and advocated thorough training of both men and women for diplomatic service.

The public school situation was discussed, the resolution asking that all children be assured educational opportunities to meet their needs. The resolutions placed on the community responsibility for opening new opportunities to women in vocational guidance.

"We believe that women should participate in politics to the end that we may aid in the election to public office of men and women who will further those principles for which thinking women have declared," the resolutions conclude. "We stand squarely against all discriminations based upon sex, and insist that aptitude, training and efficiency shall be the rods by which business and professional women be measured. We urgently request the federal government to develop relief work projects for unemployed women." The resolutions were presented by Miss Charl O. Williams of Washington, D. C.

Emily R. Kneubuhl, executive secretary, in discussing women's ambitions in politics, declared that a woman can do a political job "better than a man."

"A woman doesn't have past allegiances," she said. "She has no political plum in mind. Like Miss Frances Perkins, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, she can be an Amazon in a new field. There is a new leadership today, coming from a group and based on intellectual coöperation. Women are taking their place in this new leadership because they have the ability."

Other officers elected were Miss Williams, Dr. Florence May Morse of Los Angeles, Judge Florence Allen of Ohio, first, second and third vice presidents; Earline White, Jackson, Miss., recording secretary; Marjorie Shuler, New York, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. E. Pearl Warwick, Chicago, treasurer.

Too Easy Work Fails to Hold Boy's Attention

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

This is one of a group of letters voicing a similar difficulty: "Will you kindly send to my address your booklet on 'How to Gain Obedience,' and have you any suggestions on how to teach a 5 year old boy to concentrate his mind on what he is doing at the moment?

"My nephew seems to utterly lack attention when he is spoken to, and concentration. His kindergarten teachers say he is the brightest child they have in a class of fifty, but his lack of these two points of character are a constant source of annoyance and anxiety with them just as it is with those who have the care of him in the home.

"I am anxious about his future and would be most grateful for any suggestions you might make. His mother and I seem to have exhausted every resource excepting severe punishment."

The answer to this is in substance: When children do not work well or concentrate it is often because their work and their play have one of two things the matter with them. Either they are too easy, or too difficult.

You can see that if what a child has to do is too easy it will not interest him—and if it is too difficult he is frustrated by it. In this case the trouble is obviously the former. As this small lad is so bright, perhaps his attention is not held by activities which are too simple for him. Kindergarten as well as his home activities may not keep him enough "on his toes" so that he can concentrate. In any case concentration at this age cannot be forced—it must be spontaneous.

Also, hasn't this small boy perhaps too many older people talking to him, looking at him and expecting too much from him? Why not try letting him alone for awhile? Children thrive under that treatment.

Usually a child really so highly intelligent requires different handling from the child of average intelligence. On the strength of that I would suggest these leaflets: the one on "Gifted Children," the one on "Reading for Children Under Seven," and the one on "Toys and Playthings." These will be sent on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Finger Nail Tinting Assumes All the Aspects of a Fine Art

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Miss Esther Johnson of Chicago, lecturing before a recent beauty show gathering, gives an idea of what the nail tips are doing in fashion circles. With nail tips of platinum, bronze and gold, white pearl, sapphire blue, onyx, to mention but a few shades and removable nail tips ordered to match the ensemble or harmonize with it, we surely are making nail strides.

The shape of the hands and finger nails are factors of prime importance, Miss Johnson tells, in selecting nail tints. If hands are bony or very large, the nails short and ill formed, the skin texture coarse—better pipe down on nail color. The hands should not be made conspicuous.

There are two main classifications of red polish, we learn; Chinese or Mandarin shades, and the group known as blood red, Burgundy and new wine. The latter have a blue base, which blends with the color of the blood and may be used on hands of healthy color. Chinese reds are better with the sallow skin.

Ensemble suggestions are offered by Miss Johnson which, besides being ensemble suggestions, give an idea of the importance this finger tinting business is taking on:

Give Concert of Works by Pen Women

Gena Branscombe Suite Is Presented.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Composer members of the National League of American Pen Women, whose members have been holding a convention here, appeared last night either in person or by proxy in a concert at the Stevens hotel. Of the participants Gena Branscombe of New York probably is the best known. She is a composer of much talent whose works have had wide circulation and popularity.

Her part of the program was a choral suite, both words and music of her own composition, written for soprano and contralto soloists, women's chorus, and orchestra, and conducted by her. Many of the other works were likewise in elaborate form.

There were three excerpts from an opera by Mary Carr Moore of California, written to an Italian text on the subject of Mary Stuart and David Rizzio. Helen Matthews de Lashmutt of Maryland and Dorothy Radde Emery of Washington, D. C., contributed works for voice with chamber music accompaniment; Marie Seuel-Holst of Wisconsin and Marjorie Eastwood Dudley of South Dakota wrote for orchestra; Annabel Morris Buchanan of Virginia provided a folk song setting for chorus and orchestra; Alma Steedman of Kentucky and Louise Crawford of Iowa brought violin solos, and Kathrn Bemis-Wilson of Missouri a suite of songs.

A number of artists participated in the rendition of the music. In several cases the composers appeared personally as pianists, singers, or conductor. In addition there were Evelyn Randall, May A. Strong, and Margaret Lester, sopranos; Dorothy Volkman, contralto; Elena de Sayn and Leo Pevsner, violinists; Lucile Vogel Cole and Helen Leefelt, pianists; Lutar Hoobyar, tenor; Harlan Randall, baritone; a women's chorus, and seventeen members of the Woman's Symphony orchestra, whose conductor, Ebba Sundstrom, did the greater part of the directing.

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Though the nudist tidal wave which lately swept our beach styles almost out of sight is rapidly receding we must be careful not to let it carry us too far in the opposite direction toward the super-enveloping beach garments featured by some creators at the moment.

Active beach sports, like handball, shrimping, leap frog, sun bathing, and what not require brevity and width, and it would be silly to allow any false modesty to hamper any or all of these healthful pursuits.

Dilkusha, the trade name that hides the well known Parisian personality of the Princesse de Rohan, is launching a brand new costume that is as becoming as it is unusual for frolicking over the hot sands. She has taken the ruffled balloon shorts of the old Elizabethan navigators and turned them into pique rompers for the modern flapper. And it's not such a far cry as you might think at first; our twentieth century girls are apt to dissemble under a frivolous exterior more than a little of the adventurous spirit of Sir Francis Drake and the gay gallantry of Sir Walter Raleigh, their grouchy detractors to the contrary notwithstanding.

But to get back into our rompers—they are in white pique, cut as short as anatomy allows, but their bouffant balloon flare makes them both feminine and flattering. They button at the sides with a waist band, like kiddy rompers, and, as you see by drawing, there's a fitted front that diminishes into a cross strapped harness back with an adjustable button arrangement.

The sweater to slip on after exercising carries out the Elizabethan composition. It's in hand knitted black wool, with a white pattern reminiscent of stylized seagulls, and the little shoulder tubes and ruff effect are in looped white yarn.

CHICAGO FALLS SHORT OF TIE IN WILD SEVENTH

Bud Tinning Beaten After 7 in Row.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The miscellaneous winning statistics which the Cubs have been building up these last ten days finally became so heavy that they broke the Cubs' backs yesterday. The Brooklyn Dodgers beat Bud Tinning and the lads, 5 to 3, thus ending their winning streak at eight straight and Bud's at seven straight. It was the first Brooklyn victory at Wrigley field since July 16 last year.

The Cubs retained their second place status but dropped a game farther back of the Giants, whom they now trail by four games.

The first two-thirds of the show was pretty much of a bust for the 27,000 ladies' day spectators, but all got their money's worth in as stormy a seventh inning as has been staged on the north side in many weeks, what with the Cubs making three runs and threatening to make more, a threat of fisticuffs, umpirical debates and what not.

Grimes Bothers Umps.

The series of rumpuses started when Umpire Pfirman saw Burleigh [Sitting Bull] Grimes stand up. The spectacle of Burleigh getting off the bench aroused the umpire's suspicions that Burleigh was up to some saucy talk, and when his suspicions were justified by a flow of wisecracks, Pfirman and Quigley went over and asked for quiet.

This started an uproar among other Cubs, and when play was resumed Jurges, who was at the plate, entered a big beef at a strike called by Umpire Quigley. Catcher Lopez took Quigley's side and the next thing that was to be observed was Jurges and Lopez trying to fight or wrestle. Both squads rushed to the field ready for a free for all, but peace eventually was restored—for a minute or two.

Mr. Lopez Is Banished.

Then Quigley called a pitch a ball when Lopez thought it was a strike. Lopez immediately turned on his erstwhile pal, Quigley, criticizing the umpire to the point where Quigley told him to get the hell out of there. When the game was resumed the Cubs kept the excitement at a screaming pitch by making three runs. Then Babe Herman and Demaree ended the inning with a phase of their day's series of repeated fadeouts.

The Cubs, perhaps, needed the defeat to ease their nerves. This theory is borne out by the fact that four of the Dodgers' five runs were unearned.

Babe Herman Flops.

Except for the strain of the growing winning streak the Cubs probably could have won easily. As it was they made twelve hits to eight by the visitors.

The most distressed of the Cubs under pressure was Babe Herman. Babe fanned with a runner on base in the first inning and in the third he fanned again with the bases full and one down. With one down in the big seventh, three runs home, two runners on base and one run needed to tie, Babe popped to the second baseman. To show his great relief at having no load to carry, Babe came up with two down in the ninth, the Cubs two runs behind and no runners on base, and doubled to center.

Demaree's part in the day's failure was not so conspicuous as Babe's, though equally negligible. Frankie couldn't get the ball out of the infield in five attempts for his second futile day at bat.

Dodgers Score in Second.

The first run of the afternoon was an unearned affair which the Dodgers put across with two out in the second inning. Wright singled with one down. Mungo shot an apparent double play ball at Jurges. Bill juggled it, however, then recovered and made a high toss to Bill Herman. So, instead of having the side out the Cubs found Wright on second and Mungo on first with two putouts to go. One of these outs was supplied by Boyle, but Frederick followed with a single

League Leaders Get Only Three Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—The league leading Senators are thinking of seeking an injunction restraining Walter Miller from pitching. This afternoon, following a two day rest, he bobbed up again and in his easy, nonchalant manner, starved the Senators on a diet of three hits. Meanwhile his own White Sox mates drove in enough runs to win, 4 to 0. It was the Sox third victory in the four game series. The jolt left the dazed Senators hanging on to first place by a percentage eyelash.

Miller, who became a Sox employé only because he had the courage to ask for a job, first discovered on May 21 that he had just the sort of fooiers the Senators loathed. On that occasion he blanked them on two hits. Recently in Chicago he tried to repeat, but failed. He worked again here last Tuesday and won the opener of the series. And today he whipped them more decisively than when he yielded only two hits. The hits today, however, didn't occur until two were out in the seventh, up to which point the old fellow hadn't permitted an enemy to reach base.

Crowder's Luck Bad.

It was Alvin Crowder's bad luck to be opposed to Miller. It was nothing new for Crowder, however. He was in on the other games Miller pitched against the Senators, collecting one decision and dropping three. Miller wasn't the only fellow who caused the iron man trouble today. A generous portion of annoyance was provided by Luke Appling. He was up four times, doubling twice and singling twice. Both the doubles and one of the singles featured the three innings in which the Chicagoans scored.

Until two were out in the seventh the Senators hadn't even hit a ball hard. Only six of the first 20 batsmen were able to send a ball beyond the infield. Then Goose Goslin, a left hander himself, broke the spell with a single past Hayes after Myer and Manush had flied out in the seventh. A moment later Schulte thumped a single into center and the 12,000 lady guests broke out with their first screech of the day. But they quieted quickly when Kuhel flied to Simmons.

Pinch Hitters Fail.

Thinking that the nonchalant Miller might be bothered by some strange faces, the boss of the Senators sent up a couple of pinch men in the ninth. But the maneuver didn't help much. The first of the newcomers was Moe Berg, swinging for Crowder. He bounced to short. Myer then singled for the Senators' third and last hit. Harris batted for Manush, who yesterday was the author of five hits. A fly ball dashed Harris' hopes. Then Miller gave up his only walk of the game, Goslin being the recipient. But Schulte popped foul to Dykes and the folks went home.

The Sox made their first run off

PRIZE FIGHTING IS EITHER BRUTAL OR IT'S BOXING

Boys Know Before They Begin Risks Are as Great as Rewards

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—A doctor stopped a contest between Billy Petrolle and Bep Van Klavern, the Dutchman, at the Polo grounds the other evening to the great indignation of press and public, proving my contention that the only way to prize fight is to get up in there and chew one another into unsightly hunks with no holds barred. The press held that Van Klavern, who had come by an eye wound, was not hurt enough to justify the doctor's intervention and the customers felt that he should have been allowed to get hurt some more for their money.

BILLY PETROLLE.

The new prizefight commissioner, Bill Brown, vice William Muldoon, deceased, also felt the physician had been unduly queasy and should have let Petrolle operate on that eye at least a little longer for the good of the sport. Not long enough to blind it, of course, but just long enough to all but put it out and to afford the patrons as near an approach to mayhem as their money entitled them to, a delicate judgment to ask of a doctor in these days of preventive medicine.

Original Par for Course Was Death.

This is what comes of trying to make a civilized sport of something which had its origin in the mortal furies of the hairy apes. The original purpose of man-to-man fighting was to inflict great bodily harm and, naturally, death was par for the course. Later, with the growth of police departments, the successful combatant had to baby his shots just a mite less he be had up for manslaughter. And in this enlightened age this primitive business is carried on commercially with doctors at the ringside to halt the sticking when, in their opinion, either party to a fight is in danger of serious impairment, but not an instant before.

It is a job which calls for rare tact, this matter of judging from a distance whether one more gouge at an open wound will injure an important nerve or cause an infection or one more slam on the head will knock the recipient permanently silly. Doctors of too liberal, or sporting judgment, have made many pathetic martyrs to their honest mistakes, who may be seen around the fighters' gymnasiums any day, tapping their way along with canes or doing the fighters' dance, a jumpy leg-action which comes of excessive hammering on the centers of the brain. In another form of the latter ailment the victim may not go in for buckjumps, but he will talk only foolishness, and that with a thick tongue and an imbecilic drool.

Risks Are Great, but So Are Rewards.

The accident rate of pugilism is quite high, but the boys who follow the trade certainly cannot claim they were not warned, for they have relics before them from the first day they enter the training gymnasiums. The risk is great, but so are the maximum rewards, and there is no more reason to put a stop to prize fighting than there is to outlaw automobile racing, parachute jumping, trick flying and horseback riding on the tracks, in all of which pursuits the individual assumes certain risks in return for certain opportunities.

The risks being inherent and the opportunities understood, the hazards should be assumed in full and the patrons should understand that when they go to a prize fight they go to see men hurt if fortune is kind. Under free-style rules the pugilists would be obliged to protect themselves against every knack which the human fist, tooth, thumb, knee and elbow is master of, the action would be very spirited and there would be no more

IF 3 YEAR OLDS HAVE CHAMPION, THIS IS HIS DAY

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

The fifth Arlington Classic this afternoon is more than the greatest race, from the standpoint of contention, in the history of this valuable stake. If there is to be an outstanding 3 year old for the racing season of 1933, this is the day for that colt or filly to show his or her true caliber over the one and one-fourth mile route.

When horses keep beating one another, old horsemen shake their heads. It is turf axiom they lack what is vaguely known as class. Of course, it may be because they are so nearly equal in racing ability, but you can't change turf axiom or old horsemen.

Hope for New Title Claimant.

Spring favorites in this division have been beating one another. Perhaps that is why many turf sentimentalists hope for such a sterling performance in the Classic by some new contender that the winner will establish more than a claim to the 3 year old title. That is just what may be done by one of those which did not hurry to the races this spring, as the turf saying goes, but have shown winning form in the last month.

In the latter category are Gold Basis, War Glory, Okapi, Golden Way, Sarada, The Darb and others. Of those racing since the start of the season are Mr. Khayyam, recently given a beneficial rest, Head Play, Kerry Patch, and Charley O. It is this latter bunch that the turf sentimentalists rather hope may be beaten to make way for a champion which may defend his honors in the few important stakes to follow.

How Can You Figure 'Em?

First, we must remember that Ladysman, 2 year old champion of 1932, finished fourth in the Kentucky Derby to Brokers Tip, Head Play and Charley O. He finished second to Head Play in the Preakness, then was retired because of lameness. Brokers Tip, winner at Louisville, went lame in the Preakness and finished last, and is now out of training. Mr. Khayyam, which was eighth in the Kentucky Derby without showing speed at any part of the route and did not start in the Preakness, then came forth to win the American Derby at Washington Park in a romp, with Head Play second and Gold Basis sixth after being prominent in the early stages. Gold Basis won the Latonia Derby, with Head Play third. That's what the critics mean by beating one another.

Take the leading contenders this afternoon. None of them has won more than one important 3 year old fixture except Mr. Khayyam, which also took the Wood Memorial and the Chesapeake. Those two stakes are rated more important in sequence of a champion than for themselves. So

OUT AFTER POT OF GOLD AND FAME

Public support in the $35,000 added Classic stakes at Arlington Park today, the oustanding 3 year old racing fixture of the summer season, is divided between Mr. Khayyam and Gold Basis. Mr. Khayyam (above) is owned by Catawba farm and has won three important events this year, the American Derby, Wood Memorial, and the Chesapeake stakes. He is at 4 to 1 in the overnight quotations.

Sarada, with E. Steffen up, is held at 10 to 1 in the Classic, which will be his first test of the year. A fever prevented his starting in the Kentucky Derby. Since that time he has worked out sensationally. He won the Classic trial at a mile.

Joseph Heads Committee to Welcome Irish

Harry Joseph, president of the west park board, yesterday was appointed chairman of the committee which will handle the west side reception for Ireland's amateur boxing champions at Garfield park next Friday night. The Garfield Park Business Men's club, of which William Druley is president, is sponsoring the welcome.

Other members of the committee are: Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission; Samuel Kostelny, James O'Keefe, Albert J. Flynn, Thomas S. Gordon, Joseph Hrody, James C. Petrillo, Edward N. Heinz, and Capt. Michael F. Trant. Mr. Druley is supervising all arrangements.

Members of the west side committee will meet at the administration building in Garfield park Thursday morning at 10:45 and will go to the Union station in a group to meet the Irish team. They will accompany the team from Mayor Kelly's office, where they will receive Chicago's official greeting, to the Midwest Athletic club, Hamlin

Classic Picks

FRENCH LANE — Sarada, Gold Basis, Mr. Khayyam, Golden Way.
HARVEY WOODRUFF — War Glory, Mr. Khayyam, Okapi, Gold Basis.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago's racing season, the most noteworthy in America this year, reaches a climax this afternoon when the Arlington Park Jockey club holds the fifth running of the $35,000 Classic stakes.

The race, which has become the barometer to the 3 year old championship, has attracted a field of 18, most of them stake winners representing all the class, the speed and the stamina left in the final fight for the title.

With the largest crowd of the season ready to move into the spacious Arlington racing grounds, a crowd that has gathered from every part of America, two horses stood out as equal choices in the betting.

They were Mr. Khayyam, the most consistent 3 year old of the year which scored victories in the American Derby, Woods Memorial, and Chesapeake stakes, and Gold Basis, winner of the Latonia Derby a few weeks ago and which has since demonstrated that he is probably the most improved 3 year old in the country. Each was quoted at 4 to 1.

Overnight quotations on the second choices, Barn Swallow, owned by Col. Edward R. Bradley, and the Brookmeade entry of Okapi and Inlander, which were held at 8 to 1, reveal how wide open the race is. The prices ranged up to 30 to 1 at the track against Kerry Patch, the winner of the Belmont Futurity last year.

Longer prices prevailed against Red Roamer and Silent Shot in the pay or play betting. Red Roamer was at 50 to 1 and Silent Shot at 100 to 1. However, neither will be that much in the post time betting, for they have been grouped in the field, which also will include Technique, Charley O, and Pomponius. There will be stout backing for the field because of Pomponius and Charley O, and the final price against it will be around 12 to 1.

East Has Edge.

The east completely overshadows the west in the number of contestants for the rich prize, which may have a gross value of more than $45,000. There were 12 easterners in the overnight entries. There are five doubtful starters, Head Play, Inlander, Silent Shot, Technique, and Clarify. Three of these, Head Play, Silent Shot and Technique—are from the west. If they do not answer the roll call, the west's representatives will be Barn Swallow, Red Roamer, and Charley O.

Easterners consequently were doing most of the shouting last night. Yet the westerners were confident that in Barn Swallow they have a color bearer fully capable of taking care of herself in any company.

Since Col. Bradley's Blue Larkspur won the first Classic in 1929, an eastern representative had always captured the stake. Gallant Fox turned the trick in 1930, Mate won it in 1931 and last year Gusto was victorious.

The dopesters were at sea on how to size up the field. If Head Play starts and is able to break from his No. 1 post position, they expect him to be the early leader. Others with early speed in the race are Barn Swallow, Gold Basis, Clarify, War Glory, Mr. Khayyam, Red Roamer, and The Darb.

Head Play Puzzles.

They expect to see these flyers round the Post and Paddock club bend in front and put on a desperate fight for the lead down the back stretch. They anticipate that Jockeys Garner on Golden Way, Steffen on Sarada, Wholey on Kerry Patch, Bellizzi on Okapi, and Bejshak on Pomponius will be endeavoring to outgeneral each other in the judgment of pace and in saving as much ground as possible on Arlington's sweeping turns.

They contend further that the three stoutest stretch runners in the race will be Golden Way, Sarada and Pomponius, and they give Mr. Khayyam a chance to come from behind if he

Some Pomp Is Second on Own Courage.

A sleek daughter of John P. Grier—Catsplay, called Miss Mouse, won the Geneva purse which toplined the racing program at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon.

A crowd of pre-Classic visitors jammed the track and did not profit much when Miss Mouse came home a length and a half in front of Warren Wright's Some Pomp, which was a short priced favorite. Greyglade, a juvenile from Maryland, ran third.

Miss Mouse sailed into the lead early while Jockey F. Springer, whose contract Mr. Wright bought only 24 hours previously, didn't appear to be of much help to Some Pomp for the first quarter of a mile. Then on her own courage Some Pomp dashed toward the front and was gaining rapidly near the end.

Contessa, a daughter of Reigh Count, which the clockers say is the best two year old in the stable of Mrs. John Hertz, was left at the post. The time was slow, Miss Mouse running the five furlongs in 1:00 1-5. Her price in the mutuels was $8.58.

Gene Tunney, the retired heavyweight champion, will present the Classic gold cup to the winning owner. In the event Golden Way or The Darb wins Mr. Tunney will pour his oratory into the ears of a trainer. The only owners of Classic eligibles who will be absent are Joseph E. Widener, the proprietor of Golden Way, and C. V. Whitney, owner of The Darb. Mr. Widener is in Europe and Mr. Whitney found it impossible to get away from New York to make the trip west.

The daily double combination of Louie Dear and Chokoloskee paid the good fat price of $270.48. The victory of Chokoloskee was made easier when the stoutly backed All Hail and Essare were left at the post.

Knights Gal, the full sister of the great Gallant Knight of a few seasons back, carried the Audley farms purple and white jacket to victory in the Elmwood purse at a mile. She came from behind to conquer Boilermaker a sixteenth of a mile out and went on to lead him past the finish line by two lengths. The favorite, Mr. Joe, finished third and had been in that position most of the way. Knights Gal ran the mile in 1:38 4-5 and paid $10.28 in the mutuels.

It isn't often that a Whitney horse wins at odds of more than 20 to 1. It happened at Arlington yesterday, however, when Elf Lock, a daughter of Chicle-Wendy, won in C. V. Whitney's silks and paid $44.78. She was ridden by Sonny Workman and made a runaway of it near the end. Busy Spain, the favorite, finished second.

The status of Head Play was the big mystery of the race. Trainer Tom Hayes, the colt's owner, Mrs. Silas B. Mason, and everybody else around the stable are confident he will start and win the Classic. But clockers and others who have been observing the big chestnut's final preparations, shook their heads.

He Appears Fit.

Head Play was limping when he left the track after his final workout on Wednesday. Reports came from his barn attributing the limp to a bruised foot. On Thursday he showed no signs of lameness. Yesterday morning he was as frisky as any horse at the Arlington track. The lameness apparently was gone.

Yet Trainer Hayes did not bring him out for the usual short speed test yesterday morning. His only comment was "Head Play has been worked enough and is ready for the race."

Mr. Khayyam, American Derby, 1¼ miles.

The Darb, Withers, one mile.

Barn Swallow, Kentucky Oaks, 1⅛ miles.

Gold Basis, Latonia Derby, 1½ miles.

Sarada in Form.

In addition, Sarada, highly regarded in the spring and a late scratch from the Kentucky Derby because of a sudden fever, showed returning form at Arlington this week, and appears a formidable contender.

Of those in the foregoing list, Head Play has raced so much, perhaps too much, that his form is known. The question with Mr. Khayyam is how much he has benefited by his rest. Gold Basis' followers ask that his American Derby performance be thrown out on the ground he was not fully ready and his early speed, which may figure today, faded in the final stages. Sarada has raced only enough recently to be a guess, but an important guess at that.

If Gold Basis and War Glory are selected as most likely of the others, there is one basis of comparison between them. The former won the Latonia Derby by four lengths from Jovius with Head Play third in 2:31 1-5. War Glory took the Dwyer stakes at the same distance by eight lengths from Jovius in 2:31 4-5.

Why Difference in Odds?

That's why this writer does not understand why Gold Basis should be 4 to 1 in the advance betting and War Glory 15 to 1. The explanation, no doubt, is Gold Basis' sensational workout over the Classic distance this week, proving he is right on edge. Gold Basis is from the same stable which produced Gusto, surprise winner of the Classic and American Derby last year. He is trained by the experienced Maxie Hirsch, else one might think that fast trial was too close to the race.

Perhaps swayed by regard for the great Man o' War, I confess a liking for War Glory, despite his reputation of being a moody horse which may not choose to run. It is not lessened by the fact he will be piloted by Johnny Gilbert. Owner Riddle is here to see his colt perform. In fact, it is notable how many owners are present for this race. Owners don't go places just for the fun of seeing their horses beaten. Their presence denotes confidence. There are few to deny that nearly every horse which faces the barrier has a chance in the most open Classic ever contested.

Last Year's Records.

Going back to 2 year old form, Kerry Patch was the largest money winner of those racing today because of his victory, by some regarded as a fluke, in the Belmont Futurity. Okapi was a busy performer with 23 starts which included five brackets and $17,855. Gold Basis was not sent to the races but reserved for this year. The Darb, which will have the piloting of Sonny Workman, accounted for $31,524, which included the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes. War Glory started eleven times with only two wins and $5,370 in purses.

So, Mr. and Mrs. Regular Race Goer or Mr. and Mrs. Casual Race Goer, if you can pick the Classic winner this afternoon you should receive $8 to $10 for each $2 invested, even if the favorite wins, and much more if an outsider drops from the skies.

On Friday evening a dinner will be given at the Midwest A. C. to which more than 1,200 prominent west side sportsmen have been invited. Following the dinner the boxers will be escorted to the bandstand in Garfield park by a band, color bearers and fans. There they will be introduced individually by Robert Sweitzer, county clerk, who will have charge of the program.

Every one is invited to the reception in the park. There will be a band concert of popular Irish airs previous to the introduction of the boxers. After the speaking program every one will be invited to remain for outdoor dancing. There will be no charge or solicitation of any kind.

ABOARD S. S. MAJESTIC, July 14.—The second day at sea today found the eight amateur boxing champions of the Irish Free State, en route to Chicago for the International Golden Gloves bouts Aug. 2, more accustomed to the roll of the ship and thoroughly established in the training routine which will prevail until the team reaches New York next Tuesday.

There was considerable commotion for a while toda ywhen the heavyweight champion, Patrick Gerald Mulligan, disappeared for two hours. Shortly after Mulligan's disapp

Two American swimming records were broken yesterday as the nation's outstanding stars began their fight for titles in the annual National A. A. U. championship meet at A Century of Progress lagoon. The Detroit Athletic club took the lead for team honors with 15 points. The meet will be continued today with three events, 220 yard back stroke, 440 yard free style, and the 880 yard relay. The first race will start at 3 o'clock.

Ralph Flanagan, 15 year old member of the Greater Miami Athletic association of Miami, Fla., started the assault on the records when he won the one mile championship in 21:12 1-5, shattering the mark of 21:27 established by Buster Crabbe of Stanford university.

Flanagan Wins Easily.

Flanagan won by 12 meters from Jack Medica of the University of Washington. Medica's time for the event, 21:21, also broke Crabbe's record. He was five meters in front of James Cristy Jr., university of Michigan sophomore.

The second national record fell when Leonard Spence, veteran member of the New York Athletic club, covered the 440 yard breast stroke in the remarkable fast time of 6:08.8. Spence held the former mark of 6:12.6. Officials at the lagoon said Spence's time for the event probably will be accepted as a world's record.

Paulsen Takes Second.

Twenty yards back of Spence was John Paulsen of the Los Angeles Athletic club. Albert Gilsdorf, Ohio State university, finished third, two feet behind Paulsen.

The 100 meter event was the outstanding race on the afternoon's program. In a dramatic finish Gilhula swept past Al Schwartz of the Illinois Athletic club in the last 25 meters to win in 1:01.3. Several yards separated the pair at the finish line. George Fissler of the New York Athletic club was third.

Degener Far in Front.

Degener, who formerly swam in the colors of the University of Michigan, piled up 166.73 points to win the diving event.

The Jewish People's institute polo team was defeated by the New York Athletic club in the first water polo match, 11 to 1. Wacker led the easterners' attack with seven goals. The J. P. I. squad will meet the Illinois Athletic club team this afternoon.

Prize Fighting Either Brutal or It Is Boxing

There's a Preventative—
Don't Fight Petrolle.

This fighting which we have now is an embarrassing attempt to compromise between crude violence and sport. The results are unsatisfactory. There is no worse bore in the show business, of which prize fighting is a branch, than the clever boxing exhibition between two highly trained, lithe, lean bodies. No worse knock can be delivered against the box office of an impending championship bout than to say that it will be a boxing contest, devoid of brutality. I think a promoter could almost sue you for saying that.

There are not many ringside doctors as cautious as Dr. Sheridan, who stopped Van Klavern the other evening. But most doctors, if you put it to them, would have to say that the best way to preserve one's health would be to avoid a punching affray with Billy Petrolle. Punches on the skull, about the eyes, on the nose, and teeth, on the kidneys, heart, and liver certainly cannot be recommended as aids to health, and I can dig up some doctors of pretty fair standing who, in Dr. Sheridan's place, would have hopped into the ring before the first bell and called it all off in the interests of hygiene.

But ringside doctors, generally, do not believe in prevention as thoroughly as the majority of their colleagues. They get free seats and a little fee and they undertake to decide when injury is about to occur, as though a physician were to yell to a man falling from a high building: "Stop falling. I think you might be hurt."

27 Yachts Off on Mackinac Race Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 26th annual Mackinac island race of the Chicago Yacht club, current edition of the longest fresh water competition in the world, will get under way this afternoon off Belmont harbor. Twenty-seven boats, comprising one of the most evenly matched fleets in the histor yof the race, will go to the starting line, which was shifted from th eoriginal point off A Century of Progress because of the anticipated arrival of the Italian air armada.

In addition to the race proper there will be a special free for all struggle among three boats—the Nova Scotian fisherman Bluenose, Julian Armstrong's Tecumseh, and Lyman Dwight's Milwaukee entry, Dorello. Bluenose, boasting 10,000 square feet of canvas and an overall length of 143 feet, was chartered Thursday by Addison Stillwell, Chicago sportsman, and a group of friends.

300 Pounds of Cheese!

Along with Bluenose, Tecumseh, and Dorello, three other large craft will compete for one of the strangest prizes ever offered to a winning yacht—a 300 pound head of American cheese.

Bluenose, Tecumseh, and Dorello will answer the first starting gun at 1:30 p. m. The first of the cruisers will leave at 2 p. m. and the second portion at 2:30 p. m. Half an hour later the racing division, with six speedy entries, will get away, completing the task of launching the fleet on its 331 mile journey to the picture book island at the head of the lake.

Broadcast Weather Reports.

W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station, will broadcast weather reports to the competing yachtsmen during the race. These broadcasts will be made on the even hours, such as 2 p. m., 4 p. m., etc., unless interrupted by national network programs.

The crews of the 27 boats competing, together with their owners and home clubs, follow:

Tinning Through in Fifth.

In their first four innings the Cubs specialized on wasting singles and striking out. The first, second, and third innings ended with strikeouts and the fourth ended with a double play. Each ending nullified from one to three singles. The third inning was the most wasteful. The bases were filled after one was out in the third on successive singles by Koenig, Bill Herman, and Mosolf. Then Babe Herman fanned for the second time. The inning ended when Demaree also let the third good one whiz by.

Tinning wound up his work for the day in the fifth. Boyle walked and reached third as Frederick was getting to first on Bill Herman's error. Flowers put on the squeeze play. He bunted to Grimm and Charley vainly tried to get Boyle at the plate. Wilson flied to Demaree, but Leslie singled to center, scoring Frederick Cuccinello fouled to Grimm.

More About That Seventh.

And here's the detail about the baseball in the aforementioned riotous seventh without reference to arguments and similar items:

Grimm walked and stopped at second on Jurges' single to center. Hendrick batted for Nelson and walked, filling the bases with none out. Koenig doubled to left center, Grimm and Jurges scoring and Hendrick stopping at third. Thurston relieved Mungo. The runners held on while Bill Herman lifted a short fly to Frederick. Mosolf lined to Wilson, who dropped the ball, Hendrick scoring. Babe Herman popped to Cuccinello and Flowers threw out Demaree.

The Dodgers made their position more comfortable by making a run off Warneke in the eighth. Cuccinello opened with a double and took third while Outen was bouncing out to Grimm. He scored when Jurges, playing in, permitted Wright's grounder to shoot between his heels.

Have Hopes—That's All.

Hopes were raised somewhat when Hartnett led off the Cub eighth with a single to left. Grimm, who had a record of two hits and a walk, wasn't due, and filed to Frederick, but Jurges came through with his second single, Hartnett stopping at second. Stephenson batted for Warneke and filed to Frederick and Koenig went out the same way.

The Braves arrive today for four games, the first of which will be played this afternoon with Charley Root opposing Tom Zachary, or perhaps, Bobby Brown, speed artist, recently returned to duty after a half season nursing a sore arm. If Zachary starts, it is said Stephenson and Cuyler will be in the opening lineup.

There were 20,000 women at yesterday's game and all wore mighty pretty dresses, some of which probably were spoiled, for rain started falling before the game was over.

The season's series between the Cubs and Brooklyn now stands at eight wins for the champs and four for the Dodgers.

Sox Win, 4-0, Over Senators in Series Final

Crowder Pays Dearly.

Crowder got a bit gay in the fifth and fanned both Miller and Haas on balloon-like slow balls. The Sox made him pay for this in the sixth. Kress led off with a pop fly to Myer and Simmons scratched a hit to short. Then Appling broke loose again, whistling a two bagger over first base, Simmons halting at third. The best Dykes could produce was a gentle tap to Crowder, who threw him out at first. Hayes, however, took care of things. He singled past Crowder into center and Simmons and Appling scored without hurrying. Berry closed the inning by rolling to the pitcher.

After the Senators had succeeded in breaking Miller's charm with a couple of hits in the seventh inning the Sox ganged up again in the eighth and registered once. Kress opened with a screeching drive which bounced off Bluege's head and shot into center field for a double. Simmons fanned for the second time, but Appling singled over Myer's head, Kress scoring. Appling continued toward second on the throw to the plate, but Crowder intercepted the ball and caught him.

The White Sox dashed out of the capital city on a 6 o'clock train to reach New York in time for a night's rest. They open a four game series with the Yankees tomorrow. Milt Gaston will have the doubtful pleasure of pitching to the present champions. Charley Ruffing may be the Yankee starter.

Joe Cronin, the shortstopping manager of the Senators, sat on the bench in civilian clothes today as the result of being plunked on the left arm by one of Chad Kimsey's pitches yesterday. Cronin has hopes of returning to short tomorrow, but his physicians are doubtful.

Mule Haas gave his mates a real scare in the ninth. Harris, batting for Manush, boosted a fly to center on the first pitch. The Mule started for it and then fell flat on his back. But he leaped up in time to get under the ball and hold it.

The Sox will amuse themselves during the next several weeks with a double header program. From Aug. 20 to 27 inclusive, they will have five bargain bills. Three of them will occur in three days while the Boston Sox are at Comiskey Park.

JUDITH ALLEN IS REVEALED AS WRESTLER'S WIFE

Los Angeles, Cal., July 14.—(AP)—The career of Mrs. Gus Sonnenberg, wife of the professional wrestler, in films and her separation from the former Dartmouth football tackle came to light in Hollywood today after Sonnenberg's ire had been aroused by the gossip of a movie columnist.

Sonnenberg, reading of reports linking his wife's name with that of Gary Cooper, screen actor, told friends he didn't like it and thereby the masquerade of the 23 year old Boston society girl as "Judith Allen" and "Mari Colman," film featured player, danced into public view.

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The Yankees climbed within four percentage points of Washington in the battle for the American league lead today by putting on an eight run attack in the sixth inning and defeating the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6. VACATIONS FOR 6 ARE PROVIDED BY $50 GIFT TO CAMP

Old Friend Sends In Her Annual Donation.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

For years two sisters sent a joint gift each summer to the Camp Algonquin fund. Just as surely as she knew the fund itself would function again the Algonquin reporter knew this annual gift would come. Their request that only their initials be used was always respected.

A year or two ago the gift came with only the signature of "E. McC." It was sent "In memory of A. McC." Again the gift comes and in memory of the sister who died. It was for $50, a generous gift, for it will provide two weeks' vacations in the camp for six persons. The grand total is now $1,371.49.

The Free Ice Fund, which distributes ice to needy families, received only $6.64 yesterday, but it wasn't because a group of girls in the Do-It club didn't try. They sent sixty-three cents which they took in during the last two months in dues, and added that "We are sorry we can't give any more money to the fund." The girls were Janet and Betty Brown and Marian McLaughlin.

64 cents—"The Do-It Club."

Total	$ 6.64
Previously acknowledged	942.93
Grand total	$949.57

Contributions for both the camp and ice funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. Each gift will be acknowledged.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY, 16, VISITING CITY, KILLS HIMSELF

John Richard Strain, 16 years old, of Orange, Cal., a high school student, shot and killed himself yesterday on a back porch at 5210 Cornell avenue, where he had been visiting his uncle, R. J. Misener, for two weeks.

The pistol he used was the property of Misener. The boy's sister, Marjorie, who accompanied him here from California, said she had seen him handling the weapon on Thursday and had warned him he might hurt himself. Young Strain shot himself twice in the chest and in such a manner that the police were inclined to believe he was a suicide. He died as he was being taken to a hospital.

Relatives of the youth said they knew of no reason why he would take his own life. He had come to Chicago in the hope of finding work, but had failed, they added, and might have been despondent over this. His father, Richard Strain, is assistant manager of the San Diego Orange Growers' association.

In the boy's pocket was found a playing card on which he had scrawled a message. Only a part of it could be deciphered, and this read: "I am glad I did it. Good-by."

BRITAIN TO BACK $10,000,000 LOAN FOR PALESTINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 14.—The British government intends to obtain parliamentary authorization to guarantee a loan of $10,000,000 to Palestine for the development of projects and settlement of dispossessed Arabs, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, secretary of state for colonies, announced in the house of commons today.

However, the national government refuses to make an additional contribution in the form of a "grant in aid" promised Palestine in 1930 by the labor government.

"The financial position of Palestine is such that it can provide money for itself," said the minister. The government proposes to follow the example of the 1926 act which authorized the guarantee of more than $22,000,000, enabling Palestine to borrow at a lower interest rate.

PRESIDENT PUTS 4.2 CENTS TAX ON ALL COTTON

Manufactured Cloth Levy Heavier.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—To pay for the administration's experiment at southern farm relief, through planned production, President Roosevelt today proclaimed a tax of 4.2 cents on every pound of cotton processed in the United States on or after Aug. 1.

The presidential proclamation followed an announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace that the high-powered campaign to persuade southern planters to coöperate with the agricultural adjustment administration in its cotton relief plan was successful. More than 9 million acres, representing 3,500,000 bales, the secretary announced, has been contracted out of production by the government and will be destroyed before its maturity.

Tax to Yield 120 Millions.

Imposition of the processing tax is expected to provide in excess of 120 million dollars, with which the agricultural adjustment administration will pay compensation benefits to cotton farmers who agreed to turn over a certain percentage of their crop acreage to the government. The actual cash payments, it was said, will average $9.50 an acre, although in cases where the farmer elected to accept an option on government owned cotton as part consideration for his agreement, the average will be considerably lower.

The tax applies not only to raw cotton processed after Aug. 1, but likewise to stocks of articles manufactured from cotton now in the hands of wholesalers and retailers. Sheets, mattresses, shirts and every other article made in whole or in part from cotton, are to bear an even heavier impost than that levied on the processing of the raw article.

Inventories to Be Taxed.

A conversion factor of 105.2 per cent was established by Secretary Wallace for computing the amount of tax to be levied on floor stock of manufactured articles. On this basis, these floor stocks are to be taxed 4.4184 cents for every pound of cotton content.

In anticipation of the processing tax and the accompanying levies on floor stocks of cotton manufacturers, the department disclosed, prices for cotton articles have been stepped up sharply in recent months. In July, it was said, wholesale prices for cotton goods were 20 per cent higher in relation to the cost of cotton than the normal price figured on a several year average.

There have, as yet, been no complaints of profiteering on cotton goods in anticipation of the tax, Administrator Peek declared. Should any such protests be lodged with the department, he declared, steps will be taken at once against the offending merchant or wholesaler.

Tax Competing Articles.

In addition to the processing tax, a similar levy, to be established after hearings by the department of agriculture, is to be imposed on silk, rayon and other commodities or manufactures which compete with cotton and cotton manufactures.

Still in addition, the tariff on silk, rayon and other imports which compete with cotton is to be automatically raised by the amount of the processing tax and cotton imports must pay the amount of processing tax before admission to the country. The tax and tariff increases for silk and rayon and whatever other commodities the department names as competitors of cotton will be determined after a conversion factor is set by the agricultural adjustment administration.

Farm Adjustment Administrator George N. Peek said today that the option contracts signed by the southern farmers will call for all of the pooled cotton now owned by the government.

Left over from the farm board's venture at stabilization and collected as collateral for unpaid crop loans, about 2 million bales were recently purchased from Gov. Henry Morgenthau of the farm credit administration by the agriculture department at 9½ cents a pound. This is to be optioned to the cotton farmers under the relief plan at 6 cents, the transaction resulting in an immediate loss of something like $54,000,000 to the treasury.

Flight from Dollar Helps Inflation Plan

BY HOWARD WOOD.

La Salle street is beginning to suspect that there is a thread of political purpose running through the recent gyrations of the American dollar in foreign exchange.

When the United States first went off the gold standard treasury restrictions on dealings in foreign exchange were so exacting that the would be purchaser of foreign money had to pass a stiff cross-examination before he was permitted to buy it. He had to account for every dollar.

During the last few weeks these rules have been leniently interpreted, according to exchange experts. Mr. Smith-Jones may not be allowed to buy francs for hoarding, but if he says he needs 100,000 francs to buy Mrs. Smith-Jones some new lingerie the federal reserve officials are not usually inclined to inquire just how badly these goods are needed.

The relaxing of restrictions on purchase by Americans of foreign exchange has led some financial experts to suspect that the treasury and reserve authorities are purposely winking at purchases of foreign currencies. The natural result of buying by Americans of francs, florins, and pounds has been a cheapening of the dollar in foreign exchange. This cheapening of the dollar in terms of francs, florins, pounds, etc., has been a major part of the Washington administration's policy for weeks.

In other words, all the Smith Joneses who have been selling dollars and buying other currencies have been helping the administration do what it set out to do, and the beauty of it is that it doesn't cost the treasury anything. Great Britain in attempting to keep her money cheap and set up a two billion dollar equalization fund.

Other Americans who have been helping their government cheapen its currency are the exporting companies which, after having sold goods abroad, keep the proceeds of these sales in francs or other currency or turn it into gold hoardings in foreign countries.

Normally when the Whoozis company sells a shipload of mousetraps in Paris for a certain amount of francs it immediately sells the francs, buys dollars, and transfers the dollars back to its American bank. This creates a steady demand for dollars and keeps the price of dollars up in terms of francs. Of late, however, the Whoozis company has been keeping its francs, simply storing them in the expectation of a rise. Many exporters have thus profited handsomely by the recent rise in francs.

All these things together with the barrage of propaganda about impending inflation of the U. S. dollar have caused the dollar to depreciate in terms of all foreign currencies. By no means all of it has been due to the action of Americans. Foreigners have helped the program. Frightened by the talk of inflation by American political leaders, foreigners who held dollar balances hurriedly sold their dollars and either bought American commodities and equities or transferred their balances into foreign moneys.

Because of these developments the dollar has depreciated about 30 per cent in terms of currencies which are still on a gold basis. Yesterday the dollar was worth less than 70 cents in terms of French francs.

This lower level for the dollar, however, is by no means fixed. If at any time the world should conclude that Washington's talk of inflation was merely a bluff the dollar would snap back toward parity as Americans and foreigners transferred their balances back into dollars. That is one reason why President Roosevelt refused to enter into a money stabilization pact.

Up to date America has not done more than bluff about inflation. The currency of the United States is backed by more gold than when the nation went off the gold standard and there's less currency in circulation. The world, however, expects that America will have to do more than talk about inflation before long and that there will be some cheapening of the currency.

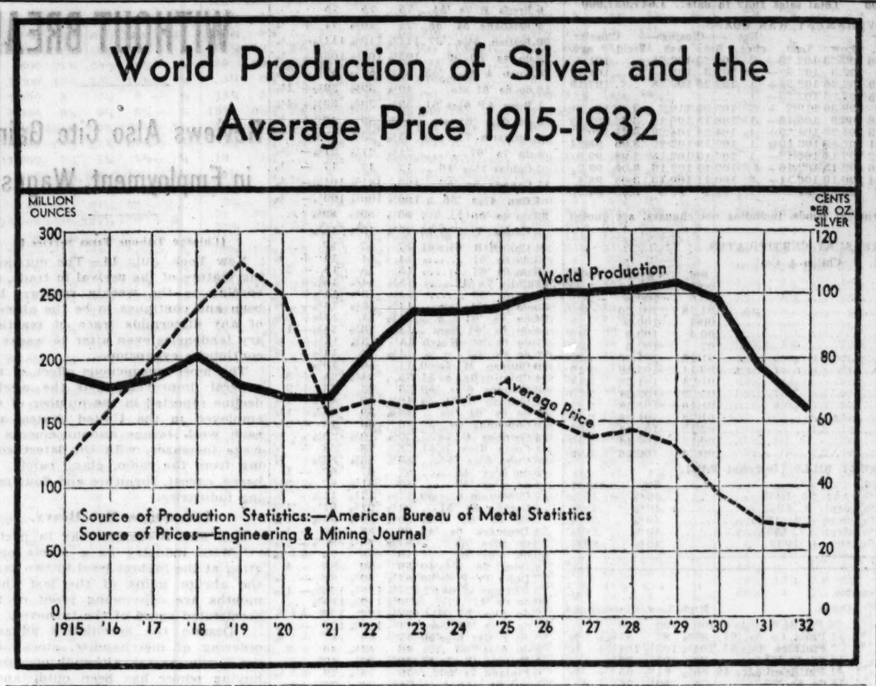
Foreign exchange experts say that the value of the dollar cannot fairly be measured in terms of foreign exchange. To the exporter and the importer the dollar is worth only 70 cents, but foreign trade, even in normal times, represents only about 6 per cent of the toal volume of the nation's business. For trading within the nation's borders the dollar hasn't depreciated yet, although it may be cheapened later.

Therefore, says the expert on currencies, it is not correct to deprecate the current upturn in business and dismiss the price advances as being merely due to "seventy cent dollars."



Eastman Tells Rail Officials to Cut Own Pay

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—High salaried rail officials were "put on the spot" today by Joseph B. Eastman, the Roosevelt railroad coördinator.

In his first meeting with the railroad regional coördinating committees, whose membership includes leading rail executives of the country, the federal coördinator invited them to bring about substantial cuts in large salaries with the intimation he would act if they did not do so.

Asserting that he realized salaries of high officials made up but a small part of railroad operating expenses, he said that nevertheless "it has a psychological importance which much exceeds its money significance and consideration of it cannot and ought not be avoided."

Cites Public's Opinion.

"The railroads," declared Coördinator Eastman, "have been paying to various chief executives, and to some others, salaries which I believe the people of the country quite generally regard as excessive and unjustified.

"The railroads are not alone in this. On the contrary, these salaries reflect a situation which has been general in big business, and I can well appreciate the difficulty which the railroads might experience in holding good men, under normal conditions, if they should adopt a standard of salaries radically lower than that which prevails elsewhere in the business world."

Adjustment of salaries should be made now solely on the basis of existing conditions, he added, pointing out in effect that high salaries were not in line with depression results.

Some of Higher Salaries.

Among the higher salaries of railroad presidents, according to the latest interstate commerce commission report, some of which have been voluntarily reduced since, are the following:

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, Pennsylvania, $121,500.

Daniel Willard, Baltimore and Ohio, $120,000.

L. A. Downs, Illinois Central, $90,000.

J. J. Bernet, Chesapeake and Ohio, $90,000.

J. J. Pelley, New York, New Haven and Hartford, $90,000.

Paul Shoup, Southern Pacific, $90,000.

Carl Gray, Union Pacific, $90,000.

F. E. Williamson, New York Central, $80,000.

S. T. Bledsoe, Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe, $67,500.

H. A. Scandrett, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, $67,500.

A. C. Needles, Norfolk and Western, $67,500.

Ralph Budd, Burlington, $60,000.

R. F. C. Forced Pay Cut.

Hale Holden, chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific, at one time received $135,000. This was voluntarily cut to $90,000 and further cut to $60,000 as one of the conditions for the road obtaining an R. F. C. loan.

Exploration of ways of improving net earnings of the railroads by avoiding wastes and preventable expense and drafting of proposed legislation for a permanent national transportation policy covering all agencies of transport were the objectives of the Roosevelt emergency act, the coördinator informed the executives.

Plans were laid by the coördinator and the rail committee for getting to work on a program for effecting economics. Regional representives of the coördinator and of the railroads are to meet in their regions to formulate details of the work to be carried on.

Employment, Pay Rolls Increase.

Steel operations in the Chicago district moved up two points to around 62 per cent of capacity during the week, according to reports yesterday. Continued activity in the automobile industry was reported as supplying the force for the increase in Chicago steel plant operations.

The Inland Steel company is reported to be operating on a 65 per cent basis. The company has added another open hearth furnace, bringing the total in operation to fifteen out of twenty-seven. The company's sheet mills are reported as running at about 75 per cent of capacity.

Illinois Steel at 60%.

The Illinois Steel company's Gary works are reported as operating at about 60 per cent of capacity. The concern now has twenty-two open hearth furnaces and four blast furnaces in operation at Gary. The South Chicago plant of the company is reported as running at about 55 per cent of capacity.

Employment at the Gary works of the Illinois Steel company is now said to be about 11,000 persons, while the American Sheet and Tin Plate company is reported to be employing around 6,000. Monthly pay rolls of the two concerns, which are subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation, are now said to total about $2,250,000 compared with about $4,000,000 in 1929.

Ship Steel by Waterway.

The Mississippi Valley Structural Steel company of St. Louis is shipping a cargo of 500 tons of steel purchased from the Illinois Steel company, to its St. Louis plant via the Illinois waterway. The Illinois Steel company made delivery to "barge wharf" and the Mississippi Valley company is doing the shipping by the waterway.

The steel is moving via the Calumet river and the Sag canal. Mississippi Valley has moved a number of other steel shipments to St. Louis via the waterway.

STEEL INDUSTRY CODE EXPECTED TO RAISE PRICES

The likelihood of higher prices for finished steel products is indicated by the Daily Metal Trade, of Cleveland, considering that "steel production costs are destined to advance upon the application of a code of fair trade practice which is said to include a sharp increase in steelworkers' wages and shorter hours."

The newspaper says that "a renewal of buying toward the close of the month is expected," though right now the volume of new business seems to have fallen somewhat. Pig iron is still strong at the higher price levels just announced, the newspaper reports.

ROOSEVELT PONDERS PLAN TO LET MINERS SELL NEWLY DUG GOLD

Washington, D. C, July 14.—(AP)—Interested in the efforts of American gold miners to find a way to the world's market price, President Roosevelt has asked Attorney General Cummings to study the legality of exporting gold ore under the existing gold embargo.

The problem has resolved itself into a legal one with the question being to determine whether the United States gold embargo on bullion applies also to gold ore.

Mr. Roosevelt feels it vital to maintain the gold embargo in view of the international gold war.

However, he is hopeful of finding a way by legal process to permit American gold producers to obtain the higher price which is available in the markets outside of the United States.

Informed by western senators that a relaxation in the gold embargo to permit sales of newly mined gold abroad might provide jobs, Mr. Roosevelt is studying the question closely.

It was said at the White House today that no decision had been made by the treasury department, which is interested in the question also, and the matter probably will remain in a suspended state pending a ruling by the attorney general.

Gold Barred, One Financier Hoards Silver

With the ownership of gold by private persons under United States government tabu, La Salle street is interested in the action of a former Chicago financier, retired and now living in California. The former Chicagoan is reported to be purchasing bar silver and storing it in his safety deposit box here. An explanation given was that the retired financier considers his investment to be foolproof. He spends a good deal of time traveling and he wants to have a commodity which will be available at any time.

Last year when the dollar was selling at a big premium over foreign currencies, notably the pound sterling, many American corporations doing business in foreign countries had to set up big reserves for losses of conversion of foreign exchange into dollars.

The situation has been reversed by the sharp depreciation of the dollar in the foreign exchange markets. The pound sterling is now selling within a few cents of its par of $4.8665. Instead of converting their exchange into dollars, according to the normal procedure, U. S. corporations are "hoarding" foreign funds. This is done in the belief the dollar will depreciate further in terms of foreign monies. This practice removes an important normal support for the dollar in the exchange market. A thin market featured by erratic fluctuations and extremely sensitive to speculative operations is the result.

Corporations which kept their foreign exchange holdings last year when foreign currencies were at a sharp discount stand to reap a neat profit. Many firms which did not convert may now "reverse" the reserves set up to cover potential losses.

With deposits increasing in the banks, the business of the safety deposit companies is declining. Officials of safety deposit subsidiaries of a number of important banks asserted yesterday that there recently has been a marked decrease in the demand for boxes. Further, a considerable number of persons whose leases are expiring now are not renewing. Most officials assert that the decline in their business is due to the restoration of confidence in the city's banks. People no longer see any reason for hoarding paper currency, and they are forbidden by the government to hold gold.

A. & P. TEA SALES FOR FIVE WEEKS TOTAL $79,503,203

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company reported sales of $78,503,203 for the five weeks ending July 1, compared with $86,061,988 for the same period in 1932, or a decrease of 7.62 per cent.

Tonnage of sales in June decreased 4.47 per cent to 507,361 tons from 531,082 in June, 1932.

Wheat Pit Seat Brings $16,000, Highest Since '30

As wheat prices go up there is an increasing call for Chicago Board of Trade memberships. One sold late yesterday at $16,000 and two were picked up earlier in the day at $15,000. The top price was the highest since September, 1930.

WINNIPEG PUTS FIREWORKS INTO WHEAT TRADING

Closes at New Top After Sharp Decline

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Winnipeg furnished the sensation in the wheat markets yesterday by a break of around 3 cents on stop-loss orders and profit taking selling, only to rebound as rapidly as it had declined to reach a new top, up 2½ to 2¾ cents from the previous day's finish.

The trade was as bullish at the close as it was bearish at the opening. In Chicago there was a range of nearly 4 cents on near deliveries and 5 cents on distant futures, with net gains of 3 to 4⅛ cents. July closed at 108¼, September, 110½ to 110¾, December, 113⅛ to 113½, and May, 117½ to 118. Holders who sold their wheat on Thursday, believing the market had gone stale on the bull side, sold more early Friday, and spent the rest of the day in getting it back.

Buying Wild at Close.

Bullish crop reports from Canada stirred up the trade to a high pitch in the closing hour, bringing a rush of buying on rumors that a sensational report was to be released. It appeared after the close and came from the Searle Grain company, suggesting an average condition of 65 for the three provinces. This was interpreted by Chicago statisticians as meaning 300 million bushels or less as this year's crop.

The Canadian official crop report issued a few days ago estimated the crop at 340 million bushels. On the basis of 300 million for Canada there would be a loss of 128 million bushels from last year.

Liverpool wheat was 1 to 1¼ cents lower, with sterling up a few points.

Cash premiums are said to be easy but there is no pressure of cash although it is too early for markets in the west to get a big run of grain.

Rye Market Grows Quieter.

Rye was bought with less freedom and the excitement of the last few days was lacking. Less was heard about foreign rye being imported into the United States and there were no advices of rye coming in from Canada. Purchases of Canadian, Argentine, and Hungarian rye the last few days are said to be around 1,200,000 bushels, which is unusually heavy. Apparently there is an absence of selling pressure by local interests owing to their unsatisfactory experience the last few days.

Prices at their best were only fractionally above the previous day's close, with the finish at the top. September was fractionally higher at 100¾ to 100½ and December 104¾ to 105, which is up ½ cent. July rye, which is said to be cornered, finished at 96. There were deliveries of 5,000 bushels of cash rye on July contracts. There are less than 140,000 bushels of July rye contracts open.

Corn Moves with Wheat.

Strong spots in corn met increased offerings of futures and the market sympathized with wheat in its early weakness and its late strength. Movement of prices was not so wide and sentiment more divided, the shorts being more inclined to press the selling side on bulges. It is said that scarcity of elevator room in Chicago makes cash interests less anxious to buy corn to arrive.

Net losses for the day were ⅞ to 1¾ cents, July finishing at 64¾ cents, May 68¾ to 68½ cents, and December 72¾ to 73 cents.

Oat prices are at a level where they no longer attract new buying. A few of the largest interests appear to be less enthusiastic over probable higher prices unless there is further injury to the crop. Prices were unchanged to ½ cent higher, with September 45⅝ to 47¾ cents.

Barley was ⅜ cent higher, with a limited trade.

BUILDING SHOWS GAIN IN STATE FOR 4TH MONTH

For the fourth consecutive month contemplated building expenditures in Illinois showed a gain over the preceding thirty days. For the second consecutive month the estimated cost of projects authorized in sixty-five cities exceeded one million dollars. Other evidence that conditions in the building industry are improving is disclosed by the fact that the May-June movement in Illinois normally is downward.

Compared to June, 1932, the total estimated expenditure of $1,790,520 represented a gain of 33.7 per cent. This is the first time since March, 1931, that the total estimated expenditure has exceeded that for the same month of the preceding year.

Am. Telephone Income Gains in 2d Quarter

The American Telephone and Telegraph company's net income in the second quarter showed a gain over the first quarter income, in contrast with a decline in the like quarters of last year, President Walter S. Gifford disclosed yesterday in issuing the company's semi-annual report. At the same time he revealed the first increase since 1930 in long distance calls in the last half of June over comparable periods in previous years, and that April saw the first break in three years of mounting losses in the number of telephones in use.

The company reported net income for the period of $66,114,509, equivalent to $3.54 a share, as compared with $75,290,881, or $4.03 a share, in the first half of 1932. Second quarter income was $1.82 a share, compared with $1.72 in the first quarter. Last year net income dropped from $2.08 a share in the first quarter to $1.95 in the second quarter.

These figures include certain unearned dividends received from subsidiary companies and do not reflect the current deficit of the Western Electric company.

Consolidated Earnings Lower.

On a consolidated basis the system earned $2.30 a share for the first six months this year, or at the annual rate of $4.60 per share. This compares with per share net of $5.96 for the full year of 1932.

"In April," Mr. Gifford told stockholders, "the net loss in the telephones in use in the Bell system was less than for the same month of the preceding year for the first time since the system began losing telephones about three years ago. The improvement continued in May and in June, when the loss was less than one-half of the loss in June, last year.

"In the latter part of June the company was handling a slightly greater number of long distance telephone calls than during the same period last year. This is the first time since 1930 that such business has shown an increase over the corresponding period in the preceding year."

Unearned Dividends Included.

The company's $66,114,509 of net income in the half year ended June 30 included $12,800,000 of dividends from subsidiaries which were not earned. In the first half of last year subsidiaries paid the parent company $7,800,000 of unearned dividends.

The detailed income account follows:

DOLLAR HOLDS STEADY IN DULL EXCHANGE TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—The dollar recovered slightly in the foreign exchange market today. Trading was extremely dull, due partly to the holiday in Paris. The range of quotations was far narrower than has lately been the rule and actual transactions were relatively small. In terms of the gold backed French franc the dollar closed at 69.34 cents, compared with yesterday's close of 69.49 cents.

Sterling moved between a high of $4.79¼ and a low and closing price of $4.78, representing a net loss of 2 cents on the day. The franc ranged from 5.60 cents to 5.63 cents and closed at 5.61 cents, down 2½ points. Guilders were off 5 points net at 57.95 cents, belgas 5 points higher at 20.05 cents, and Swiss francs 10 points down at 27.80 cents.

German marks declined 5 points to 34.25 cents and Italian lire 4 points to 7.57 cents.

PENNSYLVANIA PAYS 9 MILLIONS MORE ON U.S. LOAN

A payment of $9,000,000 has just been made by the Pennsylvania railroad to the Reconstruction Finance corporation on account of its $27,500,000 loan from that body, according to an announcement made yesterday.

This makes a total of $18,500,000 which the road has returned to the R. F. C. on the loan, which was received last year for financing the extension of electrification between New York and Washington. The road previously paid $5,000,000 to the R. F. C. on July 1 and $4,500,000 on July 5.

ARMOUR & CO. ANNOUNCE PLAN TO RECAPITALIZE

Offer New Common Stock in Trade.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Armour & Co., packers, yesterday presented to stockholders the revised plan for recasting its $355,000,000 financial structure. At the same time the company made public a report showing that earnings for the first seven months of its fiscal year were far in excess of preferred dividend requirements.

These developments were accompanied by spectacular advances in the company's shares on the New York exchange. The preferred reached $93 a share—$86 above its 1933 low quotation of $7. The stock closed at $88.50, a net gain for the day of $7.50. Over 59,000 shares changed hands.

Net Income Is $5,617,562.

The company reported net income of $5,617,562 for the period from Oct. 29, 1932, to June 3, 1933, the first half of its fiscal year. A balance of $3,313,542 accrues to the preferred stock after deducting the Armour of Delaware guaranteed dividends.

The capital reorganization scheme provides for the issuance of 4,792,348 shares of new $10 par common stock and the complete retirement of the present preferred and common shares. At the same time it calls for a reduction of $80,000,000 in the book values of fixed properties and investments, with a consequent saving of $2,300,000 a year in depreciation charges. It is estimated that this saving would be equivalent to 48 cents a share on the common stock to be initially outstanding.

Basis for Exchange.

In addition to the 4,792,348 shares of new common stock to be issued on a straight exchange basis, the company is reserving an additional 5,000,000 shares against the exercise of options to be given to the junior shareholders. The basis of exchange is as follows:

The stock purchase warrants give the holder the right to purchase one share of new capital stock at $12.50 a share within the next five years. The options expire Nov. 1, 1933.

Stock Admitted to Trading.

The new common stock will be traded in this morning on a "when issued" basis on the Chicago Stock exchange. Governors of the exchange approved the listing late yesterday.

On the basis of the new capitalization, the seven months profit was equivalent to 98 cents a share on the new stock to be initially outstanding.

"While no forecasts can be made as to future results," T. George Lee, president, said in his letter to stockholders, "it would appear that a continuance of present business conditions in the packing industry, with the added benefit of a reduction in the present required charges, should in due course make possible the payment of dividends on the new capital stock."

Talk of $1 Dividend.

Previously it had been intimated by the management that the new stock would be placed on a $1 annual dividend basis.

"I believe that this plan affords all classes of stockholders a real opportunity materially to improve the financial structure of their company, and in so doing, to place themselves in a position to benefit from such improvement," Mr. Lee added.

Upon consummation of the plan total assets of the company will be carried at $275,607,214, as compared with $355,607,214 at the present time.

The present capital stock is represented by 572,313 shares of $7 cumulative preferred; 2,000,000 shares of class A and 2,000,000 shares of class B common. These will be replaced by 4,292,348 shares of new common stock under the exchange, plus an additional 5,000,000 shares if the stock purchase warrants are exercised.

The whole program is designed to correct the present topheavy financial structure under which the company is laboring, according to officials.

COTTON CONSUMPTION SETS RECORD IN JUNE; 696,472 BALES USED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—The most optimistic hopes of the cotton trade were surpassed today when the census bureau set domestic consumption of cotton for June at 696,472 bales, the highest monthly total since reports were started in 1912.

The total compared with 620,909 bales in May and 322,706 in June, 1932. The highest previous peak was reached in March, 1927, when consumption rose to 693,031 bales. Private estimates had put the June figure at 690,000 bales.

A feature of the report was the record consumption rolled up by mills in southern states. They used 565,644 bales, against 275,832 bales last year. Active spindles in the south totaled 17,593,128, compared with 15,347,908 during the same period last year.

Exports of cotton, excluding linters, totaled 614,531 bales, against 591,647 in May and 380,205 in 1932.

Approves Reducing Freight Rates on Sugar to Chicago

Reductions in sugar freight rates from eastern, western, and southern cities to Chicago and other points in the central territory were authorized yesterday by the interstate commerce commission. The commission refused to permit drastic reductions on 80,000 pound carload shipments from southern points to Chicago, but authorized the railroads to file new tariffs providing rates 4 cents higher than those turned down. The rate from the New Orleans district to Chicago, which formerly was 56 cents, now will be 39 cents.

Reopened Du Page Trust Reports Rise in Deposits

Receipts were three times the amount of cash withdrawn the first day of business for the reopened Du Page Trust company at Glen Ellyn, according to President Frank J. Bogan, yesterday. Deposits the second day were twice as large as the withdrawals, he stated.

NATIONAL GROUP FOR TELEVISION FIELD IS FORMED

The National Television association was formed yesterday at a meeting at the Hotel Sherman of 50 television manufacturers and experts. Martin J. Wade Jr., Chicago, was elected president, John V. L. Hogan, New York, vice president, and Arthur Stringer, Chicago, secretary and treasurer. President Wade said the association will work to "protect the television industry in the allotment of wave bands by the federal radio commission."

New York, July 14.—Issues of rubber and tire companies again featured an otherwise dull bond market today. Liens of United States Rubber, Goodyear, and Goodrich were in good demand at rising prices. As was the case yesterday, the movement in this group was accompanied by strength in the rubber commodity market and in stocks of the respective companies—the whole being a reflection of the improved position of the tire industry.

In the general market trading during much of the day was well below the volume reached yesterday, indicating the indisposition of traders to push the advance to this juncture. At the same time there appeared to be no craving for profits.

In harmony with the trend of their stocks, bonds of International Telephone and Postal were strong again. The foreign exchange situation continues to work in favor of International. The company for the last two years has been setting up reserves against depreciation in the dollar value of its foreign balances. With the advance of foreign currencies in dollar terms, however, the necessity for these reserves would seem to have disappeared.

Indications that the federal reserve has taken a breathing spell in its treasury bond buying program had no visible effect on government bonds, which were extremely quiet around previous finals. High grade industrials were also quiet and little changed.

European and South American obligations were generally strong in moderate activity.

Niagara Hudson Power.

Investors' Guide: We would be pleased to have your report on Niagara Hudson Power.—C. E. R.

Answer: Niagara Hudson Power corporation is a holding company. Subsidiaries furnish utility services [35 per cent electricity] from Buffalo to Albany, N. Y., and north to Ogdensburg and Watertown. The system is completely interconnected.

The company has the advantage of low cost production, due to abundancy of cheap hydro-electric power. It receives additional benefits from its interconnection with New York Edison company. Niagara Hudson's sales reach their peak during the day, while the peak of New York Edison comes at night.

Operating revenues have shown a downward trend since 1929, reflecting decrease in industrial takings. The drop has been checked because many of the contracts call for minimum payments regardless of amount of current used. Sales for other purposes have increased.

Operating revenues for the first quarter of 1933 totaled $17,158,000 and net income was $1,847,000, or 21 cents per share. For the corresponding 1932 period operating revenues grossed $19,271,000 and net income was $3,545,000, or 41 cents per share on present capitalization.

Net income in 1932 was $9,378,000, or $1.07 per share, against $13,410,000, or $1.54 per share, for 1931 [adjusted to present capitalization]. Net for 1930 was $15,558,000, against $8,455,000 for 1929.

Current assets at the close of 1932 totaled $26,068,000 and current liabilities aggregated $33,441,000.

The parent company has no funded debt. Funded debt of subsidiaries totals $225,217,000. Capitalization consists solely of 8,736,429 shares of $15 par stock. Nothing has been paid on the stock since March 31, 1933.

Since the decline in earnings appears to be the result primarily of lessened industrial activity, both gross and net should quickly reflect any pickup in general business in the company's territory.

STOCKS DROOP ON REPORTS OF MARKET CHECK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—"Grapevine" rumors reaching Wall street from Washington today were to the effect that an important faction of the "brain trust" was becoming alarmed over the growing violence of the stock market boom and that serious thought is being given to a plan of some kind to curb the rampage of speculative enthusiasm.

The administration, according to this information, is as desirous as ever of seeing prices boosted in general, but it seems to be the feeling that the present movement on the share exchange, now at the beginning of its fifth straight month and still gathering momentum, has transcended the bounds of safety. It is feared, so Wall street spokesmen say, that the thing might end in a crash that would be a serious blow to the whole price building program.

Turnover Slows Down.

Details of the supposed regulations about to be promulgated were appropriately lacking, but the "timeliness" of the warning gave some of the big professionals pause and served to calm the market. The day's turnover was a good two million shares below that of yesterday, when prices were hurled up as much as fifteen points. Also, the day's operations leaned to the selling rather than the buying side.

The leaders of the preceding session gave up from 1 to 2 points or more than their late gains. Various pool favorites were among the sufferers, indicating a desire by these price making syndicates to lighten their commitments against whatever Washington—or other factors—might have in store for the nearby future.

News Is Cheerful.

A large proportion of the day's sales might be credited, of course, to the regular Friday custom of "realizing" profits run up earlier in the week. Here of late, however, the custom has been set aside with growing frequency to capitalize on a particularly good trade review with continued buying. There was plenty of such news and comment today, among it being a fresh rise in grain and cotton prices and some of the best earnings statements that have come Wall street's way in a long while, but the bull leaders were evidently too doubtful of the outlook at Washington to make the most of it.

There was a show of buoyancy nevertheless in a few nooks and crannies of the picture. Meat packing company shares were all in good favor. Armour of Illinois preferred was the leader, getting its kick from inside knowledge of the terms of the new capitalization given to the general public later in the day. The stock was a dozen or so points higher when the news came out and held more than half of its gain to the close. Wilson and Cudahy were also in demand.

Rayon Issues Strong.

Textile issues had a good day. Industrial Rayon, with an earnings report for the second quarter that made particularly good reading, spurted more than eight points before yielding to the profit takers. Celanese, Duplan, and Gotham looked up with the pacemakers.

Silver stocks went to new highs on the buoyancy of metal prices and the chemicals had a good day, particularly Allied Chemical, which soared 3 points to a new high.

Utilities were heavy under realizing, as were the rails, oil, and coppers. The rubbers slid off from the highs they reached yesterday on the revival of tire price boosts.

ROOSEVELT PLEA FOR WAGE BOOSTS FINDS RESPONSE

Three Chicago Concerns Grant Increases.

Wage increases were announced yesterday by the International Harvester company, the Reynolds Spring company, and E. J. Brach & Sons, candy manufacturers.

The Harvester company's announcement stated:

"Wage rates of the plants of the International Harvester company in the United States have been put back on the basis existing prior to the pay reductions ranging from 5 to 10 per cent made Oct. 1, 1932. The pay roll increase resulting from this addition will be slight, because many employés who were and are working short time were exempt from the reduction."

Restore Half of Cut.

Edwin J. Brach, vice president and treasurer of the candy company, announced that effective July 17 the wages of all piece workers will be raised 19 per cent. With the bonus system now employed, it will be possible for employés to raise their pay from 12 to 14 per cent, he added. Wages had been reduced 23 per cent, so the present increase will restore about half the cut.

Mr. Brach said the order will affect 625 employés. In the last 30 days the number of workers has been increased 34 per cent. The plant is now operating at 74 per cent of capacity, compared with 48 per cent at the first of June.

The Reynolds Spring company announced that employés' wages would be raised 5 per cent immediately. The company is planning to adopt a 40 hour week and establish a two shifts a day schedule, increasing the number of employés. The increase of wages is a straightaway advance, not restoration of a cut.

Steel Concern Boosts Pay.

Detroit, Mich., July 14.—[Special.]—A 15 per cent increase in wages of approximately 3,600 employés was announced today by George Fink, president of the Great Lakes Steel corporation.

"This will constitute the highest wages paid in the steel industry in this country," Mr. Fink said. "Most of our employés are skilled workers but there is no wage under 40 cents an hour. The scale for the majority of workers runs far over that."

A minimum wage scale providing for increases as high as 20 per cent for some of 600 employés of cleaning and dyeing establishments has been adopted by the Detroit Master Cleaners.

Paint Concern Grants Raise.

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The Devoe & Raynolds company announced today an increase of approximately 11 per cent in the salaries and wages of all employés, effective Aug. 1. The increase, the announcement said, will restore the salary basis to that in effect June 1, 1932.

Brass Firm Follows Suit.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 14.—(AP)—Ralph E. Day, president of the Bridgeport Brass company, today announced a 10 per cent increase will be given 1,500 employés in hour and piece rates. Personnel of the plant has been increased from 600 to nearly 2,000 since last March.

Kvan Farm Hands Raised.

The bureau of agricultural economics said today wages for farm labor have increased approximately 7 per cent in the last three months. Wages per day, without board, on July 1 ranged from 55 cents in South Carolina to $2.35 in Rhode Island.
